Weather Good For Big Swim

11 Compete for Purse of $6,000 In Sunday Mass Attack on Strait

Competitors in Sunday's first annual mass swim across the Strait of Juan de Fuca got an official promise of good-weather conditions today.

Weatherman Bill Mackie said the weather outlook for Sunday is "quite favorable" for the Junior Chamber of Commerce event.

Mackie said winds should be relatively light and the passing of a weak weather mass should reduce the possibility of fog, the most dreaded weather development.

He added the usual afternoon winds, possibly up to 15 miles per hour, might spring up in the latter stages of the swim.

The 11 competitors in the swim will start the chase to a $6,000 pot at 7.15 Sunday morning when they plunge into the Strait at Horseshoe Bay, started by a pistol shot from starter Harold Elworthy.

The swimmers will group themselves into loose formation at the beginning of the swim behind the navigation boat, Island Champion.

Official navigator Capt. Ellice Cavin, who has scored two victories over the Strait in the last two weeks, will set out his suggested course and the swimmers, tended by individual rowboats, will be asked to follow the course.

Fog is the most feared factor in the swim as it presents the possibility of the swimmers becoming separated from the navigation vessel.

TWO SWIMS AT TORONTO ON MONDAY

TORONTO (CP)—Fernelly Wheatcroft, 58, and garbage collector Ted Simmons, 31, both of Toronto; Rosita Tanner, 44, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and tobacco farmer Jim Woods, 40, of Candler, N.C., said they'll start out Monday from Youngstown, N.Y., and head for the Canadian National Exhibition's waterfront, although they have been barred from the official Lake Ontario race.

The swim committee said Friday that only 10 could compete in the race because time did not permit the extensive planning a larger field would entail. Also, enough boats would not be available.

The swim is scheduled to start Monday, weather permitting, with Tuesday and Wednesday as alternates.

Same Course as Lumsdon's

Capt. Cavin will follow the same course he plotted for Cliff Lumsdon's successful crossing and predicted there might be as much as five miles between the various swimmers.

After two hours of flood tide at the start of the swim, Capt. Cavin hopes for an hour of slack, followed by an ebb tide that should correct the easterly drift and begin taking the swimmers towards Port Angeles.

At 5 p.m., the swimmers will meet another flood tide and if it is too strong to take them to Port Angeles, the swim course will be aimed at Green Point, scene of the finish of Lumsdon's swim.

Champions Score Close Soccer Win

LONDON (Reuters)—Manchester United, champion of the English League first division, kept its slate clean with a hard-fought 3-2 triumph over West Bromwich Albion today on the second Saturday of the soccer season.

Eight of 14 teams which had won their first two matches lost or tied this afternoon as heavy rain swept many parts of the country.

Two teams promoted to the first division from the second division this year tasted defeat for the first time in their new exalted rank. Leeds United was smothered 5-1 by Tottenham Hotspur and Sheffield Wednesday was dumped 3-1 by Portsmouth.

John Diefenbaker Coming To Defend Deane Finlayson

MEMENTOES FOR MARILYN AND GUS

Lasting souvenirs of the triumphant stay in Victoria will be presented to Marilyn Bell and her coach, Gus Ryder, by the Victoria Times. Original oil paintings, created by local artist Owen Goward, depict scenes close to the Juan de Fuca Strait swim. The painting

Tory MP Enters Contempt Case

John Diefenbaker, top-ranking Progressive Conservative MP from Prince Albert, Sask., and noted lawyer, will defend the party's B.C. leader, Deane Finlayson, in contempt of court proceedings arising from the Sommers-Sturdy slander case.

The hearings begin Monday in Supreme Court at Vancouver before Mr. Justice A. M. Manson.

Two Vancouver newspapers, The Sun and The Herald, also face contempt action because they published Mr. Finlayson's speech to a public meeting in North Vancouver last Monday.

All three actions were begun by Mr. Sommers' counsel, Alfred Bull, Q.C.

The campaigning in B.C.'s Sept. 19 election could become wide open if Mr. Finlayson is freed of the "contempt of court" accusation.

Robert E. Sommers, former minister of land and forests, is suing Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy for slander because of statements the barrister made to a royal commission on forestry last December concerning Mr. Sommers' management of public business.

Mr. Sommers resigned his cabinet post Feb. 27. He retained his legislature seat, however, and has been renominated for the Rossland-Trail constituency. The Sommers-Sturdy case has been smouldering in B.C. politics for months.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett has refused to discuss it, contending it is in the hands of the law courts and therefore "sub judice."

The premier repeated this contention when questioned following his call to the polls.

City Bids Farewell To Marilyn

Marilyn Bell was bidding a fond farewell to Victoria this afternoon on Beacon Hill, only a few hundred yards from the spot she touched after swimming Juan de Fuca Strait Thursday.

Thousands of citizens reciprocated, a tender spot in their hearts for this 120-pound slip of a girl who brought them out in a multitude for her arrival at the beach near Horseshoe Bay two days before.

The swimmer, her coach Gus Ryder, her mother Mrs. Syd Bell, her school chum Maria Brenk, and all members of her swim party were to parade to the park in a cavalcade through the city.

On behalf of the city, acting mayor Ald. W. F. Pinfold was to present Gus with a silver medalion bearing the city's coat of arms and an inscription commemorating Gus' guidance of Cliff Lumsdon and Marilyn across the strait.

Later, a cairn will be set up near the landing spot with a similar inscription.

A pair of framed pictures were to be given Marilyn by publisher Stuart Keate as a personal token by the swim's sponsor, Victoria Daily Times.

Gus and Marilyn were expected to give citizens their appreciation of the reception accorded them at the shoreline Thursday night, when an estimated 30,000 persons jammed the waterfront.

Baby-Snatcher Taken From Cell

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Angelo John Lamacara was taken from his police headquarters cell at 4 a.m. today for another mysterious automobile trip as authorities worked to pin down all details in the kidnapping and death of little Peter Weinberger. Police kept silent on their activities.

Reporters could gain no information as where Lamacara was taken or even whether he had been returned to his cell.

Crew Member Shot

IWAKUNI, Japan (AP)—U.S. Navy air officials said tonight the body of a crew member of a U.S. patrol plane downed off the Red China coast had wounds inflicted by gunfire.

OFFICIALS KEEP MUM ON ROYAL VISIT REPORT

No one in authority will confirm a report that Princess Margaret plans to visit British Columbia in 1958.

A front page story in a Vancouver newspaper Friday said the Princess would take part in British Columbia's centennial year celebrations, but the story did not name a source. Officials here and in Ottawa refused to confirm the report.

Raids, Barbed Wire End Truce on Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (CP)—British troops today buried a short-lived symbol of truce with union-with-Greece terrorists by restringing barbed wire on Nicosia's streets. Twenty-five police raided the headquarters of the pro-nationalist Cypriot Farmers Union in the first crackdown reported since the EOKA terrorist organization called the truce Aug. 16.

Restringing of the barbed wire and the police raid followed the appearance of EOKA leaflets spurning a British surrender demand and an explosion that killed a Greek Cypriot.

British security forces today announced that the bomb explosion was accidental.

In the union headquarters' raid records were seized and two officials arrested. The headquarters has been raided previously on suspicion of aiding Cypriot extremists in their bombs-and-bullets campaign against British rule.

COULD SAVE SITUATION

The mayor of Nicosia, Themistocles Dervis, meanwhile urged Britain to announce immediately a self-government plan for Cyprus.

Such a move, Dervis asserted, could save the "deteriorating" situation on this Mediterranean island colony.

KINSEY DEAD

Ailing for the last six months Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, 62, biologist who won fame for his books on human sexual behavior, died at Bloomington, Ind., today. He had been in a coma from a heart ailment and pneumonia. Kinsey became famous in 1948 when his book "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male" became a best seller. It was followed by a book on female sex behavior in 1953.

Gregory Gives Step-by-Step Summary

At a public meeting in Duncan Friday night, George Gregory, Liberal M.L.A. in the last legislature and one of the party's candidates in Victoria, gave a summary of steps leading up to the Sommers-Sturdy case.

Mr. Gregory, who also is counsel for Mr. Sturdy in the slander suit, spoke at a campaign meeting for Robert J. Harvey, Liberal nominee in Newcastle-Cowichan.

Mr. Gregory said that on Dec. 7 Charles Eversfield, accountant, accompanied by his lawyer, David Sturdy, went to the attorney-general with "charges of the very gravest nature" against "the then minister of lands and forests."

Three Killed In North B.C.

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—Three men were killed and three other persons injured early today when a car and a light truck collided on the Hart Highway, 28 miles north of here.

One of the dead was identified as A. Guillet of Prince George.

Guillet's wife is in critical condition in hospital here. They have eight children. A third person in the truck in which they were riding is also in hospital in critical condition.

The three persons in the car were said to be from Sylvania, Sask.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

GIVE ME a thankful heart, O God, not because some thrilling joy is mine or a new largeness of life has made me rich with fullness; but make me glad just because to be alive is opportunity to walk with Thee, to learn Thy speech; in Jesus Christ, Amen.

TWO BULLS MEET COW; ONE DEEP-FREEZE CASE

NANAIMO—A couple of Bulls met a cow near here Friday night, sending her into the deep freeze. Mr. and Mrs. E. Bull, Victoria, were driving over Chase River overpass, three miles south of Nanaimo, when their car struck and killed a cow which wandered onto the highway.

Mrs. Bull received cuts and abrasions and spent the night in Nanaimo hospital. Mr. Bull, who was driving, was not injured. The cow was butchered.

Baby-Sitters Strike For Better PNE Nursery

VANCOUVER (CP) — Baby sitters at the Pacific National Exhibition laid down their rattles and woolly toys Friday and went on strike.

They told PNE officials they were working in a "dingy, dangerous warehouse instead of a nursery" and refused to allow any more children into such surroundings.

Miss Verna White, in charge of St. John Ambulance volunteers who run the day nursery, said the building contains hazards for small children. Ladders against the wall tempted them to climb. The gate did not keep children in. The building was dusty and inconvenient.

PNE officials said Friday night they will try to get better accommodation. The St. John Ambulance staff promised to start working when the day nursery, said the building again when a better room is found.

Army Didn't Count on 4-Year-Old

LONDON (AP)—The army never counted on four-year-old Grace Gayle when it called up her father for military service.

Dean Gayle, a 25-year-old Jamaican, turned up at the Blandford training camp with Grace gripping his hand.

"My wife died last October and there is no one to look after her," Gayle explained.

He said he had been granted one deferment but was refused a second.

While the soldiers at Blandford made a fuss over Grace the telephone lines buzzed between the camp and the war office.

"After less than 24 hours in the army, Gayle got this word: Indefinite leave pending discharge."

Said Grace: "I like playing soldiers."

IT'S A PECULIAR WORLD—IN AUGUST

Camel Nuptials, Vodka Element, Wealthy Lad, 11, Still Democrat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—It took four men to haul the bridegroom to the altar.

He knocked over the wedding arch. He tore down the decorations. He kicked at his attendants. His three-foot bow tie was wildly askew.

That was how Cecil, the bachelor camel of Crandon Park Zoo, behaved Friday until his blonde Australian bride, Cecelia, was led up for nuptials witnessed by 3,000 spectators.

Cecelia had been temperamental, too. She tore off her white veil three times while being dressed.

An organ boomed out The Sheik of Araby and Egyptian March. A white-robed sheik pronounced the bridal pair camel and camelless.

The tying of the knot culminated a campaign by the Miami Herald for funds to buy Cecil a mate, which zoo officials said he wanted.

After the ceremony Cecil gave Cecelia a foamy kiss, and the couple was herded into a barn. A heart's-and-flowers sign, tacked to its door, said "do not disturb."

BERLIN (UP)—Berlin's newest anti-communist joke:

A teacher in a Soviet zone school asked Hans to name the elements.

Hans replied: "Water, earth, air, fire and vodka."

"Why vodka?" the teacher asked.

"When my father sees a photograph of Khrushchev in the newspaper drinking vodka he always says 'now he is in his element again!'"

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sheri Grimes was born at Euclid Glenville Hospital Friday.

Her father Sam was born 30 years ago Friday.

Her mother Beatrice was born 24 years ago Friday.

Her brother Sam Jr., the only other member of the family, was born one year ago Friday.

Mrs. Pauline Ross was named legal guardian of her son Friday in accordance with the law that fortunes of minors must be administered by court-appointed custodians.

Leonard emerged from the brief court session to make two predictions: The stock market will advance and Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, will be elected United States president in November.

"Despite my wealth," he said, "I am remaining a Democrat."

Anscomb, Perry To Go On PGE Inaugural Run

REGULAR SERVICE over extension from Squamish to Vancouver will make 40-year dream come true to interior residents who depend upon the PGE.

Service Starts Next Week

Two former B.C. cabinet ministers—a Liberal and a Conservative—will travel with Premier Bennett and members of the Social Credit government over the new southern extension to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to be officially opened in North Vancouver Monday.

They are Harry Perry, a staunch Liberal and minister of education from 1941 to 1945, and Herbert Anscomb, former Conservative leader and minister of finance in the coalition government.

Representing Victoria on the inaugural run over the extension from North Vancouver to Squamish—and on to Prince George—will be Aldermen Arthur Dowell and Millard Mooney; G. Fitzpatrick Dunn, president of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and Hector Crombie, managing secretary.

Former B.C. premiers John Hart and Byron Johnson were invited by Premier Bennett to make the trip but it is understood they will be unable to go for health reasons.

350 TO GO

Some 350 business, professional and industrial leaders from different parts of B.C. will be travelling with Premier Bennett and members of his cabinet in three special trains leaving North Vancouver at 10 a.m.

Last spike in the new extension will be driven on the site of a new station at North Vancouver by C. R. Crysedale, consulting engineer with the PGE since 1912.

Railways Minister Ralph Chetwynd won $800 worth of Sleson-hats when a working train ran over the extension last June. He had bet on the line being ready for traffic by June 11.

Next week regular passenger and freight trains will begin rolling into Vancouver from Prince George with completion of the 40-mile, $10,500,000 extension from Squamish to Vancouver.

1912 SURVEY

Hitherto, the PGE has had to ship trains by barge from Squamish to Vancouver, a time-consuming process. The line was originally surveyed in 1912 and was designed to join the interior of the province with Vancouver's seaport.

INDIAN YOUTH SOUGHT

Vancouver—Police sought an Indian youth here Friday, alleged to have broken a shotgun over the head of a Chinese gardener on the Musquam Indian reserve.

Doctors said the attack victim, Chow Yen, was not severely hurt.

NEW HELICOPTER ARRIVES

Vancouver—The first Sikorsky S-58 helicopter to be used commercially in Canada has been delivered and now is in operation on the mid-Canada defence line, Okanagan Helicopters Ltd. announced Friday.

The S-58 is the largest helicopter in commercial use with a cargo capacity of two tons.

LISTED AS DESERTER

Vancouver—Quartermaster Bernard (Ben) Hogan, who fled the cable ship Ocean Layer last week after another sailor threatened him, has disappeared and port and immigration officials have classed him as a deserter, they reported Friday.

B.C. ELECTIONS

Tom Irwin Re-Nominated By Socreds

The Canadian Press NEW WESTMINSTER — Speaker Tom Irwin and George Massey, a Ladner boat builder, were nominated Friday night as Social Credit candidates for the two-seat Delta riding. Both were nominated by acclamation.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, who spoke at the public meeting, ridiculed a statement made earlier Friday by Rae Eddie, CCF candidate in the neighboring riding of New Westminster.

Mr. Eddie had said Mr. Irwin would be "dumped by the machine."

Defeated for nomination on the second ballot were Howard Walters, former BCE executive, Menno Friesen, president of the Social Credit riding association, Oliver Scott and Jack Burrows.

Nominated as Liberal candidates for Delta at the east Delta Liberal hall were Victor Allen McPherson, lumberman of White Rock; and W. P. Wilson, International Woodworkers union official from Surrey.

NANAIMO—A. R. Glen, a 37-year-old printer, Friday night was named CCF candidate for Nanaimo and The Islands.

He won over F. O. E. Murphy, Wellington, carpenter and former member of District 68 School Board.

PORT ALBERNI—Norman W. McKinnon, farmer and dairy owner, was chosen Liberal candidate here Friday night.

NELSON—CCF delegates from the Nelson-Creston riding Friday night named Boyd C. Affleck their candidate in the Sept. 19 election. Mr. Affleck served for four years on the Nelson city council.

MIDWAY—Craig Dawson, 48-year-old sawmill owner from Christine Valley, was chosen Social Credit candidate in the Grand Forks-Greenwood riding Friday night.

PERNIE—Frank Butala, 40, of Pernie was nominated Friday as Social Credit candidate in the Fernie riding. He is an accountant and an alderman of Pernie.

TRAIL—Sam Muirhead of Kinnaird will carry the Rossland-Trail CCF banner. He won the nomination over Graham Smith of Castlegar by a 50-47 vote.

Bennett 'Liar' Gibbs Charges

'Can't Play Fair,' Saanich Liberals Told; Ramsay Wins Party Nomination

Oak Bay Liberal candidate, Archie Gibbs, Friday called Premier Bennett a liar for suggesting Liberals, if elected to power in B.C. next month, would use hospital insurance funds to reduce sales tax.

The Oak Bay MLA in the last legislature, spoke at Saanich Liberal Association nomination meeting which named city machine shop operator Hugh Ramsay candidate in that constituency.

Mr. Ramsay, 34, who ran unsuccessfully for a city council seat last year, defeated the association's first woman candidate for the nomination, Mrs. Marie Ash, president of the association and wife of Saanich Reeve Arthur Ash, ex-MLA.

Plenty of Money Rolling In

He indicated he could have used stronger language in describing the Social Credit leader.

B.C. is wealthy and there is plenty money rolling in to the government, Mr. Gibbs said, mentioning a statement by the premier that there is a $15,000,000 surplus.

Mr. Gibbs said "the man is deliberately misrepresenting statements made by the Liberals," and accused the premier

Doesn't Know Fair Play

"I don't think he has played a game of soccer in his life. I don't think he knows what it is to be fair."

"All he knows is fouling."

Mr. Ramsay, a third generation Victorian, is a member of the Victoria Liberal Association central committee executive and secretary of Ward-Four Liberals. Presently a resident of Oak Bay, he plans to move to Saanich soon.

"To me, Saanich is the most underprivileged municipality in the province of B.C. in this day of so-called give-away government," he said.

He considers Saanich a challenge considering its position on southern Vancouver Island. If elected he would endeavor to bring pressure to bear for establishment of proper ferry terminal at Sidney, improved highways on Saanich Peninsula

UBC President Denies Raiding

From CP Dispatches VANCOUVER — The University of British Columbia "did not bribe or bargain" with staff members of the University of Manitoba who joined the new UBC college of education this spring, UBC president Dr. Norman Mackenzie said Friday.

W. J. Condo, comptroller of the University of Manitoba, said that "The raiding of the entire faculty was reprehensible action on the part of the governors and president of the University of British Columbia."

Teachers who made the move included Dean Neville-Scarfe. Dr. Mackenzie said UBC advertised widely in British Columbia, in all Canadian provinces and in other parts of the English-speaking world.

"The people who seemed best suited to our needs were put in a list of priority and invited to come at the salaries we normally pay for people already on our staff with similar qualifications of education, experience and ability," he said. "We did not bargain with anybody."

FALLS FROM WINDOW

Vancouver — Charles Schinley, about 40, suffered serious head injuries Friday when he fell from a downtown hotel window.

Schinley, who checked into the hotel Thursday from a Queen Charlotte Islands logging camp, was rescued from a ledge 13 feet below the window.

Change to Dialogue-Type Mass Favored by Catholic Conference

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Nearly 2,000 delegates to the 17th North American Liturgical Week of the Roman Catholic Church ended four-day sessions here and agreed almost unanimously on the inspiration values of the "dialogue mass" in which the congregation makes the responses to the priests at the altar.

No formal resolutions were passed, but representatives will carry conference opinions to the world meeting on liturgy to be held at Assisi, Italy, in September.

A notable cross-section of Catholic scholars—clergy, nuns and laymen—look part in the first liturgical convention of its kind to be held in Canada.

There was some divergence of views on the extent to which laity participation in the mass should be promoted at this time. Some said the responses should continue in Latin, others argued for a program in English.

The conference closed with a solemn pontifical high mass celebrated by Cardinal James McGuigan of Toronto. The movement toward more laity participation was emphasized when, for the first time, the cardinal chanted a mass facing the people. General practice is for the celebrant to conduct the mass with his back to the congregation—except for such times in the liturgy when he turns to the people to give his blessing.

The Vatican is expected within a month to give permission for further reforms in Roman Catholic services, a monk and a layman reported.

Rev. Dom Michael Ducey of Weston, Vt., a Benedictine monk who presided at a meeting of the Vernacular Society of America, said in an interview that "it is confidently hoped that in the near future changes will be allowed, at least to permit the epistle and Gospel in English."

The society met in conjunction with the Liturgical Week here. Its secretary, J. K. Ross-Duggan of Florida, told of a great international liturgical conference next month at Assisi, Italy, which 100 American and 40 Canadian delegates will attend.

He said immediately after the conference some action by the sacred congregation of rites is expected in connection with further reforms of the liturgy such as radically altered the rites of Holy Week and Easter this year.

This Is the Issue

IT WAS REMARKED HERE THE other day that no issue justified a snap election in British Columbia. We meant, of course, no issue of policy on which Mr. Bennett required a mandate from the people. But there certainly is a large and vital issue of another sort in this election, an issue of morals.

It is immoral, we believe, for Mr. Bennett to call an election at this time before the integrity of his government has been considered in the Sommers case, to seek a verdict from the voters before the evidence has been considered by the courts and, for that deliberate purpose, to order a hasty poll at the cost of disenfranchising thousands of voters.

No clearer issue of political morality has ever been posed in our provincial politics. If the election is thus a test of the government's morals it is also a test of the ordinary voter's morals. Are the people willing to condone this crude attempt to short-circuit the courts and withhold the evidence until the electoral verdict is in?

Mr. Bennett says the issue of the election is the record of his government which, in his view, is hardly short of perfection. Very well, then, let the voters consider the entire record, including the Sommers case and the snap election designed to avoid the possible consequences to the government.

To be sure, the government has some things to be proud of, but all its accomplishments cannot justify an election in which the people must vote blindly, with no chance to hear the evidence on the government's integrity. The issue on September 19 is simply whether Mr. Bennett should be allowed to get away with this assault on the democratic process.

To Ease Rising Prices

THE UNITED STATES GROSS national product—the total of goods and services made available—reached an annual rate of $408 billions in the second quarter of this year. This means that production for the second quarter, if continued, would achieve that total by the end of the year.

The figure represents an increase of $5 billions over the annual rate set in the first quarter, and is far higher than the preceding year.

American economists view this "progress" with mixed feelings. They do not attribute all of the increase to augmented production of goods. At least half of the gain between the first and second quarters is ascribed to inflation—the goods and services were priced higher. The conclusion is that demand for goods is again outstripping the supply, after a period when a better balance had been achieved.

This information obviously was the basis for the recent increase in interest rates in the United States. By discouraging borrowing it was hoped to restrict, if only slightly, the demand for goods throughout the country, and relieve the pressure of forces which are bidding up the general price level.

Both the cause and the counteraction have been duplicated in Canada, and it is interesting to note that in both countries political partisanship has led public figures to denounce inflation on the one hand, and on the other to condemn the very measures which have been imposed to meet it.

The Peaceful Atom Progresses

THE GREAT SUCCESS OF THE United States atomic-powered submarine Nautilus has led to the next logical step. Congress has authorized construction of a merchant ship to be driven by atomic power and has thus opened the way to a new era in marine history.

There are many difficulties yet to be surmounted, of course. Although the space reserved for fuel in conventional ships will now be available for cargo, the cost of running reactor-driven steam turbines is still considerably above that of oil. In addition there is the problem of shielding the reactor's harmful rays.

But these are technicalities no more difficult to solve than those which already have been surmounted. The new ship, perhaps to be launched within three years, will provide an experimental model on which further progress can be based. It is encouraging to note that through this project peaceful use of the atom has been given tremendous impetus.

The Torn Party Card

AN AUTHENTIC-SOUNDING description of the last hours of Stalin's life has been published in France, where a weekly newspaper attributes its report to no less an authority than the Soviet writer Ilya Ehrenburg.

According to this version, a top communist official, Lazar Kaganovich, leaped to his feet at a special presidium meeting where Stalin's decision on deportation of Jews was openly criticized. (The decision had arisen from the trumped-up "doctors plot.")

Kaganovich reportedly tore up his communist membership card and flung the pieces in Stalin's face when the Soviet boss swore at his colleagues. Stalin turned purple, tried to summon his personal guards, but fell unconscious from a stroke before he could reach the signal button.

Then followed what surely must be one of the most macabre meetings in all history. The presidium members sat up all night over the body of their leader, deciding what to do. At 6 the next morning doctors were called and pronounced Stalin dead of a stroke. It was not until four days later, on March 5, 1953, that a public announcement was made.

Kaganovich, Anastas Mikoyan and others who were at that historic meeting are now in the top levels of the Soviet Government. If the story is true, their revolt at the committee table hastened history. But only those who were there will ever know exactly how much prompting Stalin needed for his exit.

FROM WASHINGTON

Looking Over Chicago and San Francisco

THE biggest difference between the two conventions is that at the Democratic the issue of party control was fought out and settled after the delegates reached Chicago; at the Republican the basic issue has been settled long in advance.

Chicago was in fact an open convention, not so much because of the Kefauver-Kennedy contest but because of the Truman-Stevenson contest. This was a genuine struggle for the leadership of the party machinery, and though the outcome was decisive, it was decided by delegates and not by the national managers at the central headquarters of the party.

Basic Issue

The plank on civil rights and the choice of the vice-president were aspects of the basic issue of party control. At Chicago there was struggle and there was negotiation and there was compromise, and although they did not take place on the floor of the convention in full public view, they were sufficiently in view through the excellent work of the television reporters, to leave no doubt that the convention was in fact transacting business.

San Francisco, on the other hand, was a meeting to ratify and to celebrate decisions already taken under the management of the chairman of the national committee, Mr. Hall, and the central headquarters command of the party.

Party Control

The Republicans, like the Democrats, have had to meet the fundamental issue of party control. They had it to deal with even before the President's heart attack in September, 1955, during the long months when he was refusing to say whether he would run again. When the President was stricken, the whole future of the party was in doubt.

It was at this time that Mr. Hall, who is obviously a strong man who knows his own mind, took command, decreed that Eisenhower and Nixon must run again, put the President under pressure to agree to run again, and put the party under pressure to accept Nixon again.

The whole power of the national party organization was mobilized by Mr. Hall to prevent any serious challenge to Nixon's renomination. The President, though he showed faint signs of regretting that the convention had nothing to do, did not

Give Thought

It is time for all women to vote. It is time too, for the old people, the pensioners to vote, for they can't live too long on only promises. They will vote in a sensible Government if anyone can. ### Milk Board Order

A B.C. Order-in-Council was passed on May 29, 1956, to refer the new "Milk Industry Act" to the B.C. Court of Appeal to decide if it was within the legislative authority of the Province, but B.C. Milk Board Order No. 1 is to be enforced from September 1, and so far no Reference has been filed with our Court of Appeal.

Open markets in Canada, with direct governmental regulations only as to grade, quality and weight of farm products, with removal of dishonesty in distribution would reduce prices to consumers and much improve the condition of farmers, by all means in co-operatives, but this compulsion is the antithesis of co-operation.

On June 12, 1952, the B.C. Social Credit Government were swept into minority power by the war cry of "Honesty and Freedom" and not to advance the high priced monopolistic food ticket.

On September 19 they will be tried in the balance on their own slogan.

Hospital Plans

Premier Bennett by attacking the popular hospitalization program in Saskatchewan proves again that his impulsiveness is only exceeded by his ignorance.

As quoted in the July 27 issue of The Victoria Daily Times, Mr. Bennett attaches insidious motives to the Saskatchewan Government for raising hospital premiums by 33 1/2 per cent and doing this immediately after an election.

If I did this, Mr. Bennett goes on to say, I would resign.

Here are the facts: The personal tax premiums in Saskatchewan were not raised by 33 1/2 per cent. The total revenue from the new tax rates will increase by about $2,000,000—a rise of 22 per cent.

It has always been the policy of the Saskatchewan government to provide half the cost of the hospitalization plan from the personal tax revenue leaving the remainder to be subsidized by the province.

In B.C. where Mr. Bennett uses "big business methods," the hospital insurance service in 1954 was financed to the extent of over 78 per cent by a 5 per cent sales tax. This tax is as much a per capita tax as the premiums in Saskatchewan and takes no account of family size. In fact it is particularly onerous on the large family with modest means.

Premier Bennett rather than throwing stones carelessly at the Saskatchewan Hospital Service Plan, which is so popular with the people of that province, would do better to explain why BCHS continues to deal bureaucratically with hospitals by refusing to pay costs of operation and arbitrarily cutting the budgets.

The people of British Columbia are determined to retain and extend their hospital plan (which antedated Mr. Bennett) and improve its financing and benefits with a new government to be elected in September.

Ode to Bennett

The voters of the Province
Are entitled to the best
Of all there is of everything
Obtainable out West

And it's surely very obvious
They always ought to see
The very best of photographs
Obtainable of me

To cheer them in their sorrows
And to scatter all their fears
But the papers of the Province
Think of nothing else but "Smears."

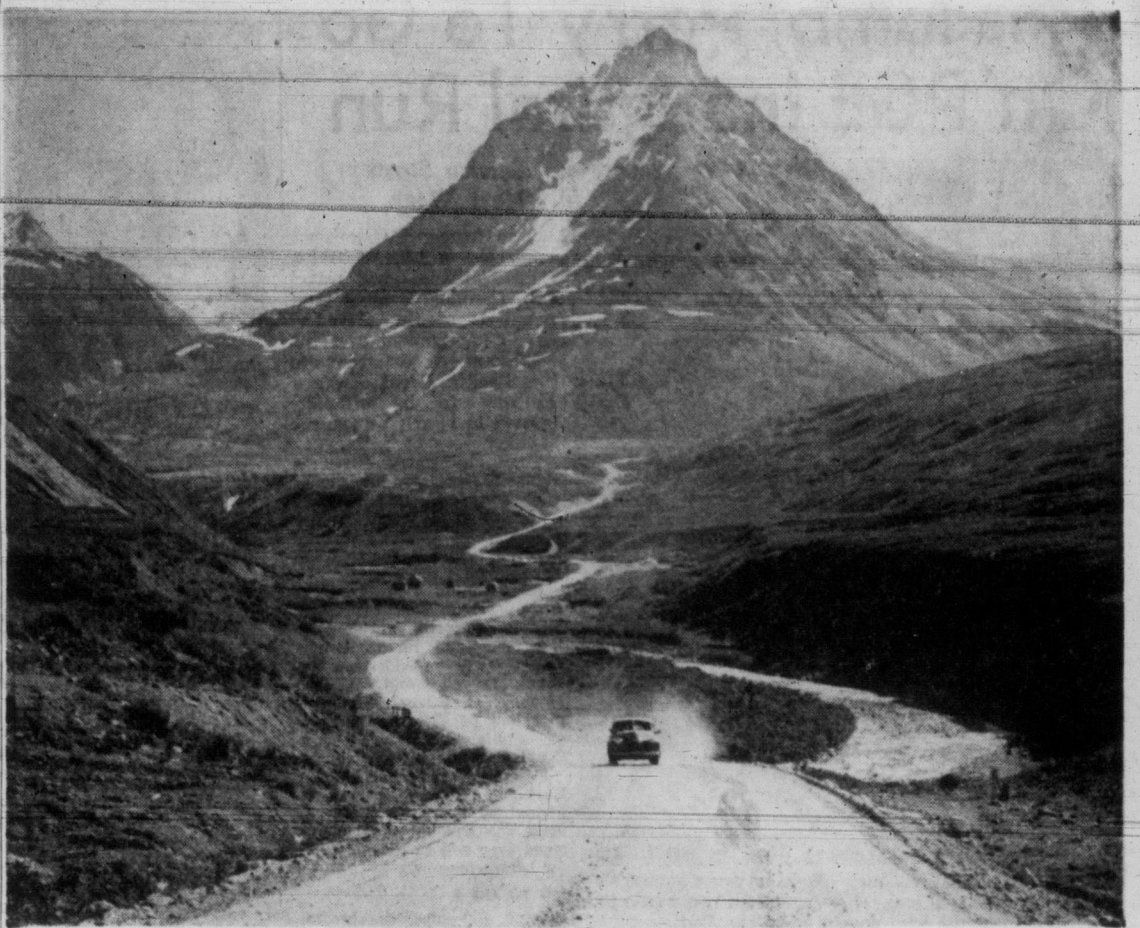

They think of every kind of way
To damage and to knock
And so they print a photograph
Which well might stop a clock.

I'm their rightful, natural leader,
And they're waiting to be led
I deserve to be presented

With a Thought to the Forgotten Men

IN some ways the current provincial election is strangely different from the first one I covered in 1932. In others it makes me feel that this is exactly where I came in. In any case, it makes a man feel old to realize that he has been concerned with elections for thirty-six years. The substance is the same and so are the arguments. Only the figures are different, both the human and the mathematical figures.

They were arguing, for example, about the provincial debt in 1932, as they are now, but in those primitive days no one had discovered that you can borrow without creating debt. They were arguing about roads, too, and roads were more interesting even than they are today. It takes a super-highway to excite the modern voter. A few miles of gravel here and there used to be sufficient for electoral purposes when automobiles and money were both scarce.

IN those times the ultimate depth of the taxpayer had not been plumbed. The income tax was of no consequence and the provincial sales tax had not been invented. If you had told the voters that they would soon be paying a third of their income to the state they would have taken you for a lunatic or an anarchist.

The mysteries of finance had not been explored either. People thought that money was the metal and folded paper in their pockets. Later, with the great depression, came the shattering discovery of credit in various versions, including Social Credit erupting in Alberta under the leadership of Mr. Abernethy, who never pretended to understand it.

NO one who saw it will forget his election of 1924 when, single-handed, and using the same speech night after night in every town and hamlet, he crushed

OUR Legislature was so ignorant of money, indeed, that about the year 1933 it passed a resolution, on the motion of the late Mr. Gerry McGeer, proposing the establishment of an economic system modeled on that of Hitler's new Germany.

That revolutionary proposal has long been forgotten but no doubt is recorded in the journals of the House. Of course the House didn't know what it was doing, but does it know any better about these things now?

Mr. McGeer's theories were somewhat extraordinary they at least represented some personal knowledge of money. That cannot be said for Mr. Bennett's views on interest rates, debt and the devaluation of the Canadian dollar. Mr. McGeer wanted inflation at a time of deflation. Mr. Bennett's theories would produce more inflation when it is already quite sufficient for all purposes, except those of Sozial Credit politics.

IT is not merely nostalgia, I think, to say that the Legislatures of three decades ago were able to do their current successors. To be sure, their field of thought was narrower in a simpler world and a smaller population but within those boundaries they knew their business pretty thoroughly and their debates, though not usually elegant, were highly pertinent.

We have no figure today, I feel sure, as able as Premier John Oliver. He had received little book learning but possessed a natural genius in government, a rugged honesty and a rough-and-tumble presence on the platform that makes all our current practitioners look rather pallid.

NO one who saw it will forget his election of 1924 when, single-handed, and using the same speech night after night in every town and hamlet, he crushed the wealthy Provincial Party, financed by the businessmen of Vancouver, led by the late General A. D. McRae and apparently certain to win. (I knew that speech by heart and, following Oliver all over the province, reported him faithfully every night though seldom attending his meetings.)

Oliver was the image and folk figure of a pioneer generation, his picture in every newspaper, his beard the cartoonist's delight, his rasping voice and bulldog's roar familiar to every ear. Amazing to think that many contemporary British Columbians have never heard his name. His legend passed with his generation. Such a burly character would hardly fit these smooth, well-mannered times. He would be out of date now because he was a builder and fighter, not a salesman.

AMAZING, too, to think that the various scandals that rocked the province then are hardly remembered at all. They didn't amount to much in terms of money, they were related entirely to campaign funds and did not involve any politician's personal honesty. Yet in our days of innocence they seemed appalling. Nothing appalls us nowadays. We have become educated in higher forms of politics.

But one thing is certain—politics were more fun then both for the politicians and the voters. They took up far more space in the newspapers and in the public mind. We believed more in political parties than we do now and, perhaps, more in ourselves.

AND if things are easier with us now, if British Columbia is no longer the poor Cinderella of Confederation but one of the richest areas in the world, our wealth is not some sudden miracle contrived by contemporary wizards but the result of the thought, imagination, courage and labor of the forgotten men.

WHEN WE WERE VERY YOUNG

By GUS SIVERTZ

When the Strait Was Only for Boats

MANY years, indeed many decades ago, before our Strait of Juan de Fuca had become a sort of sublimated "ole swimmin' hole" for aquatic marathoners, we had a deep-rooted respect for that gleaming international waterway. And I can say without any slightest fear of successful contradiction that none of us had the faintest notion of swimming from Victoria to Port Angeles. It was quite enough to see the old Queen City, homebound from Quatsino, wallowing in a southwesterly or to hear the booming crash of seas on Trial Island in a southeasterly.

Even in a flat calm off Race Rocks in a rowboat, I have seen the long trailing fronds of kelp streaming out to the distant pull of the fast tides. In fact it was on just such a day when, with Sid Bobbett, who owned the boat, that we pulled into that eerie area of silence that has so often since been debated.

Doleful Bellow
There was no breath of wind and the boat rose and dipped lazily to the long easy swells of the "Pacific heave" that swept in from outside Flattery. But there was a low-lying mist and for that reason the Race Rocks foghorn was sounding regularly in its monotonous and doleful bellow—like the sound of a distant bull caught in a pitfall.

Each blast of the horn as we neared the rocks seemed fairly to lift the hair off our heads with its insistent "whar-r-rump-whar-r-rump."

We pulled slowly nearer when suddenly there was no sound at all. The air was heavy with silence as though some huge hand had instantly cut off the warning notes. And as we pulled nearer the pall of silence remained.

When we backed away from the rock fangs of the Race, the sound rushed out at us again as though it had never ceased. I think that it was this zone of silence that much later was blamed for the shore near Weir's Beach just beyond the Quarantine Station at William Head.

That, was just one of the many intriguing facets of the strait which offered simply endless adventures for the young and venturesome.

Flying Scud

Another aspect was the strait in the furor of a winter storm when flying salt scud swept over the rocks, crossed Dallas Road and sprayed the windows of the fine old homes that looked out over the sea.

The ill-fated Clallam, then quite a young ship, was a victim of one of these winter gales when she foundered 52 years ago within sight of hundreds of citizens who lined the seashore to watch helplessly as the poor wounded ship broke up and took 51 lives to the bottom.

Of course the old "shellbacks" at Tacoma, where the Clallam was built, said that nothing could prevent disaster eventually, for as the ship was launched her sponsor missed the prow with the traditional champagne bottle and, worse still, as she slipped down the ways her flag was broken out upside down—the symbol of a marine disaster.

But it was none of these events that deterred us from attempting to anticipate examples of Marilyn Bell, Cliff Lumsden and Bert Thomas.

Labored Strokes

It just never occurred to us that our labored breast strokes, taught in the school gymnasiums by dear old Mr. St. Clair—Victoria's school physical training officer—would ever sustain us for the smallest fraction of such an ambitious undertaking.

In addition, I have vivid memories of the bone-grinding cold of the water off Beacon Hill even in midsummer.

True, we used to swim after a fashion in a few sheltered coves like little Ross —that eastern corner of the wide bay which would be exposed in low tide and somewhat warmed by the sun to take part of the curse off the cold.

Foul Bay wasn't bad because of the sand bar, but once out any distance the paralyzing cold of the deeper water was a hazard to any but the most powerful swimmers—and we were not among that number.

So our fun was to play in the shallows and among the rocks where the sea would come in with a rushing, foaming and joyous tumbling and recede again, dragging in its wake the rattling shingle. And our main obsession was with rafts.

These were indispensable to any day at the beach and some were exceedingly sketchy in construction, for we never seemed to remember to bring nails, and so had to lash logs together with seaweed or simply sit tight on flat boards athwart a couple of cedar logs.

Brave Mariners

On one such raft my brother Henry and Frank Dunn and I set out bravely from Gonzales Point to cross the mouth of Foul Bay without swimming trunks but with our pants, stockings and shoes piled aboard the raft. Flat boards propelled the raft after a fashion, and I think we sang as we slowly paddled across the open water between the headlands.

We were very happy. The sun shone and a gay little breeze barely ruffled the sea's surface.

Suddenly to our consternation and disgust we saw a rowboat heading for us with a bone in its teeth as two men pulled hard at the oars.

We stopped our paddling and waited in resignation until the boat pulled alongside and willing hands were ready to take us aboard, rescued from our sorry plight.

I know our would-be rescuers meant well and were kindly disposed, but they must have thought that the young generation was wholly lacking in decency or gratitude, as we spurned their aid and paddled on our course . . . half awash but happy.

Busy as a Beaver

AS the end of the Long Vacation draws near the law is supposed to be sharpening its summer somnolent brains. The judges, no doubt, are looking forward to a release from their holiday tasks (the only one hereabouts is, however, still displaying his usual avid interest in the capture of trout), but this column views the approaching litigation season with the most profound disinterest.

Blazing August days up here in the north woods, cool nights so well adapted for sleeping that even the blandishing smells of breakfast cooking fail to rouse it from its snowy nest and the general state of fat placidity induced by the ripening of summer into fall have brought this column into a happy condition of hopeless lethargy.

There is a story of a certain New York columnist, called lazy by his snide competitors, but actually just suffering from August, who let a deadline come dangerously close without so much as a flicker of inspiration to regale his faithful public. His final happy solution of the problem is one which commands admiration and respect. He copied out entire one of Arthur Brisbane's editorials, several hundred pregnant words, and then added that dash of tabasco which makes originality. What do you suppose Brisbane meant by all that?

The idea, I must admit, has crossed my mind. I even went in search of a newspaper, but all that could be found was page 17 of the Vancouver D. I. P. r. y. n. e. several weeks old which had somehow found its way here, probably as part of the packing in an egg crate. No soap anyway, as the only copy therein dealt exclusively with the virtues of the goods which the Gentlemen Adventurers of England were willing to trade for cash with the natives of the mainland metropolis.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

The Light Across the Street

LONDON—Here and there... New enterprise for Bernie Braden is to read his life story over the air. It is his latest series for the BBC. It will be called Before I Forget and week by week he will tell of his life in Vancouver, meeting Barbara, coming over to England, etc.

A couple of years ago he was approached by a publisher to write his autobiography, but bogged down on the writing of it. His problem is the same as many another radio and TV star. Nothing much happened to him before he hit the big time in radio and there is not sufficient wealth of experience and anecdote to make a book.

The Rank organization invited me to have lunch with Miss Canada of 1956. They are tied in with the Miss Canada promotion and have been giving Dorothy Moreau a screen test over here. I found she looked much more attractive than her pictures, which don't show off to the full the golden-red hair and beautiful complexion.

Having been a phenomenal best seller as a book and one of the most successful movies

This column has its pride. Not very much, but enough to preserve it from plugging the fur trade.

And talking of fur, there is a family of beavers on an island in the river nearby. They are loggers and hydraulic engineers, and furthermore seem to enjoy sidewalk superintendents in the evening. The presence of a crowd of spectators spurs them on to tremendous efforts. They fell bigger trees than they need and dash about with a great display of efficiency calculated to impress the lay, or non-beaver, mind.

The Eminent Counsel from Upper Canada who was here a few days ago is an old hand with beavers. After watching the boys at work the other night he told of a colony which was troubling the water supply of a mine in Northern Ontario some years ago. It seemed that every night the beavers would dam the creek which, for some mysterious mining purpose, should flow unimpeded. Every morning the mine crew would go out and bust the dam. Thus the situation stayed for some weeks, beavers damming and miners busting. At last the engineer had a plan. Since the beavers only worked in the darkness, he would make light. With a great deal of trouble he rigged a system of floodlights on the damsite which made the sun look pale. That will fix them, he thought, and retired to bed with a quiet mind, the refreshing gurgle of the creek soon lulling him to slumber. He was sound asleep before it died away and stopped.

Some hours later he was awakened by the watchman. The creek had dried up in the old familiar way, and the new dam was alive with beavers. There were beavers from far and near, delighted with the helpful novelty of floodlighting, helping the local family with its work. More and more seemed to arrive every minute, casting looks of gratitude at their benefactor as he stood there grinding his teeth.

The proper ending of this story should be the closing of the mine, but no. Romance is dead. A man from the government came and took them away and the mine eventually closed under its own steam.

This is the last thing I shall have to say about beavers. And quite enough too. The mere thought of their industrious habits is exhausting enough.

ANIMALS

Versatile Roundworms Everywhere

BY DR. G. CLIFFORD CARL
Number six on our list of major animal groups is the roundworms—an assemblage of worm-like creatures sufficiently different from all others to be given a separate category.

Most people probably live through modern life without seeing a roundworm though these animals are exceedingly abundant and literally all around us. But unless a person cleans a fish instead of buying it already packaged in the freezer, examines the insides of animals, or searches through the soil with a hand lens he is apt to miss observing roundworms in their normal surroundings.

The tiny species that inhabit the ground we dig, or that live in the debris along pond or lake edge are thread-like in their general appearance so much so that the technical word for the group is nematode which comes from a Greek word meaning thread.

TOUGH SKIN
In cross section the body is round, hence the common name, and in general shape it is tapered at each end to a more or less blunt point.

The body is covered with a thick tough skin that is impervious to water and even to strong gastric juices. Hence the parasite forms can withstand digestive processes that normally break down most tissues and most species take a long time to die when immersed in preserving fluids that kill other less resistant animals quickly.

Lacking legs, suckers and projections of any kind these worms move by violent whip-like contractions of the body—thrashings which seem to be inefficient but yet serve to push the creature through the soil or any liquid in which it is living. A simple digestive tract and nerve cord and a most efficient reproductive system complete the internal organization.

PARASITES
While most species of roundworms are free-living and therefore harmless, a number are parasitic, capable of producing serious diseases in man. Among these are hookworms, trichina, filaria, pinworms and guinea worms.

Fortunately for us, of these only the pinworm commonly occurs in our area; the others are confined pretty well to warmer countries where temperatures and sanitary conditions are more favorable to the worms.

In general appearance the many different species of roundworms resemble one another to a remarkable degree yet they are extremely varied in their habits.

Some are found only in roots of certain plants or perhaps only in the tissue of the leaves; some frequent only certain species of animals or live in vinegar. One kind is found nowhere else but in the appendix of humans, another lives on glaciers and one species is restricted to the felt "sliders" used under beer mugs!

WEEKEND WEATHER PICTURE ACROSS CANADA

SYNOPSIS—A weak disturbance lay across the extreme southern boundary of the province this morning. As it moved southward it brought cloudy skies and showers to most regions. However, gradual clearing has already set in coastal and northern sections and this clearing will spread southward during the day. A ridge of high pressure is moving across the province.

Theatre Guild Sprucing Up For Fall Opening Sept. 15

With the closing of a very successful run by Jerry Gosley's Smile Show there is increased activity amongst the members of the Victoria Theatre Guild who are busy sprucing up the Langham Court Theatre in anticipation of the early opening of their first fall presentation "Dial M for Murder" on September 15. Mr. Harold Gelling, vice-chairman in charge of productions, has just returned from a holiday in southern California where he was able to secure some really attractive material to help renovate the lobby with new curtains, etc., and the sound of hammer and saw, plus the steady swish of paint brushes can be heard there these warm summer evenings. Those interested in obtaining season tickets, priced at $5, are advised to do so early in order to take advantage of not five, but six shows during the 1956-57 season. Mrs. Nora Kellie, membership chairman, of 1369 Rockland Avenue, will be pleased to hear from anyone for further information in this regard.

ART IN REVIEW

By COLIN GRAHAM

Meeting of Art Gallery Chiefs In Vancouver Marks Milestone

By COLIN GRAHAM

A week ago there ended in Vancouver what may well prove to have been one of the key meetings of Canadian art at mid-century. At the invitation of the National Gallery some 40 of us—the heads of galleries and university art departments across the country—met to discuss the needs of our regions in relation to the National Gallery's extension services and to try to work out a rough picture of what those needs are likely to be over the next decade.

A good deal more was discussed than just that, but fruitfully as the talks certainly were,

I suspect that some of the by-products of the conference will prove no less far reaching in effect than the policies which will take shape as a result of the actual proceedings.

For one thing this conference probably marked the end of regional isolation. To understand what this means one must first realize that communication between Canadian art galleries has been extraordinarily sporadic and in some cases non-existent.

The galleries of western Canada have in recent years become fairly familiar with each other's doings because they have grouped together to form an exhibition circuit. But as few of us have the wealth or leisure for travel, we had only the vaguest idea of what was going on in such other Canadian circuits as those in Ontario and the Maritimes. Those circuits, in turn, heard only the faintest echoes of the activities of the western provinces. As to Quebec, there has been disgracefully little material available in the west on that province's rich cultural activities.

The magazine Canadian Art has been saving the day to some extent, but its job is primarily the discussion of art and artists not gallery activity. As to Quebec, I am happy to recommend for those who can read French, or even enjoy reproductions, a new and excellent journal Vies des Arts published by the Societe des Arts in Montreal (a copy is available for inspection at our own gallery here).

Given this rather strange state of regional isolation, the crucial importance of a meeting on a national level such as that at Vancouver (the first in Canadian history) is easily understood. Names and galleries that had been vague abstractions on the outer fringes of the horizon materialized in reasonably concrete form. We got to know each other's views on the functions and needs of a gallery in a Canadian environment, as well as something of each other's special problems.

Henceforth it will be much easier for all of us to visualize matters when half the art geography of the country consists of terra incognita. As this meeting will undoubtedly be followed by others, perhaps on a regular annual or biennial basis, a greater community and identity of interest is certain to develop between all parts of the nation, with all that implies for the growth and maturing of the visual arts in Canada.

Biggs Plays Bach On Famous Organs

Sparrows Join in Fugue; Tchaikovsky On Mozart; New Hi Fi With Lombardo

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Some of the most enjoyable music Johann Sebastian Bach wrote during his lifetime were short essays for the instructions of his sons or for family concerts. His famous "Eight Little Preludes and Fugues" for organ belong to this group of compositions.

E. Power Biggs plays these pieces for a new Columbia recording M-15078. The intriguing aspect of this disc is that each one of these selections is performed separately on a different famous classic organ in Europe.

Power Biggs, in the program notes, points out that the appellation "little" precludes must be regarded as an affectionate diminutive, rather than literally descriptive. The pieces all rank as some of Bach's best work.

With regard to the historical organs, the famous organist notes that the musical principles inherent in these fine old instruments are so excellent that they are still a source of wonder to musicians today. One organ dates back to the 17th century.

"A listener," he says, "will at once note a rare sense of 'presence' in the tone of these organs. Instruments are almost invariably in the gallery or set high upon a platform, but open placement alone is not the answer. For in addition to 'presence' there is an altogether new and vital sense of 'accent' in the sound."

Power Biggs met with some difficulty in playing "Prelude and Fugue No. 1" on the Silbermann organ at Ebermünster, Alsace. A family of sparrows nesting in the rafters of the church kept interrupting the performance. The birds are heard offering a few solo comments on the disc.

This record should please listeners who like organ music, the works of Bach, and good sound. An excellent release.

Peter Tchaikovsky was an ardent admirer of Mozart and he displayed his affection for the Austrian's music by composing a suite, based on a number of short, lesser-known works by the composer. The suite is known as Mozartiana and consists of four movements, opening with a lively Gigue.

This work is ably performed by the Orchestre Des Concerts Lamoureux under the baton of Paul Van Kempen for an Epic record LC-3213.

On the reverse side, the orchestra plays Tchaikovsky's Serenade in C Major for String Orchestra, Op. 48. The most popular movement in this work is the playful waltz a la Johann Strauss, heightened by a light French air.

POPS LIBRARY—For those who like light music "The Immortal Ladies," an RCA Victor disc (LMP-1110), featuring the Melachrino Orchestra conducted by George Melachrino, is novel and new in presentation.

The music is based on popular songs all bearing girls' names. Selections include Sweet Sue, Irene, Mona Lisa, Dolores, and a host of others.

(OSCAR CLASS) "THE KING AND I" (Royal) — The stronger the adjective, usually, the less strong the praise. Therefore, this column will endeavor to be circumspect in its description of 20th Century-Fox's adaptation of Margaret Landon's best-selling 1944 novel, "Anna and the King of Siam."

Yet this is difficult. Rarely have more gorgeous sets been erected. The latest wide-screen technique, Cinemascope 55, has wondrous depth. The costumes are on a par with the Arabian Nights. The acting of the "King and I" principals if of quality to match. In all, the film is like being projected into an exotic dream, sometimes filled with laughter, at other times with sadness. And not far away is the soft haunting music of Rodgers and Hammerstein, the same music that kept the Broadway play vibrant and gay for 1,246 consecutive performances.

AS THE English governess who accepts the job of teaching the king's innumerable children, Deborah Kerr is magnificently cast. She is starchy yet not without humor. But it is Yul Brynner, as the king, who completely captivates, who, quite literally carries the show. When Academy Award time rolls around again don't be surprised if he isn't among those mentioned for the "best actor" of the year award.

The whole is as innocent as the washed face of a babe, the king waltzes with Anna. Some scenes one won't forget for a long time. One is when Another is the presentation of the royal children to Miss Kerr, a delightfully gay mixture of Occidental impishness flavored with Old World charm.

Another scene to be cherished is the Siamese version of Uncle Tom's Cabin, choreographed by Jerome Robbins, narrated humorously by Rita Moreno and superbly danced by Yuriko and Mario Im.

What ever you do, don't miss "The King and I." For, as a celluloid creation, it borders upon the miracle so beautifully and heart-tugingly it is arrayed.

This is the motion picture business at its best.

A Second 'Fridolin' Coming Up

The 17-year-old son of Gratien "Fridolin" Gelin, one of French Canada's foremost actor-playwrights, is drawing laughs in the true tradition of his father.

While Papa Fridolin is doing serious work this summer at the Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Ont., young Yves is touching off merriment among young and old at performances of "La Roulotte," the city parks department's mobile theatre touring city playgrounds.

Yves' task is to liven up proceedings before the main presentation of the three-year-old theatre.

He flaps his arms like a berserk chicken, makes faces at the children and gleefully shies away from the lone police officer invariably on duty—in the true style of Fridolin, the clowning character created by his father.

Yves—the third of six Fridolin children—is the first to follow in papa's footsteps.

Time alone will tell whether Canada will get another Fridolin. Yves wants to finish college—he has two years to go at Brebeuf College—and after that, "We'll see."

The famous Carabinieri Band of Rome, a 102-piece military group, will make its first visit to the United States this fall. The band will arrive Oct. 3 and begin a tour the following night in New Haven, Conn. A tour of 38 cities in seven weeks has been arranged.

The band is famous for its parade and pageant abilities as well as its music. There will be two appearances in New York—the first in Carnegie Hall Oct. 13 will be purely instrumental; the second, in Madison Square Garden Oct. 16 will include all of the colorful exhibition work of the group.

Problems, Politics and Power In High Levels of War Command

(Reviewed By Derek Lukin Johnston)

THE DIRECTION OF WAR, by Air Vice-Marshal Kingston-McCloughry, C.B., CBE, DSO. Jonathan Cape. $3.25.

"War," wrote Clausewitz, "is the province of friction." The maxim might have served Air Vice-Marshal Kingston-McCloughry as a motto. For his book, "a critique of political direction and high command in war," is largely concerned with friction in the high-level war machine and proposals for its relief.

The author's distinguished career in the armed forces includes trench service in the First World War, decorations for gallantry in the old Royal Flying Corps, and high rank in the Royal Air Force.

As one of the senior British air commanders on Eisenhower's staff for the Normandy invasion he was in a ringside seat to observe the functioning of high command under stress. In the post-war years he has been Air Officer Commanding in Scotland and has held important posts in the British Ministry of Defence.

It would be hard for a man with such experience to write a dull book and he has not done so. The work falls roughly into three parts, of which the first is a brief sketch of British military history since Cromwell's day, with emphasis on Marlborough, Wellington, and leadership problems in the First World War.

OVER SIMPLIFIED

The author's observations are shrewd and concise, but this section is too short and it suffers from over-simplification. A fuller discussion of the complex relations between Lloyd George and Haig in 1917-18 would have given a better perspective to the question of political direction of military command.

Churchill's authority in 1940-45 is well described; but we must remember that his extraordinary knowledge and experience of all three armed services, which gave him a personal ascendancy over even the most senior officers, is a phenomenon unlikely to be repeated.

It must be accepted as probable that a democracy will find itself commencing war under a leader experienced in the politics of peace. Such a man may possess the vision for long-term political aims in war, but he operates under severe disadvantages in dealing with his military advisers on immediate campaign problems.

ENTERTAINING STORY

Air Vice-Marshal Kingston-McCloughry fails to deal adequately with this basic problem in the third part of his book, devoted to the conduct of modern war and its organization. But in the central and longest section he has written a most entertaining "inside story" of the problems that beset SHAEF before and during the Normandy invasion.

Eisenhower's dictum that American officers on his staff who quarrelled with the British would be sent home "on a slow boat, unescorted," his tact and firmness, kept international differences to a minimum.

But national inter-service disputes were frequent, and with individual services feuds raged between enthusiasts for this or that particular weapon or theory.

WANTED KNOCKOUT

Thus in the RAF, before D-Day, Sir Arthur Harris and the "bomber barons" believed in a knockout of Germany by direct bombing of cities; Marshal Tedder pressed for heavy bombers to disrupt the rail systems of northern France and Belgium; Air Chief Marshal Leigh-Mallory urged close tactical support of the land forces. These differences were resolved but not without delays and hard personal feelings.

On one occasion Leigh-Mallory was presiding at a meeting of Army and RAF commanders, attended also by senior American officers, to discuss heavy bomber support of a ground attack on Caen. Suddenly Marshal Tedder and his staff walked in and, after asking what was going on, ordered all RAF officers to leave the meeting. They were told that heavy bomber support was not necessary, and were dismissed.

LIGHT BOMBER FAILURE

"Few commanders," writes the author, "have received such a slight from a superior as Leigh-Mallory did from Tedder in this incident, and yet events proved the former right." The Army attacked with light bomber support only, and failed.

The brevity of the historical section, and the limitation of the book's scope to studies of American and British high command, result in a narrow treatment which is a little disappointing. For example, a cursory remark praising the efficiency of the German Supreme Command is frustrating when no effort is made to describe that organization or compare it with its Allied counterparts.

But the author's own experience and personal observations, which form the greater part of the volume, make excellent reading, and the book is a worthwhile addition to the Second World War library shelf.

Tender Intimate Tale Sparkles With Humor

RINGS AROUND US, Ernestine Gilbreth Carey, Little, Brown & Co., Toronto. 240 pages.

Ernestine Gilbreth Carey, co-author of the well-known best seller, "Cheaper by the Dozen," has written another book which promises to be as popular as her previous production. In her latest book the author writes with heart-warming humor the story of her courtship and marriage to Chick Carey and of the many amusing incidents centred around the raising of their two children.

The reader will chuckle when husband-Chick decides to cook with rather disastrous results, an old fashioned New England dinner; will rejoice at the coming of Jill and Charlie; and sympathize with the problems that confront the parents in the upbringing of two active youngsters.

Ordinary events of every day living, treasured memories of happy domestic life, and the gay carefree times of youth are told with such heartwarming zest that interest is sustained throughout the narrative.

Driving lessons, home improvements, dressmaking and alterations, the endless procession of housekeeping and other daily household economies such as using up leftovers in the fridge, mending and dyeing, renovating drapes are all vividly told in such manner as to make the Carey family personal friends and neighbors.

But under the author's light-

CORK, Ireland (UP)—Conductor Charles Muench, bereaved by the death of his wife, led the Boston symphony orchestra through a stirring performance here Friday night.

The performance brought tears to the eyes of thousands after they were told that the conductor's wife, Genevieve, died in Paris three days earlier. Orchestra trustee Michael Kelleher broke down in sobs as he announced the death of Mrs. Muench.

Kelleher cast aside a prepared speech. "I am sorry, my friends; I am overcome," he said, and groped his way off the stage with tears rolling down his cheeks.

Muench stood erect, with head and eyes cast downward. Then he led the 106-piece orchestra through a faultless performance of Anderson's Eire Suite, Haydn's London Symphony, The Sorcerer's Apprentice, and Brahms' Second Symphony.

A compassionate Savoy theatre audience stood and gave the conductor round after round of deafening applause.

"It was the act of a great conductor, a great man," Kelleher said later.

The program was the first of 28 in a European tour that will take the famed Boston orchestra behind the Iron Curtain. The orchestra, plays in Dublin today before a distinguished audience headed by Irish president Sean T. O'Kelly.

SCOTT'S BOOK TALK

It's quite some time ago now that I made so bold in this space to say what I fondly hoped was an objective word about the fine old figure which is the family doctor. As a result of that comment I got letters from all sorts of ill-tri-ous personages who made it clear to me that anybody who would suggest that the family doctor was a human being (as opposed to a hearth god) was not only insensitive but a mon-

Great White Father, Little Satchel

However, in Family Party, done nothing to answer the basic question. So here we have another story which glorifies the family doctor. It is very small and very slight. In its way it is also very good. But I am still searching for the reason d'être for such a book. There may be a good reason but it eludes me. It was not apparent in the book itself and that, for my money, is enough to condemn any writer.

Now this may well be true. (And let me repeat here that I am the son of such a medical office myself.) But it might also be true of insurance salesmen, allowed to get away with this grocery store proprietors, kind of money-shines and I auctioneers, bums, ministers and don't think John O'Hara's sentipriests and all sorts of other mental journey with a small folk. I have not yet discovered town doctor can get by without why the doctor should be singled a nasty word. I hate to say that out for special treatment, in word but maybe his publishers fiction and Mr. O'Hara can fill it in between the lines.

Why Nevil Shute Chose Australia

Nevil Shute's Beyond the Black Stump, on the other hand, is the kind of book which leaves no reader in doubt as to his intent. Mr. Shute, as most people now know, left England which he thought was a fading country no longer fit for vigorous men, for Australia. One assumes that he picked Australia for his own good reasons. He could have gone anywhere in the good green world and still have garnered his fat royalties.

Beyond the Black Stump answers the question regarding Mr. Shute's choice of Australia. It is about a girl who became enamored with the American way of life via the advertisements in the Saturday Evening Post. She lived on a sheep station in west Australia and she met a young U.S. engineer who came into the country to search for oil. She fell in love with this young man and she was all set to marry him, but her shrewd old mother said you better take a look at the U.S. first and when she did she realized that she would prefer Australia after all. The reason for this choice was that

Two Aristocracies In Two Trivial Books

THE ARISTOCRATS, by Michel de Saint Pierre, Dutton.

BLESSED ARE THE DEBONAIR, by Margaret Case Harriman, Rinehart.

Both Michel de Saint Pierre's first American novel and Margaret Case Harriman's second memoir deal with some form of what might be called aristocracy.

As Saint Pierre's title would indicate, his is the more valid: a story of an old Burgundian chateau and its present-day inhabitants.

The trim, stubborn, and eminently aristocratic Marquis de Maubrun; his somewhat more democratic children; Gontran, the successor; Arthur, who has made millions in Turkish industry; Edouard, a used-car salesman; and an ardent devotee of ultra-modern poetry; Philippe, a reluctant missionary; Daisy, headstrong as her father and in love with a pseudo-aristocrat; the twins, Osmond and Louis-Cesar, who duel with live ammunition; an assortment of aunts; and Jeanne Dupre, a house guest simultaneously loved by Louis-

Cesar, Gontran, and the marquis himself.

WEALTHY SOURCE

Margaret Case Harriman, daughter of Frank Case, the famous manager of New York's Hotel Algonquin, meeting place of what might be called the American counterpart to French aristocracy, has already delved into the raw material offered by that institution to produce "The Vicious Circle."

Her new book is an enlargement of this theme, wandering from the Algonquin to Sag Harbor to the author's days on the editorial board of Vanity Fair, in the '20s and '30s.

Although a thread of a story-line is present, the book consists mainly of a series of anecdotes about such aristocrats of the artistic and literary professions as Douglas Fairbanks, Dorothy Parker, the Barrymores, Claire Booth Luce, the New Yorker's Harold Ross and the like. As in Saint Pierre's novel, a feeling of utter triviality prevails.

True Father Of New India Little Known

"LOKAMANYA TILAK: Father of Indian Unrest and Maker of Modern India," by D. V. Tahmankar; John Murray, London.

Anyone asked to name the person who was instrumental in procuring Indian independence would almost invariably reply "Gandhi." As a matter of fact, the man by whom all the initial work and agitation was done was Lokamanya Tilak, known as the Father of Indian Unrest and Maker of Modern India.

Tilak was born a hundred years ago and died in 1920, and his life has been written by D. V. Tahmankar with admirable objectivity and understanding of his subject. He has attempted to show how Tilak introduced into Indian politics a new philosophy of defiance of the established order and inspired a fallen people to attain Swaraj.

The clashes between British Imperialists and Indian Nationalism are extraordinarily interesting reading. Tilak was imprisoned and fined, and his newspaper suppressed, and yet he was highly respected by the British.

Heyerdahl Returns From Easter Island

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The Norwegian Easter Island expedition led by explorer Thor Heyerdahl of Kon Tiki fame returned to Oslo Friday in the ship Chr. Bjelland.

The Chr. Bjelland, a converted deep-sea fishing vessel, was packed with crates of archeological material from the little known Pacific island, including about 1,300 religious statuettes and effigies.

The collection included plaster castings of a 30-foot Easter Island statue, one of the island's countless volcanic stone statues which baffled scientists for years. A replica of the statue will be erected at the Kon Tiki museum here.

Heyerdahl gained fame by drifting on the balsa wood raft

Kon Tiki from the South American coast to Polynesia in 1947. His expedition aimed at proving Polynesia was settled from Peru.

For the next two years Heyerdahl will work on writing two books about his trip—one a scientific treatise and the other a travel book. He will also edit more than 10 miles of color film from Easter Island for a feature movie.

Twenty-five persons joined Heyerdahl on the latest expedition, including his wife, a teenage son and daughter, 3.

The Chr. Bjelland—a 341-ton craft built in 1948, was away a year on Heyerdahl's expedition. The Chr. in the name is an abbreviation for Christian.

FAVORITE SONS

Favorite sons are a prime topic of conversation in election years, but there are favorite sons of another description which we put into words any time. Fifteen of these are given below. Answer to No. 1, for instance, is SEASON. How many more can you get?

1. Which SON divides the years into four parts? ... SON.
2. Which SON is a bovine animal? ... SON.
3. Which SON is a fatal portion? ... SON.
4. Which SON always is human and often is a daughter? ... SON.
5. Which SON possesses power of understanding everything? ... SON.
6. Which SON fires buildings and other property? ... SON.
7. Which SON is a plum? ... SON.
8. Which SON makes two or more things alike? ... SON.
9. Which SON aids the enemy in time of war? ... SON.
10. Which SON is meat too dear for most of us? ... SON.
11. Which SON is water-tight under water? ... SON.
12. Which SON guards a fort? ... SON.
13. Which SON throws goods overboard? ... SON.
14. Which SON is a brick-layer? ... SON.
15. Which SON gives you a choice between good or evil? ... SON.

Finally, the capitals of four of the United States are sons. How many of them can you name within one minute?

CHARADES, STREAMLINED

These are the old-time charades, minus the verses. Clues suggest the answers.

Example: A note in the scale plus a fit of anger makes an optical illusion: mi-rage.

1. A snake plus a quick stop makes a pavement.
2. A head, covering plus a cereal makes a whim.
3. A rube plus an "all right" makes a Western character.
4. A barrier plus an acquisition makes something cheap.
5. High temperature plus a domestic fowl makes a pageant.

THE WEEKEND

Run-of-Mill Shows Take Over Weekend

With the possible exception of such shows as the Steve Allen and Ed Sullivan affairs and the odd name band, this weekend highlights might better be termed lowlights.

True, Loretta Young returns to her usual Sunday night spot and you can pick up a delayed telecast of the Lions-Saskatchewan Roughriders game, but mostly the shows are repeats and re-runs of repeats. May the weather be good and the gardening and fishing plentiful.

TONIGHT
6.00: Channel 5: Feature horse race from Longacres.
7.00: Channel 4: A review of the up-and-coming Washington State primary.
Channel 11: Beat the Clock's stunt is worth $55,000—if you can do it.
7.30: Channel 5: Ozark Jubilee shows some of its extremely clever youngsters under western singer Jim Wilson who takes over the emceeing job for Red Foley.

Channel 11: The wonderfully complicated High Finance Quiz.
8.00: Channel 11: Jackie Gleason's repeat is the one about Ralph Kramden, including takes on all-comers—including his equally pugnacious landlord. The Channel 2 repeat is where the ladies of the Kramden apartment are overjoyed when they discover the new tenant is a handsome dance teacher.

Channel 4: Tony Bennett's guests include the Mills Brothers, comic Jack Durant, singer Joan Weber and the comedy team of Allen and De Wood.
8.30: Channel 11: Stage Show presents the Dorsey Brothers and the June Taylor Dancers. Others seen will be comic Eddie Hanley and Siret, a Siam singer, also Dick Haymes. An older Stage Show can be picked up on Channel 2.

9.00: Channel 5: There's rumors about that Lawrence Welk will dance with Alice Long to "Moonlight Madonna."
Channel 11: Sam Levenson, host of the Two for the Money quiz, has some pertinent things to say about children returning from summer vacations.
9.30: Channel 2: Jack Short reviews highlights of Vancouver horse racing.

Channel 4: Ralph Bellamy stars in "Alibi," wherein a drama critic lures two women—or at least they love him.

Channel 11: What's my Line?

Channel 2: Jack Short reviews highlights of Vancouver horse racing.

Channel 4: Ralph Bellamy stars in "Alibi," wherein a drama critic lures two women—or at least they love him.

Channel 11: What's my Line?

Channel 2: Jack Short reviews highlights of Vancouver horse racing.

Channel 4: Ralph Bellamy stars in "Alibi," wherein a drama critic lures two women—or at least they love him.

CLIMAX STAR—Shelley Winters, stage and motion picture actress, will be seen in the Climax thriller, "The Dark Wall," Thursday, at 8.30 on Channels 11 and 12.

8.00: Channel 11: Kirk Douglas fills in for ailing Ed Sullivan tonight. It will be an all-Navy show. An older Sullivan show will be seen on Channel 2.

Channel 4: Steve Allen hosts comic Buddy Hackett, director Gregory Ratoff, Jaye P. Morgan and glimpses of John Harris' "Teepees."

9.00: Channel 4: TV Playhouse shows "Grow Up." A boy learns there is more to life than sliding by on a smile and a load of personality.

Channel 11: GE Theatre stars Jack Benny and Zsa Zsa Gabor in a repeat of the comedy, "The Honest Man." A mild, timid piano-tuner falls for a glamorous gal and thereby becomes mixed up with the underworld.

9.30: Channel 11: Alfred Hitchcock presents "The Gentleman from America." An American accepts a wager from an Englishman that he can spend the night in a haunted room.

10.00: Channel 2: Profile sees Eriq Kock interviewing harpichordist Greta Kraus, a member of the Toronto Symphony.

Channel 4: Loretta Young returns to star in "Double Part."

WEEKEND MOVIES

TONIGHT
9.00: Channel 13: Million Dollar Movie is slated to show the English film, "Man Bait." George Brent stars in the story of a bookstore manager who is implicated in the death of one of his clerks.

10.30: Channel 2: Sonia Dredel and Barbara White in the English motion picture, "This Was a Woman." A woman attempts to smash the happiness of her family.

Channel 5: Paul Muni in "Copter Attack." Russian paratroopers land behind German lines in an effort to obtain valuable information.

Channel 11: George Raft stars in the English film, "I'll Get You."

11.30: Channel 11: A Sherlock Holmes mystery, "Spider Woman," with Basil Rathbone.

11.35: Channel 4: Edmund Lowe in "Wolf of New York."

SUNDAY
7.30: Channel 5: Famous Film Festival presents Alec Guinness in "The Promoter." Although this isn't one of Guinness' best it's still a cracking good show.

10.30: Channel 12: Gregory Peck in "The Paradine Case." A woman is accused of murdering her husband.

11.05: Channel 4: "Petticoat Politics." A wife forces her husband to run for mayor.

11.15: Channel 2: Anne Baxter in "The Fighting-Sullivans." Based on truth, this is the story of five brothers who went to war with the U.S.N.

11.30: Channel 5: Glenn Ford in "Gallant Journey." This is about John J. Montgomery and his glider of the 1890s.

Channel 13: "Skyliner."

DID YOU KNOW... by Heaney's

TAKING PERSONAL ATTENTION OUT OF SERVICES BY THE USE OF VENDING MACHINES WAS BEING TRIED IN MANY FORMS DURING THE LATTER PART OF THE LAST CENTURY. ONE SUCH DEVICE WAS PLACED IN USE BY A LAWYER IN THE TERRITORY OF UTAH IN 1875. THE SERVICE PERFORMED WITHOUT EVEN A CLERK WAS THE GRANTING OF A DIVORCE. A COUPLE USING THE MACHINE MERELY SIGNED DUPLICATE LEGAL PAPERS WHICH ASKED NO REASONS FOR THE SEPERATION. THE "CASE" WAS SETTLED IN LESS THAN FIVE MINUTES, INCLUDING THE PAYMENT OF THE LAWYER'S FEES A TOTAL OF $2.50.

A MODERN VENDING MACHINE THAT BRINGS COMPLETE ACCURACY TO FUEL OIL DELIVERY IS THE AUTOMATIC METER ON EVERY HEANEY OIL TRUCK. THE EXACT AMOUNT OF OIL YOUR TANK RECEIVES IS PRINTED ON THE DELIVERY SLIP—JUST ANOTHER REASON WHY YOU GET A COMPLETELY RELIABLE SERVICE WHEN YOU LEAVE YOUR FUEL OIL DELIVERY TO HEANEY'S.

The growing importance of television in Japan has been emphasized by a price war between leading Japanese TV manufacturers. Japanese interest in the medium began in 1930 but the first regular television broadcast was made in 1952. Commercial television made its debut the following year.

FIGHTS WEDNESDAY — Highly-rated middleweight Rory Calhoun (above) meets another young man with a reputation, Spider Webb, Wednesday at 7 on Channel 5.

WHAT'S YOUR LINE?

Famed Quiz Running Out Of Vocations

BY DICK KLEINER
NEW YORK (NEA) — Do you know a working pearl diver? Or gondolier? Or witch doctor or fan dancer? If you do, get in touch with Frances Trocaine at the "What's My Line?" office in New York—she's dying to get in touch with people who have those vocations.

Turns out that, after all these years, "What's My Line?" is beginning to feel the occupational pinch. It used to be they had no trouble finding a wide assortment of interesting jobholders. Nowadays, the bottom of the barrel is beginning to be seen.

Miss Trocaine and her assistant, Ann Kaminsky, remember longingly the days when most of the contestants came through the mail. Gradually, they've found fewer and fewer of the guests from the letters that still pour in. Gradually, they've had to go out and dredge up contestants themselves.

They work in a small office, crowded with desks and files and stacks of letters. They read newspapers from all over, trying to spot unusual jobs. (Miss Trocaine came up with an octopus fisherman, something she'd always wanted, through a story in an Oregon newspaper.) They're on the phone for hours a day, tracking down people, checking their authenticity, arranging for their transportation to New York.

It's gotten so that today only about 25 per cent of the contestants come from letters. The other three-quarters are people the two pretty gals have discovered.

By now, six years and 800-odd occupations after the show started, it's tough to avoid duplication. They try, but lately they've had to repeat some occupations. What this country needs, from their standpoint, is a few hundred new kinds of jobs.

But they still haven't found that fan dancer. Any volunteers?

A couple of notes on the convention coverage:

Perhaps one of the few commercial announcers on the scene who had a right to be there was Carl King, ABC-TV's commercial announcer. He was a political science major at Chattanooga University.

Ex-Victorian Sings Monday

Art Ross-Jones On Godfrey Show

Calhoun Fights Webb Wednesday; Shelley Winters Stars on Climax

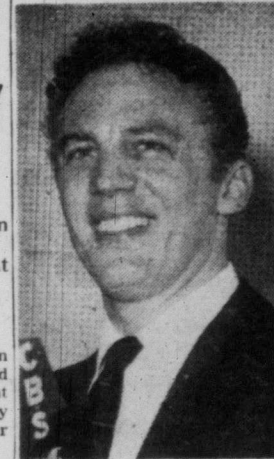

Although there is not much to write home about this week, the conventions are over and all the old familiar shows are back in their normal time slots. Here they are for what they're worth.

MONDAY

7:00: Channel 11: Studio One presents Morris Miller and Eleni Kiamos in "Giulio." A young boy of Italian parentage wants to be left alone to do with his life what he wills. However, he has a wondrous voice and his father is determined to make an opera star out of him.

8:00: Channel 4: Ernie Kovacs hosts Met opera star Robert Merrill and the Four Step Brothers, a dance team. An older Kovacs show can be picked up on Channel 2.

8:30: Channel 5: Young Met opera singers are featured to night on Firestone Concert program. They are Dolores Hillson and Theodor Uppman and 14-year-old pianist Tong Il Man.

EX-VICTORIAN — Arthur Ross-Jones, the operatic tenor who once lived in Victoria, will be seen and heard on the Arthur Godfrey Talent Scout program Monday on Channel 11 at 8:30.

Channel 11: Former Victorian Arthur Ross-Jones can be heard on Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scout program. He'll be introduced by Bob Crosby who is subbing for Godfrey.

9:00: Channel 4: Medie shows "This Strange Ending." A ballerina dies of cancer at the height of her career.

Channels 11 and 12: Charlie Farrell helps an eloping couple, and almost becomes involved himself.

9:30: Channel 4: Robert Montgomery's summer players present "Company Wife." A new executive and his wife cause fear in the hearts and minds of other executives and their wives.

TUESDAY

7:00: Channel 11 and 12: The $64,000 Question.

BEASTALL ADVISES

Removing Tomato Plant Leaves Questionable Practice Here

BY JACK BEASTALL
Already gardeners are asking if it is time to remove the leaves from tomato plants.
It is difficult to trace the origin of this idea, but it possibly started in a country where overcast skies predominate when tomatoes should be ripening, and the harassed gardeners sought to increase the amount of light reaching the fruits by removing the foliage.
Light intensity is certainly not a problem in this district. In fact our tomatoes are more likely to suffer sun scald if too much exposed.

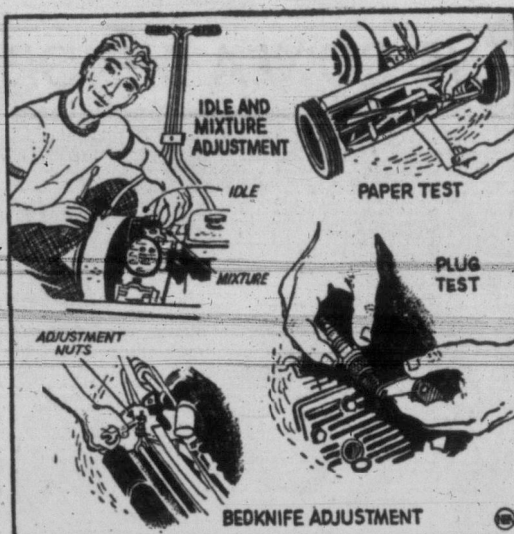

Tomato fruits are very susceptible to direct sun rays, and you may have noticed how each truss of fruits is protected naturally by a leaf.
We do not attach any great importance to leaves until we delve into the mysteries of plant growth and learn the number of square inches of leaf surface needed to manufacture sufficient food for the development of one fruit.
Leaves then become of prime importance, and the gardener feels almost as guilty as taking food from a child when a leaf is accidentally damaged.
The removal of leaves from any plant restricts its growth because less food is manufactured. This is illustrated in the summer pruning of fruit trees when as much as one-third the total leaf surface is removed.

Since the fruits of the tomato must develop to a certain stage before they make any attempt to color, the removal of foliage is going to reduce the amount of food which is manufactured and thus retard, rather than hasten, normal development.
The only excuse we can use for exposing tomato fruits to direct sunlight could be when a heavy crop is already yellowing and we know frost is only a week or 10-days away.
In this instance we wish to ripen all we can on the vines and we know the season has ended and the rest will not have a chance.
Even this condition does not warrant the complete removal of the leaves, it being much better to tuck them behind the fruit trusses or tie them to one side with soft string.

WEEK'S WORK

Sow Onions; Check Bulbs For Storage

BY JACK BEASTALL
Check daffodil and tulip bulbs in storage, see that they are clean and remove any daffodils which are soft when pinched or have damaged basal plates, making sure they are buried.
Cuttings of Agathaea coerules (the blue marguerite) and heliotrope may be struck now in a sandy mixture. Keep from frost during winter.
Repot callas (arum-lily) in rich, sandy soil. Keep in cool shady place outdoors until late September.
A plant of Anchusa italica, Dropmore variety, may be dug and root cuttings taken for propagation.
Nerine Bowdeni growing outdoors may show first flower spikes soon. Water may then be given.
Loosen soil on one side of onion row by giving each plant a sharp pull in one direction. Five days later, pull in opposite direction. This breaks root system gradually and aids ripening.
Sow onion seed thinly outdoors for early spring transplanting.

Power Lawn Mowers Thrive on Attention

BY MR. FIX
Like a faithful beast of burden your power lawn mower will serve you well if given the attention it deserves. Neglected, it will invariably let you down.
"Care and feeding" of a gleaming new power mower begins even before that first prideful tug on the starting cord. A thorough bolt-tightening, lubricating once-over is called for. Spark plug gap should be checked and blade adjustment tested.
When satisfied, visually at least, that the mechanism is ready for a test run, crank it up and open the throttle—but gently.
A new mower should be operated at slow speeds for the first hour or so. Stop and let it idle for a little while every few minutes. The gradual break-in period, which prevents undue wear on parts, is as important to a $150 power mower as it is to a $10,000 automobile. It should be accorded the same respect.

TINKER A BIT
If the new mower fails to operate smoothly, either the high-speed adjustment screw, or both, may have to be tinkered with a bit. Both adjustments will be found on the carburetor mechanism.
If the engine tends to stall under load, perhaps it is idling too slow. Turn the idle-speed screw clockwise to increase idle speed, counter-clockwise to reduce it. Through trial and error, you'll learn the best idle speed for your mower.
If the engine sounds rough or "pops" when operating at high speed, this may indicate a too-rich fuel-to-air mixture. Turn the high speed adjustment screw clockwise for a leaner mixture, and in the opposite direction for a richer one.

Changing the high-speed adjustment usually changes the idle-speed adjustment, too. To get it just right takes some nimble fingerwork between the two.
Power mowers have no oil-pressure gauges, so oil level in the crankcase of four-cycle engines should always be checked after five hours of operation. Running a mower low on oil can cause extensive internal damage to the engine. The oil should be drained and new oil put in the crankcase at specified intervals or each 25 operating hours. Clean the air filter each time the oil is changed.

Always use clean gasoline and oil. Particles of dirt that have sifted into the gasoline storage can, and blades of dried grass that fall into the fuel tank, are two of the most common causes of engine trouble. Strain dirty gasoline through filter paper or fine cheesecloth before using it.

PAPER TEST
Reel-type mowers will cut easier and better if the cutting blades are kept in proper adjustment. To test them, place a two-inch strip of newspaper between the reel blades and stationary bedknife. If the paper can be withdrawn easily, the bedknife and blades are too far apart. If it tears, they are too close together. Make the paper test along the entire length of each blade. Properly adjusted, blades should cut the paper cleanly when the reel is hand rotated.

To adjust the blades, consult the operating manual furnished with your mower. Turning the bedknife adjustment nuts will move the bedknife either toward or away from the blades. After adjustment, again make the paper test. If the blades flunk again your mower needs sharpening.

THE GARDEN QUIZ By JACK BEASTALL

Sky-Blue Daisy in Park Is South African Import

BY JACK BEASTALL
Q.—This summer in the Victoria city hanging baskets there is a very dainty, single red flower which is taller than most of the other plants in the baskets. Can you tell me what it is?
A.—I have noticed the scarlet flax, with wiry stems and dainty foliage. This is most likely Linum grandiflorum rubrum, an annual grown from seed each year. Sow in mid April indoors, or mid May outdoors.

Q.—In Beacon Hill Park this year there is a pretty sky-blue daisy in a wide border. It is about 12 inches tall, each daisy about the size of a quarter, and has a yellow center. Can you please give me the name, and whether it is easy enough for an amateur to grow?

A.—Your description fits Agathaea coerules, one of the many lovely daisy-type flowers from South Africa. It may be readily grown from seed sown indoors about mid March, and the plants set out into a sunny bed no earlier than late May. Cuttings may be taken from the plants before frost and kept indoors over winter for large specimens for early summer flowering. The plants will continue flowering even after light frost in the fall, but will not withstand the usual winters here outdoors.

Historic Themes Found in Latest Drapery Fabrics

Romance, warmth, humor and elegance—these are the pathways to fashion in new drapery fabrics. In prints, the romance of history continues to unfold on cloth. From Etruscan cave drawings, from great classical periods of Europe, from bazaars and marketplaces of India, from Spain, Japan and a multitude of other sources comes constant refreshment for perusal of the past.

Softened sophistication, via warmth and humor, govern contemporary and geometric designs, say the fashion analysts of Retailing Daily.

Scaling is either small and symmetrical or sweepingly theatrical. Sheers and easements set a new high in delicacy and elegance.
Drapery prints can be entertaining as well as decorative. Motifs and ornaments are steeped in tradition: subject matter springs from every age and every land. No matter how sophisticated the design technique, most prints have a fabulous story to tell. The patterns of the past are constantly repeating themselves and their history is worth the telling.

Fire Prevention Aim of New Stamp

United Leads ---For a Time

Victoria 2, New Westminster 2

If soccer games were only 45 minutes long, Victoria United would be leading the Pacific Coast Soccer League. United, which seems to suffer from an attack of lethargy after the half, made their same mistakes at Royal Athletic Park on Friday and were forced to settle for a 2-2 draw with dominion champion New Westminster Royals.

Had Victoria won, the city entry would have been in a first-place tie with Vancouver Halecos, one point ahead of the Royals. As it turned out, Victoria now is in sole possession of third place, one point behind the league leaders, Halecos and Royals.

United, who went into the second half with a fully deserved 1-0 lead, ran out of steam until well into the latter stages of second half.

Tim and Dave City Marksmen

Tim Walker opened scoring at 25 minutes of the first half. Taking George Wright's pass in a flurry of action to the side of the goalmouth, Walker dribbled into the clear and beat Pete Demunyk with a hard shot off the upright for the only goal of the first half.

Walker's effort ended scoring until the 33-minute mark of the second half as Stu Crossman capitalized on a weak Victoria defence to come in from the side and knot the count at 1-1.

Victoria went ahead, 2-1, at 37 minutes on a play that could not be bettered anywhere.

Cec Harrison placed a perfect pass to Ced Robb, who then promptly put Dave Guthrie in the clear with a goalmouth pass. Guthrie gave Demunyk no chance as he put the ball into the net.

Victoria fans, who were quietly hopeful by this time, saw the lead disappear two minutes later when Stu Crossman dribbled down the centre unchecked to shoot from 18 yards to end scoring for the game and give Royals a tie.

Several excellent chances were missed by both Victoria and New Westminster.

Ken Hibbert lofted one set shot over the bar, and was unable to get a shot away on another play when he was right in front of the New Westminster goal.

Best chance came in the first half as Ernie Eastlake came in all alone, only to let go his shot straight at Demunyk.

New Westminster's best opportunities were missed by Gogie Stewart and Doug Greig. Stewart's hard drive skimmed over the top bar to make Victoria hearts beat easier, while McMillan had earlier saved Greig's bid in the upper reaches of the Victoria nets.

Friday's tie put United in the position of needing a combination of a Victoria win and two Halecos losses to put them in first place. Should Halecos lose their Wednesday game against St. Andrews, the Victoria entry could take first place with a victory over the Halecos here on Friday.

Minor Boxla Scoring Champions

Keep your eyes on these fellows—they're the best in the junior boxla world.

Bill Munroe sniped 53 goals and picked up 28 assists to win the bantam division scoring championship of the Minor Lacrosse Association with the huge total of 81 points.

Nearest rival was John Larsen, who fired 38 goals and added 36 assists for 74 points. Don McNeill's 24 goals and 12 assists netted him 36 points and the Diaper division scoring title, while Don Munroe came second with 24 goals and 5 assists for 29 points.

Glen Vickers fired 50 goals and added 25 assists as he topped the scoring crown in the pee wee division.

He won over Wayne Everson, who had 36 goals and 28 assists for 64 points.

PRIOR GETS HILL JOB FOR FARMERS TONIGHT

Veteran Bill Prior will be manager Ed-Ash's choice tonight to pitch Farmer Construction's final Northwest International Baseball League game of the season.

Farmers play Bellingham Bells in the second game of the regular Saturday doubleheader tonight at 7:30 at Athletic Park.

MINOR LACROSSE NIGHT

Boxla Kids Play Tuesday

Tuesday is Minor Lacrosse Night in Victoria and at least two, and possibly three, provincial finals will be played at Memorial Arena.

MUSIAL BOOED

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan Musial was booed during a Wednesday night game here with Brooklyn which was admittedly the worst of his career with St. Louis Cardinals.

The six-time National League batting champion made two errors to help let in four unearned runs as Brooklyn beat the Cards 5-3. He also was hitless. Cheers drowned out the boos.

Leonard, Mawhinney In Golf Semis

TORONTO (CP)—Stan Leonard, 42-year-old Montreal Lachute pro, who has represented this country in all three Canada Cup matches, Friday advanced into semi-final of the $5,000 Millar Trophy golf tournament with a hard-fought win over Toronto veteran Bob Gray.

Leonard was one down to the 47-year-old Scarborough pro at the ninth hole on the suburban Islington course but went on to even it out on the 13th and win the fourth-round match 2 up under sunny skies.

Leonard met Bill Mawhinney, of Vancouver Quilchena, today, while Al Baiding, of Toronto Credit Valley, took on Norm Smith, of Toronto York Downs.

Mawhinney, 26-year-old former Canadian amateur champion, sank a 50-foot putt on the 16th green to close his fourth-round match 3 and 2 over Joe Noble, 39-year-old Toronto Thornhill pro. Mawhinney beat Archie Grimdsitch 5 and 3 in the morning round.

Leonard ousted Jack McLaughlin, of Toronto, 4 and 3, in his third-round match.

Viduals Seek B.C. Crown

Individuals, Victoria city and Island women's senior B softball champions, left Friday for three Vancouver's Lynn Valley park to compete in the provincial tournament.

Individuals met Kelowna in the first game this morning. The tournament, a double loss, round-robin elimination affair, will continue to night and Sunday.

Rocks Walk Out On Boxla Series

Demand New Referees; May Forfeit Semifinals

By BILL RAYNER

VANCOUVER — Coach Whitey Severson and the Victoria Shamrocks today are awaiting an answer to the challenge they flung at the Intercity Lacrosse League Friday night.

Severson's Mann Cup champion Shamrocks dramatically walked off the floor at 7:47 of the third quarter in their semifinal game with Vancouver Pilseners Friday in a mass protest over the refereeing during the semifinal series.

"Until we get a decent call from the referees on this floor (Kerrisdale Arena), we're not playing over here any more," said a raging Severson to this reporter after the walkout.

"We've got a clean team and we play clean lacrosse. If the referees played it that way, there would be no trouble."

Alan Tells His Own Story

"Marsh had the ball in the corner and I went after him. I thought I might have booted him, and he took a slash at me. I slashed back at him and I could see the referee moving toward me out of the corner of my eye."

Should Big Horn emerge victorious in tonight's game, they meet New Westminster in the provincial final at 7:30.

BANTAM PLAYOFF

Saanich Butler Brothers clash with Norburn Legion, the mainland champions, in the other game at 6 for the provincial bantam crown.

In the event of a Big Horn loss tonight, however, the Butlers-Norburn game will be moved up to 7:30, and Saanich of the pee wee league will battle it out with the pee wee all-stars in an exhibition contest at 6.

Tickets, priced at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children, may be obtained at the cougar ticket office on Fort Street or from any member of the Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association.

All members of the association will be admitted free.

Decision Due Today

By virtue of their victory Friday night, Vancouver leads the best-of-five semifinal, two games to one. But if the commission does decide to let the fourth game of the series go as scheduled Monday night at Memorial arena, the Shamrocks won't show up for that one either unless changes are made in referees.

Specifically, the Shamrocks want no more of Burton. "We definitely won't be on the floor Monday night unless there's a change in referees," said Severson in the dressing room Friday night.

"If they give us Ernie Smith and Sid Greenwood Monday night, and again Tuesday night in Vancouver, we'll finish the

Aussies Close Gap, Trail by 49

LONDON (AP)—Australia Friday fought back from a disastrous start on the second day of the final cricket Test and finished with a sporting chance of taking the first innings lead from England.

The last three English wickets fell before lunch for the addition of 24 runs, leaving the Aussies with a total of 247 to chase. But within three-quarters of an hour, three Australian batsmen were back in the pavilion with only 20 scored. Shortly after lunch, half the side was out for 47.

Then came the revival. Neil Harvey (39), Richie Benaud (32), Ray Lindwall (22 not out) and the veteran Keith Miller with an undefeated 57 struck successive blows for the underdog Aussies and left them only 49 runs short of the England total at the close of play.

TRACK TRIALS OPEN

Jackie Sets Mark; Terry Wins '400'

HAMILTON (CP)—Two Canadian records, two upsets and a spectacular official "goof" featured the evening events as the Canadian Olympic track and field trials opened Friday.

Toronto's blonde shot-putter Jackie MacDonald heaved the eight-pound shot 46 feet 3/4 inches to set a Canadian women's record and surpass the Olympic standard by nearly three feet.

High-jumper Ken Money of Winnipeg set the other record as he cleared the bar at six feet 5 1/2 inches. He was 1 1/2 inches over the Canadian record but only a fraction above the Olympic standard.

Both upsets were recorded in the 100-metre finals as favorites Jack Parrington of Toronto and Montreal's Diane Matheson could manage only thirds in the men's and women's events.

The victory in the men's 100-metre went to Toronto high school student Stan Levenson, but his time was a disappointing 10.8 two-tenths of a second over the standard.

Eleanor Haslam of Saskatoon took the women's 100-metre in 12.2, once again over the standard. Miss Matheson's defeat was a complete surprise after she had equalled the Canadian women's 12-second record in a previous heat. M. Rever of Regina finished second. Sue Burnett of Victoria was second in both her preliminary heats but was unplaced in the final.

Calgary's Doug Kyle was the victim of the "goof." Kyle trotted home the winner in the 10,000-metre event and his time was excitedly announced as 29:18.1, more than two seconds under the Canadian record.

Then a red-faced official confessed he had miscounted laps, and said Kyle and the field were a full lap under the distance. The event was allowed to stand but the time was washed out.

Terry Tobacco of Cumberland, B.C., took the men's 400-metre event in 47.3.

Tobacco, hotly pursued to the wire by Murray Cockburn, Toronto, equalled the Olympic standard.

Vancouver's Don Steen took an early lead in the decathlon event as the trials opened with pomp and ceremony.

In the men's final running broad jump, Dave Stafford of Langley, B.C., placed first with a jump of 22-feet 10 inches.

INTERMEDIATE SEASON OPENS SEPT. 7

Teams Gird for Grid Opener

The three teams in the Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football League are preparing with varying degrees of intensity for the start of season hostilities less than two weeks away.

Defending champion Oak Bay Drakes are scheduled to meet Navy in the season opener at Athletic Park Friday night, Sept. 7, at 8 p.m.

Third-team in the loop, Mayo Vampires, will see action shortly after.

Oak Bay Drakes are working the hardest in assembling a squad. The B.C. champions, squinting toward a Western Canada title (they lost last year to Fort William), are working out five days a week.

With a number of imports working out along with the team's holdovers, manager Mort Graham reports that "things are looking very good." Top import in the camp is

Tom Sansregret, with Edmonton last year, whose exceptional ball-handling qualities have moved manager Graham to predict: "He is the best quarterback people around this league have ever seen."

Also showing promise in the backfield is Drakes' junior quarterback last year, Willie Dawson, while starry lineman Harry Turner and utility Ray Ramsay are working out with the old verve.

Backfielder Pete Turko is having a shot at playing end this year, and looking good at the new position.

Other newcomers expected in the Drakes' camp are Jack Whitty, recently cut by the B.C. Lions, a 220-pound promising tackle named Joe Kurlyo, and two other tackles yet to arrive.

Drakes however have lost the services of Archie Langston, who will play for Navy this season, and Jack Sim, who will attend Western Washington College this fall.

Mayo Vampires have been holding practices three times weekly and, according to coach Ray Mitchell, are concentrating on juniors and midgets.

In the intermediate camp, Vampires are suffering from a lack of talent, especially on the line.

With holdovers quarterback Wayne Henderson, Charlie Bishop, Albert Marks, Norm Lidstone and Ricky McVee are a number of new prospects.

Among these is Keith Knight, with the Vampires in 1954, but in Edmonton in '55. Newcomers Leroy Bond and Ken Stokes are also drawing attention in the backfield.

Vampires are concentrating on local players to fill up their intermediate ranks.

The junior squad, which has been working out lately, with the intermediates, is also slowly rounding into shape and will start its own practices shortly.

Midget team this year will be called the Mayo Lumberjacks.

True to the traditions of the silent service, not much has been heard from the Navy entry in the loop.

It is known, however, that Navy is short of linemen, although a good turnout of backfield material has been experienced in recent workouts.

Among the returning linemen are Ron Young, Walt King and Red Larsen, while in the backfield along with Langston, coach Frank Hindle will have Joe Horneback back at quarterback along with former HMCS Venture signal caller Dave Thomas.

Speedy Bill Schick and half-back George Kelly are also back in strip, while Hindle is keeping an eye on the kicking of newcomer Doug Brown, who is a lineman by trade.

Gordie's Jaunt Paying Off Now

By BILL RAYNER

There is a certain intensity of purpose about traveling 4,000 miles just to go to school that should bode well for a pupil's future.

In the case of Victoria's Gordie Perkins, that purpose is beginning to pay off handsomely in the baseball world. Away back in 1949, Perkins traveled 4,000 miles by bus to the late Bill McGowan's school for umpires in Coco, Florida. Gordie, who had played sandlot ball and other sports around his home town of Victoria, wanted to become an umpire, a good one.

After a six-week course, McGowan and his staff of major and Coast League instructors had Perkins on the way to realizing his ambition. Of the course, Gordie looks back and attributes to it an unfathomable help in teaching him about baseball.

Takes No Notice of Angry Fans

He is also vice-president of the Vancouver Island Umpires' Association, and B.C. umpire-in-chief, working every summer at scores of amateur baseball and softball games. And he loves the game.

"I get just as much of a kick out of umpiring a good game as the players do in playing it," he says. "About umpiring," he continues, "being right is the big thing. As long as you believe you're right, then that's it."

"You might have a rough game one day, but there's always another one the day after. The players remember that too; once a game is over, it's over and they very seldom hold grudges against the umpiring."

"One thing, though, an umpire hates to be blamed for a loss of a game."

Those fans, too, who climb umpires' frames just for the sheer vocal joy of it cut no ice with Perkins.

"I'm concentrating so much on calling the right play or the right pitch that I don't hear anything," says Gordie. "Just a buzz in the background."

Gordie's biggest thrill in baseball to date? The umpiring of a 13-inning thriller in the PCL won by San Diego, 1-0. "That was a real big league game," he says.

Hopes for Coast League Contract

Perkins lays most of his success as an umpire at the feet of Reg Patterson, general manager of the now-defunct Ties in the WIL. "It was Reg's help and encouragement that got me a shot in the WIL in 1950," says Perkins. "I was in class D before that. He's always been behind me and I appreciate his help."

Perkins umpired in the WIL until it folded in 1954.

Now, Gordie runs the two news stands he owns in Victoria and awaits the periodic calls from the PCL.

Next season, however, he is hopeful of a full-time contract with the Coast League.

Mounties Test Law With Sunday Twin Bill

Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast League will play the first Sunday baseball doubleheader in Vancouver's history this Sunday afternoon, against the Portland Beavers.

Mounties scheduled this doubleheader and other Sunday games in September after Vancouver city council passed a by-law legalizing Sunday sport in the city.

In a referendum last year, Vancouver citizens voted in favor of Sunday sport.

Legality of the bylaw has been questioned, however, and a suit has been brought against it.

Meanwhile, the Mounties return from a highly successful road trip that left them within one and one-half games of seventh place and within seven games of the first division.

Fan interest in the Sunday twin bill is great, with demands for tickets coming in from the Fraser Valley, Vancouver Island and Northern Washington as well as from the Vancouver area.

Games start at 1.30.

Like Father, Like Son Tom Flashes Real Form

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., (UP) — Tom Jordan, Jr., and his Roswell, N.M., teammates were on cloud eight today, fresh from Friday's triumph for the Little League world championship.

Jordan, a stringbean 12-year-old, held Delaware Township,

N.J., to two hits and slammed a three-run homer to wrap up the win for the Cowboys, 3-1.

The stylish pitcher, relying on sidearm curves and overhand fast balls, held the Jersey boys in check except for the third inning when one of his slants was blasted for a solo homer.

Jordan, son of Tom Sr., a former Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns catcher, served up but one walk while striking out 14.

He put the cowboys in front to stay in the fourth inning. After loser Roy Hayman walked Dave Sherrod and Dock Storey, Jordan rocketed a fast ball for the victory margin.

Miss Crocker's brilliant shooting placed her in the tie for second place with Miss Colby—two shots behind the red-haired Louisville slugger's two-day 142 score.

THE EYES HAVE IT

The eyes of an umpire are his stock in trade, and those of Victoria's Gordie Perkins are more than adequate. Gordie is a regular Coast League alternate umpire, officiating at over 30 games this year.

Oilers Top Brodies, Square City Playoff

Re-refined oil, behind the six-hit pitching of Rod Turner, squared the best-of-five Victoria Senior B Men's Softball League playoff at one game apiece with a 9-3 victory over Brodies Friday night at Heywood Avenue Park.

Turner, plagued with a sore arm all season, lasted right up to a three and two pitch in the ninth inning with two men out when he had to leave the game.

Charles Adams came on in relief and threw a strike to end the game.

Third game of the series will be played Sunday at 6.30, with the fourth Monday, and the fifth, if necessary, Tuesday.

Play also begins Sunday in the annual knockout cup competition. Mary's Coffee Bar meets Brentwood in the opening game at 2 p.m.

Besides the five teams in the B circuit and Brentwood, others entered are Jordan River and Sooke.

Linescore: Brodie's Bakery, 106 025 000-3 8 4; Re-Refined Oil, 102 013 000-3 10 4; Bob Lyons, Dixie Harper (9) and Bill Peterson, Rod Turner, Charlie Adams (9) and Alvin Scott.

Age No Handicap In City Net Meet

Victor Sherman, 74, moved into the singles final of the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club handicap tournament Friday with a semifinal victory over 13-year-old John Fraser.

Tonight's draw follows: 2.00 p.m.—B. Schroeder and A. Mead vs. J. Woolson and R. Jordan; D. Parsons vs. D. Lawrence; F. Berry vs. Bob Hunt.

3.30 p.m.—W. Cox and Dunbar vs. winner of Parsons and Fraser and Schroeder and Dunbar.

4.00 p.m.—F. Berry and G. Peard vs. W. McCubbin and D. Duncan; R. Parsons vs. D. Lawrence; F. Berry vs. Bob Hunt.

5.30 p.m.—Hunt and Milroy vs. Roger and Peard.

Three weeks ago the Babe underwent an operation to bypass an intestinal obstruction.

Friday her physician said he could see no change in her condition since that operation.

Three weeks before the intestinal surgery, Mrs. Zaharias underwent an operation to sever sensory nerves to the lower part of her body. The operation was to relieve pain.

The Babe underwent her first cancer operation in Beaumont in 1953, recovered and won seven golf tournaments before the recurrence.

UNPRECEDENTED BOOM

Inflation Signs Force U.S. Action

By WALTER BREDEE Jr.

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States government took steps this week to keep a bigger-than-expected mid-year boom from kicking over the traces.

Several months ago the forecasters were predicting a sharp quarter. That's the period from July through September.

But things didn't work out that way. Despite last month's country-wide steel strike, most lines of business kept right on rolling at a breakneck pace.

And just ahead there emerged the prospect of a fall and winter business surge of hitherto unheard of proportions—an upturn paced by expected brisk demand for 1957 model cars and a record-smashing Christmas shopping season.

It was against this background of developing boom and inflation that the Federal Reserve Board, "watchdog" of the nation's money supply, late this week approved an increase in the discount rate charged by five key federal reserve banks on the funds they advance to commercial banking institutions.

The rate boost—the sixth in 16 months—was by no means unexpected.

The week brought plenty of new evidence to support the federal reserve board's contention that inflationary pressures were rising.

The U.S. labor department reported that living costs last month inched to a new high at 117 per cent of the 1947-48 average.

There were signs of inflationary price trends on other fronts this week. Price increases—present or future—were announced for a whole new list of industrial and consumer items.

Meanwhile, hints of a rising business trend came this week from several quarters. Department store sales at latest count were up five per cent from the year-ago week.

NEW YORK (UP)—Wall Street stocks suffered

a "tight-money" convulsion in the first three sessions this past week but made a partial recovery Thursday and Friday on light volume.

Money market men said the banks' hike in prime interest rates reflected the industrial boom's insistent demand for expansion capital.

On Wall Street the industrial average fell 13.45 in the first three sessions but ended only 7.88 points, at 507.91. Ralls closed at 162.66, off 2.99. Utilities, down in every session, lost 1.87 to close at 68.7.

Sales averages 1,778,559—smallest since the June 18-22 period—against 1,806,012 the week before.

Canam Copper Gets Mogul Financing

TORONTO (CP)—The stockholders of Canam Copper Corporation Friday approved the creation of an issue of first-mortgage sinking-fund debentures to acquire principal amount of $3, 000,000 and an increase in authorized share capital of 1,000,000 shares.

Mogul Mining Corporation has agreed to underwrite the $3,000, 000 principal amount of 5½-percent sinking-fund first-mortgage debentures to be dated Oct. 1,
1956 and to mature Sept. 30, 1963.

Mogul also will buy 300,000 shares of capital stock, paying $5 for each package of $100 principal amount of debentures and 10 shares of capital stock.

The debentures and shares are to be taken up as required to enable Canam to pay the cost of placing its mine in production at a rate of 1,000 tons a day.

As a bonus Canam offered Mogul stock-purchase warrants in proportion to the principal amount of the debentures taken up, giving
Mogul the right to purchase 800,
000 additional Canam shares at

Victoria Redhead Offered $11,000 to Join Arab's Harem

BY DINAH KERR

A Bedouin Arab offered Nassa 24,000 Israeli pounds to join his harem, but she politely refused.

Home Friday from her trip to Israel, Nassa Rael, 19, 3007 Quadra street, explained the incident this way:

"We were visiting the Bedouins in northern Gali—they're a nomadic Arab tribe—and were drinking their ceremonial coffee in a Bedouin leader's tent. He was fascinated by my red hair and offered to buy me from our guide. It was a very good price, about $11,000 Canadian money, but I turned him down.

"Arabs consider red-headed women the ultimate in beauty. They'll pay exorbitant prices for them, because they're so rare. The whole incident was pretty touchy, but we finally made him understand that I wasn't for sale. Even after, whenever someone in my group needed money, they threatened to put me on the market."

"The Arabs still buy their wives, you know. Each has a harem of about three or four

We met several in a Bedouin market. The women usually dress completely in black and wear black veils. Their faces are marked with paint. I think that tells what tribe they're from, and they wear pendants on their foreheads. Some even had a ring through one nostril.

"The Bedouins are always vying for top place in the tribe and I guess a red-haired woman in his harem would have been a real coup for this man."

Nassa just smiled and drank coffee while her Israeli guide pacified the Bedouin.

Invitation to an Arab coffee party was a high honor accorded the teenager, who was sent to Israel by the Zionist Association of Canada, to take a Jewish leadership training course.

"You must be held in very high regard before they'll make the coffee for you," she says. "First the coffee grounds are beat in a huge wooden bowl. There is a very definite rhythm to this and the man with the best beat is highly respected. Our leader was supposed to be the best in the area."

"After that the coffee is boiled seven times, in progressively smaller bowls, and then served. Our guide was a good friend of the Bedouin leader, which is why we were invited for coffee."

Member of the Jewish youth here, Nassa left for Israel last summer and spent five months studying in Jerusalem. She had classes in Hebrew three hours each day. "It's something like French," she said. She also studied Jewish dance, drama, history and religion. She spent the next five months on a "Kibbutz," a collective farm near Nazareth, where she worked with Israelites in the fields, kitchens and vineyards.

"And believe me, it was hard work," she says. "The idea of a kibbutz is to develop the country in the fastest possible time. Both parents work eight hours a day in the fields and they must live apart from their children. After work, they rest for two hours, and then the children are allowed to visit them."

Nassa traveled to all parts of Israel, often with an army escort.

"In Negev, southern Israel, the tension is particularly strong because of hostilities with Trans-Jordan. We were not allowed to travel after dark and were required to have an armed escort."

In her 12-month visit, Nassa mounted a camel only once, and then she didn't ride it.

"They smell like goats," she said. "I couldn't wait to get down."

BETWEEN TIMES

By

MONTE ROBERTS

I don't know what you will be doing at 10 o'clock tonight, but I know what I will be doing at 10 o'clock tonight.

Also at 10 o'clock Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and several succeeding nights.

I will be gazing intently in a direction slightly to the south of east.

I will be keeping my weather eye peeled for a markedly red object high in the sky.

This markedly red object—and I have this on the authority of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, Victoria centre—is none other than Mars—the Red Planet—as the society calls it.

But possibly I'd better explain why I am going to be so busy at 10 o'clock tonight, and on succeeding nights.

The Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, Victoria centre, has released the information that Mars, the red planet, will be at nearest approach to the earth, a mere 35,120,000 miles away, on Sept. 7. "Hence," says the society, "during the next few months it will be an object of great interest to astronomers."

Astronomers, it appears, are interested in learning more about its surface features.

But this is not why I am interested, or why I am going to be on watch at 10 p.m., when Mars starts to rise slightly to the south of east.

I am going to make sure Mars stays a mere 35,120,000 miles away.

I don't mind a red planet 35,120,000 miles away.

But the second this red planet reaches the 35,119,999 miles mark, I am going to holler for the cops.

I am going to alert the Ground Observer Corps, Civil Defence, the UN, NATO, CINCPAC, SPCA, and SPEGQSA.

Anything under 35,120,000 miles I will regard as an encroachment on international agreements, and little short of an act of outright aggression.

Incidentally, the above-mentioned society is holding a meeting on the subject of the red planet, in the Victoria College auditorium at 8.30 p.m. Monday. I trust this is to be an indignation meeting, and that all stalwart supporters of our Way of Life attend to warn the red planet to keep its distance.

Let us have no truck nor trade with red planets, or even mildly pink planets.

His replacement, Capt. S. H. Fleming, arrived at Work Point this week. He comes from No. 2 Production Squadron, RCME, Hagersville, Ont.

Marilynne Dawson, "Miss Victoria" and the city's "Miss Queen" this year, will leave tonight to compete for the "Miss PNE" title at the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver. She will take part in a program with 30 beauty contest winners from other parts of the province, with final judging Wednesday.

First prize at the Beaver Lake amateur show was won Friday by clarinetist, Kenny Ryall, 14, 3322 Ralston Crescent.

Second prize went to accordion player Betty Warren, 12, 1698 Lansdowne, and third, Marie Tippett, 11, 972 Heywood, who gave a saxophone solo and Russian dance.

A total of $180 in fines was imposed in city police court today on three youths convicted of being minors in possession of liquor and intoxicated.

Larry Sharp, 18, Fanny Bay; Donald A. Cullen, 19, Union Bay; and Murray S. Clarke, 19, Lake Cowichan, each was fined $10 for being intoxicated in a public place and $50 for possession.

Arrested on Bay Street Friday night, they said the beer was bought for them by a hitchhiker they had picked up.

Victoria Fish and Game Club will hold a pre-hunting season shoot Sunday, at 10 a.m., at its Goldstream grounds. Prizes for the ten-bird events include sleeping bags, an air mattress and gun cases.

Lantern slides of outstanding English cathedrals will be shown 8 p.m. Monday, in Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall.

Four applicants have applied for the office of municipal engineer in Saanich.

The applications will be considered by Saanich council Monday.

Council advertised for an engineer after municipal engineer H. D. Dawson announced earlier this year that he was retiring in December.

A $50 fine for being a minor in possession of liquor was imposed on Oak Bay police court, Friday, on Robert Beadnell, 298 Beaumont.

Beadnell was caught drinking beer in a parked car at Willow Beach, Monday night.

Norman Bowman, financial and industrial editor of the San Jose Mercury-News, California—one of the Riddler Newspapers—is spending a three-day vacation in Victoria on a tour of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia.

He is staying with his wife and two children at the Olde England Inn.

A 12-year-old boy suffered a broken arm Friday in a fall from a slide in the playground park at Niagara and Montreal Streets.

Earl Wallace, 120 Dallas, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

A bloomer look at the oncoming car would have saved $30 for Charles T. Longman, 3020 Quadra.

That's what he paid in Colwood RCMP court Friday for failing to yield half the highway. The car he forced off the road was a police car.

Premier Bennett plans to be in his home town at Kelowna on polling day, Sept. 19.

He will address Social Credit meetings at Dawson Creek and Fort St. John during his forthcoming tour of construction of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway extension into the Peace River country.

Victoria-Oak Bay CCF Association will nominate a candidate in the Woodsworth Hall Monday at 8 p.m.

VICTIM OF FATAL ACCIDENT

On Mount Douglas, Thursday night, Aaro Mannen, 29, emigrated to Canada from his native Finland four years ago. He died instantly in the crushed wreckage of his car after it plummeted off the roadway into a big tree. An inquest will be held Wednesday.

Boat-Launching Ramps Asked In Saanich

Saanich Council Monday will consider an application from the Victoria Outboard Club for construction of a hard-surfaced launching ramp for boats at either Smugglers Cove or Telegraph Bay.

The hard-surfaced ramp near the Oak Bay Bathhouse is at present the only launching site for trailer boats in Greater Victoria.

Charles Mullins, a member of the club and president of the Victoria Outboard and Inboard Association, said the additional ramp is needed to eliminate congestion at the Oak Bay site.

"There has been a large increase in the number of boat owners over the past year," he said. "The present ramp is not sufficient to take care of the growing traffic."

He estimated there were about 700 "trailer boat" owners in the area.

Tallyho Panic Ties Up Traffic

Traffic was tied up for almost an hour along Humboldt Street Friday afternoon when a team of tallyho horses panicked.

The confusion started when two iron rollers fell with a clang from the back of a Heaney Cartage truck, scaring the horses.

When the frantic animals attempted to turn around in the narrow street the tallyho hit the side of a parked car and became wedged across the street.

One of the horses received a gash on the leg but tallyho proprietor Gordon Argall said today it was not a serious wound.

Later, when the animal was being treated at the tallyho barns at 3008 Douglas, it kicked veterinarian Dr. M. L. Olsen who suffered a badly bruised hip.

Hydro Crews 'Strike' Over Poor Catering

Some 300 members of five unions employed on the B.C. Power Commission's Upper Campbell-Battle Lake hydro development halted work at the dam site Friday.

They were striking against "poor catering conditions" in the construction camp and said they would not return to work Monday unless these conditions were improved.

A spokesman for the strikers said they had taken action against the contractors, Dawson & Co., and not against the power commission.

Engineers, rock drillers, carpenters, laborers and teamsters are involved in the strike.

A spokesman for the B.C. Power Commission said today he understood the men would be returning to work Monday.

MONDAY MEETINGS

Greater Victoria Library Board: Meeting in board room at 4 p.m.

Victoria Gyros: Monterey Restaurant, luncheon at noon.

Park Vandals Get One-Year Prison Terms

'Lesson to You,' Scolds Magistrate

Two sailors who admitted taking part with four other youths in a rampage of destruction in Beacon Hill Park Aug. 15 each were sentenced in city police court today to one year's imprisonment.

The stiff sentences were imposed on James Patrick Kennedy, 24, and Jack Kerrison, 19, both from HMCS Naden.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas said their offence, which carries a maximum penalty of 14 years, was "very serious."

"I can't tell this pass lightly because of your youth and stupidity," the magistrate said.

"I sentence each of you to one year and hope that will be a lesson to you."

Asked if he had anything to say before sentence was imposed, Kennedy said:

"I apologize to the court for this trouble and can assure you it will never happen again on my part."

His assurance was reiterated by Kerrison, who was returned from Lethbridge, Alta. Thursday to face the charge.

Court was told by detective Bill Andrews that the two sailors had been "most co-operative" in investigation of the incident "but so far we have been unable to come up with the other culprits."

FOUR OTHERS

Both Kennedy and Kerrison pleaded guilty. Detective Andrews said they went with four other youths in a taxi to the park in the early hours of the 15th.

They went to the lookout where a window was broken to gain entry.

The youths began tossing some of the heavy checker blocks around the inside, the detective said, and then one of them went outside and threw a ladder through one of the glass sides.

Damage to the 38 window panes and frames smashed was $125, it was stated.

Previously it was reported the youths were also responsible for pulling up a drinking fountain at the bowling green.

CITY FORESTER HURT IN CRASH

Assistant forester Arthur Collins, 1337 Rockland, is recovering today from face cuts and bruises suffered in an auto accident Wednesday at Quesnel.

He and another forestry branch official, H. R. Callaghan of Prince George, were injured when their car was in collision with a logging truck.

They were treated in G. R. Baker Memorial Hospital in Quesnel.

BAND OF PPCLI IN PARK FRIDAY

One of Canada's best military brass bands, the 50-piece unit from Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, Calgary, will play here next Friday night.

Under the baton of Capt. Ray MacLeod, director of music, the band will be sponsored by 25 Militia Group in a concert at Beacon Hill Park at 7.30 p.m. if weather is poor at the park's open air shell, the concert will be held in Bay Street Armoury.

The band is attending the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver next week.

Beacon Hill Park concerts, ending an eight-week series with the Pats' band, are brought to the public by Victoria Film Council in co-operation with Vancouver Island Life Underwriters Association.

BALMY WEATHER STAYS; FIRE HAZARD MODERATE

Victoria's balmy, pleasant weather will hold through the weekend, and possibly for another week, the weather office said here today.

A high pressure ridge is keeping temperatures in the 60s. Some cloudiness and possible sprinkles of rain are expected.

Satisfactory humidity is keeping the forests open for both recreation and industry, and no closure is forecast, Chief forester, D. B. Taylor of the Vancouver district, which includes Vancouver Island, said fire hazard is only moderate.

Passmore Proposes October Sewer Vote

Decision To Be Made at Monday Meeting Of Saanich Council; $800,000 Needed

Councillor Leslie Passmore, chairman of the Saanich sewage committee, will submit a motion to council Monday asking that a money by-law for completion of the sewage program be submitted to ratepayers in October.

Coun. Passmore said he will make his motion after Comp-troller John Tribe submits to council his report on funds required to complete the Sewage program, slated last October due to a deficit.

Councillors estimate that about $800,000 will be needed to complete the project which will service some 2,000 additional homes.

Beaver-Elk Lake Swim Champ Cold-Shoulders Juan de Fuca

Among 30,000 Victorians who turned out to cheer Marilyn Bell to shore in her record-breaking strait swim was another young Canadian, a fresh-water champ who holds a unique record of his own.

Marilyn swam the strait in 11 hours 38 minutes; Doug Dickie, 15, swam from Elk to Beaver Lake last summer in 32½ minutes to win the first official Elk-Beaver mass swim.

Marilyn's epic swim won't lure Doug to attempt Juan de Fuca Strait, at least not for a few years.

"She was great," says Doug, who watched for two hours while the young swimmer fought waves off Clover Point.

"I stood on a log so I could see everything, but that water's kind of cold. I don't think I'd try it."

However, he'll be swimming for the trophy at Beaver Lake again this year, and figures on some tough competition.

"Bob Wheaton is the guy I'm worried about. He's a 'Y' swimmer too, but he didn't enter last year. I hear he's been practicing at Shawnigan Lake."

DOUG HAS BEEN swimming for the Flying "Y" Swim Club since he was eight years old and holds several ribbons for freestyle and breast stroke events. He'll swim for the "Y" until he's "too old," he says.

"Then I would like to teach swimming there."

He describes his swim instructor, Archie McKinnon, as "the greatest."

Doug learned to swim at White Rock when he was four, "but not very well, just dog-paddle."

He'll enter Grade 10 at Victoria High School in September and plans to try out for the swim team there.

Swimming is his major sport, but he has played hockey, lacrosse, and was on the winning Junior Varsity football team this year.

A good student, he hopes to be a dentist or engineer. Doug is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dickie, 1024 Pakington Street.

Bare-Chested Man Attacks Woman in City Apartment

Mrs. Kershaw told police she managed to struggle free from the assailant and fled through a second-story window on to the roof and then jumped to the ground.

She said the attacker was about 25 years old, 5 feet 8 inches tall, dark hair, and striped to the waist.

Toronto Coach Seeks Advice From McKinnon

The Canadian Olympic swimming team may train in Victoria for three weeks before leaving for the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia.

Archie McKinnon, YMCA swimming coach and Canada's swimming coach in the Olympic Games at London in 1948 and 1952 at Helsinki, Finland, has been contacted by Toronto's Tommy Walker, this year's team coach, with regards to making arrangements to receive the team in Victoria.

In his letter, Walker asked McKinnon to examine the possibilities of the team working out at the Crystal Garden.

BEST SUITED

Walker said the city pool and the Empire Games pool at the University of British Columbia appeared best suited to the team's needs. However, it is felt that some difficulties could be encountered in arranging for the Vancouver outdoor pool.

The swimming team, consisting of seven women and three men, selected as the best in Canada, would work out three hours a day for three weeks before leaving for Australia around Nov. 13. The Games run from Nov. 22 to Dec. 8.

"The possibilities look very good for us," McKinnon said today, "and it would be a terrific boost for amateur swimming in Victoria."

FULL SUPPORT

"As soon as I heard from Tommy, I contacted Jack Speck, manager of the Crystal and he is behind the idea 100 per cent. Bob Johnstone, our own club president, has promised the full support of the club and I think we can offer the team every facility and support."

"I wrote back to the Canadian team manager, Dr. Paul Hauch of London, Ontario, and told him we could accommodate the team and offered them a hearty invitation to come here."

"It probably will be a day or two before they make their decision but it looks very hopeful. Victorians may have a chance to watch a really strong Canadian team."

Goll wholeheartedly saluted Marilyn Bell for her strait victory this week.

"I'm so proud of little Marilyn. She's not like us big fellows who have a lot of beef to keep us warm. I'm proud to know her."

Goll was in the CNE's 32-mile last year and he, like every other competitor, but, Lumsdon, came out after five miles. Lumsdon finished the 32-miles alone and won $15,000.

ESCAPE ARTIST

Ex-Circus Swimmer In Mass Bid

Bill Goll, veteran 38-year-old marathon swimmer from Landing, New Jersey, figures he already has one advantage in Sunday's Junior Chamber of Commerce mass swim.

This time, Bill won't have ropes or straight jackets to worry about.

At one time during his long swimming career, he toured with a circus and the topper of his act came when he was trussed up like a sausage with ropes and a straight jacket and was plopped into a deep tank of water.

Goll won't reveal how he escaped this predicament, day after day, because he hopes to revive the act for television.

In addition to circus work, Goll's swimming career stretches back over 15 years. At one time he held the time record for the 15-mile CNE mass race in Lake Ontario, clipping off the 15 miles in seven hours, 15 minutes. A fellow named Cliff Lumsdon erased that mark four years ago clocking the distance in seven hours, one minute.

TALLEST TOTEM PUPS

These funny little rascals with the dished-in faces (the dogs, not the kids) have more than a natural association with the world's tallest totem pole. Born June 3 in a litter of five, at the height of interest in Beacon Hill's monstrous woodcarving, the boxer pups were named after characters on the totem. The two males, both of them here, are Baguanum and Mi-quati. Their sister is Tsawi, and two other sisters gone to out-of-town owners, are Kasa and Kwig. That's Meridian Illusion, their mother, in the background, looking glum and left out of things. Registered owner is Mrs. J. A. Peacey, 1149 Munro, whose children Melanie, Tony, and Nicola, 2½, try to restrain the pups.

NEWS OF CITY CHURCHES

Victoria Old Boy Back at Cathedral

It will be a homecoming for the preacher at matins in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday when a former Victorian, Rev. Ronald Francis Shepherd will occupy the pulpit.

Mr. Shepherd, who spent his boyhood in Victoria, was confirmed by Archbishop Sexton in his chapel before embarking on theological studies at King's College in London. Earlier, he had graduated from the University of British Columbia.

He was ordained by the bishop of London in 1952 and joined the staff of the famous St. Stephen, Westminster, where he is now senior curate. St. Stephen Church itself has a link with Victoria in that it was built by the Baroness Burdett-Coutts who also endowed the bishopric of British Columbia.

The Lord Archbishop will preach the sermon at evensong.

Dr. J. Sidlow Baxter who throughout last week has been drawing many to the Central Baptist Church by his brilliant Bible expositions will continue the Bible conference until next Thursday. The theme is "Deeper Treasures of the Bible," the weekday meetings commencing at 8 p.m.

Sunday Dr. Baxter will speak at 11 a.m. on "The Best of Secrets," and at 7.30 on "His Name Shall Be Called Wonderful."

At First Baptist Church Sunday evening there will be a great missionary meeting. Mrs. John McLaurin, 30 years in India will speak of Baptist mission work there. Mr. Everett Ball, a business man from Edmonton, is just returning from an extended trip to Bolivia. He will give his impressions of that land, and show colored slides and give tape recordings of Baptist work in South America. Mr. David Dunn of Alameda, California, is the soloist for the day. In the morning he sings "Prayer" by Paul G. Curran, and in the evening "O Lord Be Merciful" by Homer N. Bartlett. At the morning service Rev. G. R. Easter will speak on "Three Opinions About Me."

Services at St. Andrew's Presbyterian will be conducted by a guest preacher, Rev. Clarence

A. Kircher, D.D. of Sunnyvale, Calif. Dr. Kircher is now the director of new work for the Presbytery of San Jose, Synod of California, and special representative for the Foundation of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. For 21 years he was the minister of Westminster Presbyterian Church in Sacramento, California. His sermon subjects will be, morning, "A Great Certainty," and evening, "What Do You See?" The service of praise will be led by Mr. R. W. Kroege, guest organist, and a quartet composed of Mrs. Ruth Champion, Mrs. R. K. Sturgeon, Mr. Robert Husband and Mr. Allan Husband.

Canon G. Biddle will be the preacher at both services at St. John's Anglican Church Sunday. The 11 a.m. service will be broadcast over CKDA. His topic for 7.30 p.m. is "What's In a Name?" There will be a service of holy communion at 8 a.m. Sunday schools are at 11 a.m.

Dr. W. A. Wicks will speak at both the services at the Victoria Truth Centre. In the morning his subject will be "The Table Before Me" and in the evening "Heaven Is Available Now."

At Centennial United Church, the minister, Rev. Douglas B. Carr, will preach at the morning service. His sermon topic will be "Beware of Failing Rock," the last in the summer series: "Road Signs of Life." There will be no evening service.

The pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, Rev. James E. Smith, will preach at both services, his morning topic "This Mechanical Man." This service will be broadcast over CJVI.

The subject of the evening sermon will be "As We Are and As We Should Be."

Births Top Immigration In Fast-Growing Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Immigration has helped Canada increase her population but more than 95 per cent of the rise in the last century was from Canadian births.

The high Canadian birth rate—sixth highest in the world in 1954—combined with the world's second-lowest death rate provided the main dynamic factors which helped Canada build up a population of 15,000,000 in 1954 from 2,400,000 a century ago. The current population has been roughly estimated at 16,000,000.

LEGAL OR NOT

Vancouver Gets Sunday Sport

VANCOUVER (CP)—Legal or not, Vancouver will have commercial sport this Sunday: A professional baseball doubleheader.

It will be the first commercial professional sport ever played here on a Sunday and the biggest crowd of the season is expected to watch Vancouver Mounties play host to Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League.

Whether the afternoon twin bill is legal may be decided Sept. 5. On that date a recent city by-law legalizing commercial sport Sunday afternoons goes before the British Columbia Supreme Court.

Any action taken will be too late to affect this Sunday's game but could affect two other PCL games scheduled here for Sept. 9 and 16 against San Francisco and Sacramento respectively.

Harold T. Allen, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, which is questioning the city by-law, contends council has no authority to pass a by-law legalizing commercial Sunday sport as it contravenes the Lord's Day Act of 1907.

By that act, commercialized Sunday sport is unlawful but responsibility for enforcement of the act rests with the provincial attorney-general.

Meanwhile, this Sunday's game is expected to surpass the Mounties' attendance record of 8,146 fans, set opening night, Sunday, Aug. 26, 7.30 p.m. More than 3,000 reserved seats have already been sold for the games.

The Vancouver-Portland game was scheduled two weeks ago after Vancouver city council, in a surprise move, passed a by-law legalizing professional sport between 1.30 and 6 p.m. Sundays. Mayor Fred Hume and two councillors dissented.

City council's action followed a plebiscite Dec. 14 in which Vancouverites approved Sunday afternoon sports by 38,031 votes to 26,124. They had rejected the idea in previous votes.

The B.C. legislature, however, made no mention of legalizing Sunday sport during the last sitting in spite of requests from city council that a stand be taken.

Attorney-General Robert Bonney, refusing to be drawn into any controversy, said two weeks ago: "If a commercial Sunday event takes place, I presume it will come before the city prosecutor and be dealt with in the usual manner."

Legal authorities said usual procedure is for a citizen or group to complain over violation of the Lord's Day Act.

Premier Bennett said last month he would oppose Sunday sport because it would be "impossible to draw the line" once it started.

European Farmers Sought by Ottawa To Ease Shortage

OTTAWA (CP)—A long-range program to encourage European farmers to come to Canada and help overcome this country's acute shortage of farm labor was announced today by the immigration department.

It also announced that 1,077 farmers of Yugoslav and Italian origin will arrive in Canada within the next few weeks to be placed on farms across the country.

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said today the Soviet Union has made its "first official contact" with the Vatican.

The "contact" was accomplished by transmission of a copy of the Supreme Soviet's recent disarmament plea to the Vatican state, the radio reported.

The Supreme Soviet is Russia's parliament. There are no diplomatic relations between Russia and the Vatican.

A Soviet broadcast in Italian said the appeal was not addressed to the Roman Catholic Church "but to the Vatican State, the head of which, Pope Pius XII, had made a

YOU SAID TO ME—

A Sunday message of help and comfort for those puzzled, depressed or low in spirit.

BY ETHEL TULL

You said to me, "You write as though you had no troubles of your own."

I am sorry to have given this impression, for it is not true if I have "troubles" you mean temptations against which I have to fight.

I can say with truth that there is nothing otherwise in my life that I think of as a trouble, for I have been greatly blessed. When I was told that I must cut down my activities, I had to adjust myself to that thought, but I felt that, as long as I was trying to follow the guidance of God, I could take whatever came to me with happiness, and I do not fear the future. With so much love surrounding me, I cannot feel that I have any troubles of a material kind.

But sin in another matter. As the years go by, temptations come in a more subtle form than they used to. Life is a battle-ground right to the very end, and if one does not feel it to be so, it seems to me there is something wrong. As one grows, one's new spiritual strength is bound to be tested—it can never be real strength until the test has been met and the victory won. And, thank God, one is never too old to grow spiritually. There are heights to reach that one cannot even imagine until they are revealed by the Spirit of God. That is what makes the Christian life one of adventure. One has no idea of one's own possibilities, and there are no limits to what could

Below—Cutting their wedding cake and making a wish are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brian Squire, who were married in an evening ceremony in St. John's Church. The bride is the former Miss Marjorie Bousfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bousfield, 297 Island Highway, and her groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Squire, 5000 Lockhaven Drive. (Chevrans Photo.)

Below—Pictured as they left First Baptist Church following their recent wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gordon Ferster. The bride, the former Miss Ruth Marlon Hall, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hall, Calgary. The groom is the son of Mrs. Helen Ferster, Kitscoty, Alta., and the late Mr. E. Ferster. The newlyweds are living at 2415 Quadra Street. (Photo by S. H. Draper.)

Bridal Paths

Arranged By
Women's Editor

Bottom Left—Mr. John Raymond Foster and his bride, the former Miss Enid Eileen Lapham, are seen leaving St. Paul's Church after their wedding ceremony, which was performed by Rev. J. A. Roberts. The newlyweds have returned from a honeymoon trip to Banff and Lake Louise and are living on Brock Avenue. (Chevrans Photo.)

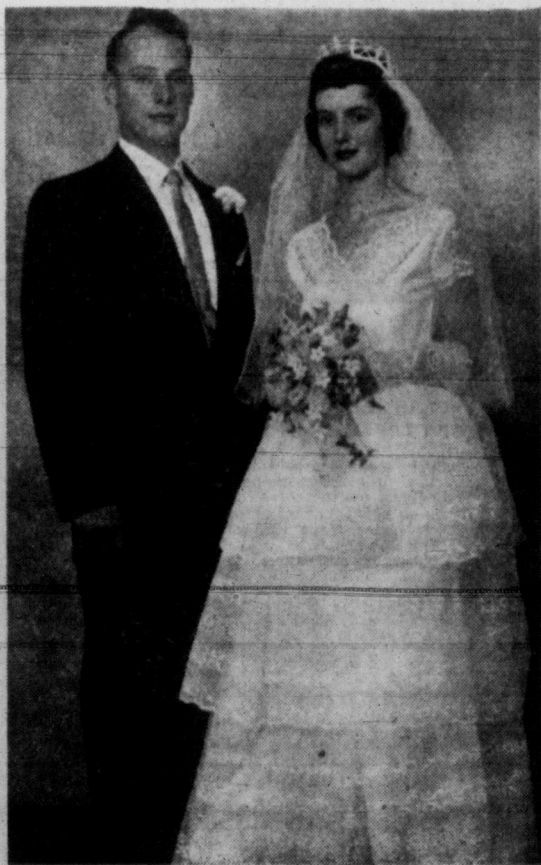

Bottom, Left-Centre — Miss Patricia Margot Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bruce Brown, Prince George, became the bride of Mr. Philip Gordon Ney, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Ney, Oakdowne Road, Victoria. The wedding took place in Central Baptist Church. The young couple are honeymooning in eastern Canada, and when they return, will make their home in Vancouver, where Mr. Ney will continue studies at University of British Columbia. (Campbell's Studio.)

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Victoria, was scene of the recent wedding of Miss Verna Lorraine Magrath, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Magrath, 2634 Dufferin Avenue, to FO Herbert Stanley Moore, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. (Dinty) Moore. The newlyweds spent honeymoon trip travelling through Washington State. (Kern of Artona Photo.)

Bottom Right—Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Bruce Russell were married recently in a ceremony in St. John's Church, with Canon George Biddle officiating. The bride is the former Miss Dorothy Elizabeth Garnons-Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Garnons-Williams, 2580 Sinclair Road, and her groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Russell, 1281 Balmoral Road. (Joncas Photo.)

Bottom Right-Centre—Wedding vows were exchanged between Miss Madelyn Georgina Watts and Mr. Roy Stuart Craven in St. Paul's Church, Sidney recently. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Watts, Downey Road, Deep Cove, and her groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Craven, Vancouver. After a honeymoon trip in eastern Canada and United States, Mr. and Mrs. Craven have made their home in Abbotsford. (Photo by R. C. Sparshatt.)

SHOPPING GUIDE

Small Fire Extinguisher For Your Home or Workshop

By PENNY SAVER

I have mentioned many times various new household bombs that contain everything from hair spray to disinfectant, and now with new merchandise arriving in the stores, I've come up with another. When you reach into your cupboard for any one of these bombs, chances are you'll pick out the wrong one, unless you're sure of the color of the tin, so I'd suggest you keep this one in a handy spot, where it would take you no more than seconds to have it ready for use. It's a household fire extinguisher that is something brand new and wonderful. The lid over the nozzle is shaped like a fireman's helmet, and is bright red. This extinguisher is a harmless, dry chemical that can be brushed or removed from any surface, material or fabric. It's non-toxic, and even foods sprayed with it can still be eaten.

It should be kept away from children's busy little hands, though, because this bomb can be used only once. It costs $2.50. This is a good investment in safety, for minor blazes that sometimes happen in the home or workshop could be easily extinguished with this bomb before the fire gets out of control.

Families that like to spend weekends in the country or vagabonding on the highways are sometimes confronted with the problem of finding some place to heat the baby's bottle. That's where the electric baby bottle warmers I saw come in handy.

For $2.95 you can buy a quilted plastic bottle warmer that has a plug that fits into your car's cigarette lighter. Use it on a 12-volt circuit only. This would make a good gift for some friends, too!

Lunch boxes for the back-to-school crowd have taken on new colors and patterns this year. Tartans or solid colors are available for some, while boxes with pictures of Hopalong Cassidy, Robin Hood, Wild Bill Hickock, Annie Oakley or Space Cadet may appeal to others. These all have plastic handles and good-sized thermos bottles. They've dropped in price and are now $2.98.

For the kindergarten and primary pupils, there are smaller tin lunchboxes in pastel colors. These cost 55 cents.

Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to find the items mentioned here in the corner.

For relaxed living, Colleen Sardone models blouse by Original Blouse Company of British Columbia. Paisley tapered trousers and petal pink jersey chooses blush pink, but the gown also comes in bridal white, blue and black.

The "powder puff" gown by Marjorie Hamilton is a British Columbia original creation featuring true Empire styling. Colleen Sardone

D'Alton Cameron, Eleanor Fearn Wed in St. Luke's

St. Luke's Anglican Church was scene of a recent wedding in which Miss Eleanor McLean Fearn and D'Alton C. Cameron exchanged marriage vows. Canon F. Pike officiated. Pink carnations and gladioli were used in decorations.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Fearn, 3285 Cadboro Bay Road and the groom a son of Mrs. J. Murray Cameron, 610 Foul Bay Road.

Blue lace over matching taffeta was choice of the bride for her wedding gown. Pink roses and carnations were in her bouquet. She was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Frank Burton, Jr., a sister of the bride was matron of honor. She wore a silver grey dress and carried yellow carnations in a colonial bouquet. Victor Gilbert, the groom's brother-in-law was the best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where Gerald A. Yarbley proposed the toast to her happiness. Mothers of the couple assisted in receiving guests. Mrs. Fearn wore a rose lace ensemble and Mrs. Cameron was in a pale blue crepe gown. Their corsages were of gardenias.

For travelling by car on honeymoon to the Okanagan and to the United States the bride wore a silver grey dress with navy blue accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Cameron will live in Vancouver.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. Frank Fearn and Master Gordon Fearn, brother and nephew of the bride, St. John, Nfld.; Mrs. Jack Simister, sister of the bride, Nanaimo; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Doberer and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hamelin of Vancouver and Mrs. W. C. Brown, Campbell River.

A furniture fashion note this year: The new look of old woods. They're finished in colors of citron, avocado and to-bacco.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Green Minted Pears

Wash and peel fresh B.C. pears. Cook in clear water until tender. Remove pears and save liquid. Combine the following syrup:

One and a half quarts sugar (that's correct), 1 quart saved liquid, 1 teaspoon green food coloring, ¼ teaspoon oil of mint (from drug store).

Bring syrup ingredients to a boil. Add pears, a few at a time, and cook until tinted the depth of color you desire. Place pears in clean, hot jars. Cover with remaining syrup. Seal. Boil 10 minutes in boiling water bath.

Red Cinnamon Pears

Wash and peel fresh B.C. pears. Cook in clear water until tender. Remove pears and save liquid. Combine the following syrup:

One quart saved liquid, 1½ quarts sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon oil of cinnamon or 2 long pieces stick cinnamon, 2 teaspoons red food coloring.

Bring to boil. Add pears a few at a time. Cook until colored as desired. Pack into clean, hot jars. Cover with remaining boiling hot syrup. Seal. Process 10 minutes in boiling water.

Canada's furniture industry in 1955 produced $8,725,000 worth of metal breakfast furniture and $938,000 worth of wood.

B.C.'s Fall Fashions Designed Especially for Western Living

Tuesday evening in Vancouver I attended a delightful preview of fashions now being shown at the Canadian Pacific Exhibition. The social suite of the Hotel Vancouver was the gathering place. Guests were manufacturers and members of the press. Every garment shown was created in Vancouver by local manufacturers to suit the varied and distinctive tastes of western women.

Mac Adler, president of the Women's Wear Division of the B.C. Needle Trade Association welcomed us to the show and introduced Ruth Fortune, the commentator.

Opening number was "City Charming" by Queen Bess Ltd. The dress, a slim column of chargrey wool with flying panels lined in gold was topped with the briefest bolero. The lovely dark model Carmen Josefo removed the bolero to reveal a fitted basque bodice and tiny cap sleeves.

DONEGAL TWEEDS

Perfect for our western fall and winter climate was "Presentation" by James Chambers. A striking combination of coat and matching dress of Donegal tweed with flecks of gray colors. The fullness of the coat controlled by half belts on either side that lead to deep roomy pockets. The dress, a slim sheath, showed the very popular Empire line.

Marjorie Hamilton, who has created beautiful lingerie for many years, chose as her first number, a lovely gossamer night gown and peignoir in sky blue. As Colleen Sardone walked among the guests the luxurious peignoir billowed out behind her like a fluffy cloud.

From its wide selection of attractive knits, Jantzen of Canada chose "Miss Cecile." The shade, jewel turquoise, was an excellent one for tall, willowy, blonde Doris Blanche. The slim ribbed skirt was topped by an overblouse with a tricky jewel and tab neckline closing.

Original Blouse Co. and Dorothy Jeanne Sportswear combined their talents to show a stunning two-piece outfit. A lovely soft jersey blouse in a rich American Beauty shade topped a chargrey flannel skirt called "Surprise Package." The group pleating created the surprise in that the pleats could be swung to the sides or worn straight on back and front.

JUNIOR SIZES

Fitwell Garments chose a scarlet coat in a junior size for the smaller model, sparkling Betty Morphet. The low loose back belt followed the trend of the wandering waistline. High style, and fun were kept in mind by Marjorie Hamilton when she designed "Maharannee." Tinkling bangles heralded the approach of Jane Mere.

IN PORT ANGELES

POW to Rejoin Island Parents After 17 Years

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Ernest Graf, released April 15 after 17 years in Soviet Prison camps, is waiting in Germany expecting momentarily to be given the word that he can come to Canada to be reunited with his family.

His middle-aged parents, a brother and sister said Friday they await news he is on his way here.

They described the events that led to his imprisonment and release.

Graf, now 32, was ill and emaciated when he was released last spring in care of an uncle at Weisweiler, Germany. He has since been under care in a sanitarium, has been discharged, and on June 26, was given a medical examination.

A routine waiting period is now almost expired and he is expected to be issued his visa within a day or two.

Sixteen hours after he is able to obtain air passage, he will be in Vancouver.

In the spring of 1939, Ernest was a 16-year-old boy on the prairie farm where the family had settled after coming to Canada in 1924. To give the boy a chance to apprentice to a trade, he was sent to his grandparents in Germany.

Classed as a landed immigrant, he was unable to return to Canada when war broke out and he was drafted into the German army in 1942.

He served in the medical corps and in 1945 he was taken prisoner by Russia.

ISLAND DIGEST

Victoria Daily Times SATURDAY, AUG. 25, 1956 27

Westwood Hits Cut in Sales Tax

NANAIMO—Sacred candidate Mayor E. C. Westwood, denounced opposition parties who advocated decrease in sales tax.

He told a group of Nanaimo businessmen here Friday night "to advocate a decrease in sales tax is one of the most stupid things they could do. By far the greatest income from taxes comes from big business and industry. Sales tax on pipe, equipment and fittings on the new gas pipeline from Alberta itself will pay the cost of thousands of British Columbians' hospitalization for years to come."

He added "by lowering the rate of sales tax, big business would benefit at the expense of the little fellow. And I can see no reason why big business should not bear the brunt of such tax."

He noted that a cut in mill-rate locally would benefit the little man only $2 while the same reduction would mean thousands to Harmac by the same act.

He said "the premier's promise of a $28 reduction of every citizen's property tax, affects all alike. Harmac included—and that makes real sense."

Youths 'Fairly Good' After Car Accident

DUNCAN—Two youths injured when their car swerved off the road near Lake Cowichan Wednesday were both reported in "fairly good" condition in hospital here today.

Stephen Gibson, 16, of Duncan, suffered a skull fracture and shock. Police said he was the driver of the car.

James Brown, 16, also of Duncan, a passenger, suffered head injuries and shock.

Alterations Made At Golf Clubhouse

Accommodation for social gatherings will be largely increased at the Mount Brenton Golf Club.

A work party last week started closing in the clubhouse veranda and installation of glass sliding windows.

Weather Good For Big Swim

11 Compete for Purse of $6,000 In Sunday Mass Attack on Strait

Competitors in Sunday's first annual mass swim across the Strait of Juan de Fuca got an official promise of good-weather conditions today.

Weatherman Bill Mackie said the weather outlook for Sunday is "quite favorable" for the Junior Chamber of Commerce event.

Mackie said winds should be relatively light and the passing of a weak weather mass should reduce the possibility of fog, the most dreaded weather development.

He added the usual afternoon winds, possibly up to 15 miles per hour, might spring up in the latter stages of the swim.

The 11 competitors in the swim will start the chase to a $6,000 pot at 7.15 Sunday morning when they plunge into the Strait at Horseshoe Bay, started by a pistol shot from starter Harold Elworthy.

The swimmers will group themselves into loose formation at the beginning of the swim behind the navigation boat, Island Champion.

Official navigator Capt. Ellice Cavin, who has scored two victories over the Strait in the last two weeks, will set out his suggested course and the swimmers, tended by individual rowboats, will be asked to follow the course.

Fog is the most feared factor in the swim as it presents the possibility of the swimmers becoming separated from the navigation vessel.

Same Course as Lumsdon's

Capt. Cavin will follow the same course he plotted for Cliff Lumsdon's successful crossing and predicted there might be as much as five miles between the various swimmers.

After two hours of flood tide at the start of the swim, Capt. Cavin hopes for an hour of slack, followed by an ebb tide that should correct the easterly drift and begin taking the swimmers towards Port Angeles.

At 5 p.m., the swimmers will meet another flood tide and if it is too strong to take them to Port Angeles, the swim course will be aimed at Green Point, scene of the finish of Lumsdon's swim.

Champions Score Close Soccer Win

LONDON (Reuters) — Manchester United, champion of the English League first division, kept its slate clean with a hard-fought 3-2 triumph over West Bromwich Albion today on the second Saturday of the soccer season.

Eight of 14 teams which had won their first two matches lost or tied this afternoon as heavy rain swept many parts of the country.

Two teams promoted to the first division from the second division this year tasted defeat for the first time in their new exalted rank. Leeds United was smothered 5-1 by Tottenham Hotspur and Sheffield Wednesday was dumped 3-1 by Portsmouth.

John Diefenbaker Coming To Defend Deane Finlayson

MEMENTOES FOR MARILYN AND GUS

Lasting souvenirs of the triumphant stay in Victoria will be presented to Marilyn Bell and her coach, Gus Ryder, by the Victoria Times. Original oil paintings, created by local artist Owen Goward, depict scenes close to the Juan de Fuca Strait swim. The painting

Tory MP Enters Contempt Case

John Diefenbaker, top-ranking Progressive Conservative MP from Prince Albert, Sask., and noted lawyer, will defend the party's B.C. leader, Deane Finlayson, in contempt of court proceedings arising from the Sommers-Sturdy slander case.

The hearings begin Monday in Supreme Court at Vancouver before Mr. Justice A. M. Manson.

In Saskatoon, Mr. Diefenbaker said:

"The preservation of freedom of speech as the paramount element in parliamentary government will be the issue."

Two Vancouver newspapers, The Sun and The Herald, also face contempt action because they published Mr. Finlayson's speech to a public meeting in North Vancouver last Monday.

All three actions were begun by Mr. Sommers' counsel, Alfred Bull, Q.C.

The campaigning in B.C.'s Sept. 19 election could become wide open if Mr. Finlayson is freed of the "contempt of court" accusation.

Robert E. Sommers, former minister of land and forests, is suing Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy for slander because of statements the barrister made to a royal commission on forestry last December concerning Mr. Sommers' management of public business.

Mr. Sommers resigned his cabinet post Feb. 27. He retained his legislature seat, however, and has been renominated for the Rossland-Trail constituency. The Sommers-Sturdy case has been smouldering in B.C. politics for months.

... defence counsel

Premier W. A. C. Bennett has refused to discuss it, contending it is in the hands of the law courts and therefore "sub judice."

Gregory Gives Step-by-Step Summary

At a public meeting in Dunsmuir Friday night, George Gregory, Liberal MLA in the last legislature and one of the party's candidates in Victoria, gave a summary of steps leading up to the Sommers-Sturdy case.

Mr. Gregory, who also is counsel for Mr. Sturdy in the slander suit, spoke at a campaign meeting for Robert J. Harvey, Liberal nominee in Newcastle-Cowichan.

Mr. Gregory said that on Dec. 7 Charles Eversfield, accountant, accompanied by his lawyer, David Sturdy, went to the attorney-general with "charges of the very gravest nature" against "the then minister of lands and forests."

Three Killed In North B.C.

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — Three men were killed and three others injured early today when a car and a light truck collided on the Hart Highway, 28 miles north of here.

One of the dead was identified as A. Guillet of Prince George.

Guillet's wife is in critical condition in hospital here. They have eight children. A third person in the truck in which they were riding is also in hospital in critical condition.

The three persons in the car were said to be from Sylvania, Sask.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

GIVE ME a thankful heart, O God, not because some thrilling joy is mine or a new largess of life has made me rich with fullness; but make me glad just because to be alive is opportunity to walk with Thee, to learn Thy speech; in Jesus Christ. Amen.

TWO BULLS MEET COW; ONE DEEP-FREEZE CASE

NANAIMO—A couple of Bulls met a cow near here Friday night, sending her into the deep freeze. Mr. and Mrs. E. Bull, Victoria, were driving over Chase River overpass, three miles south of Nanaimo, when their car struck and killed a cow which wandered onto the highway.

Mrs. Bull received cuts and abrasions and spent the night in Nanaimo hospital. Mr. Bull, who was driving, was not injured. The cow was butchered.

City Bids Farewell To Marilyn

Marilyn Bell was bidding a fond farewell to Victoria this afternoon on Beacon Hill, only a few hundred yards from the spot she touched after swimming Juan de Fuca Strait Thursday.

Thousands of citizens were expected to attend a party for this 120-pound slip of a girl who brought them out in a multitude for her arrival at the beach near Horseshoe Bay two days before.

The swimmer, her coach Gus Ryder, her mother Mrs. Syd Bell, her school chum Maria Brenk, and all members of her swim party were to parade to the park in a cavalcade through the city.

On behalf of the city, acting mayor Ald. W. F. Pinfold was to present Gus with a silver medallion bearing the city's coat of arms and an inscription commemorating Gus' guidance of Cliff Lumsdon and Marilyn across the strait.

Later, a cairn will be set up near the landing spot with a similar inscription.

A pair of framed pictures were to be given Marilyn by publisher Stuart Keate as a personal token by the swim's copponsor, Victoria Daily Times.

Gus and Marilyn were expected to give citizens their appreciation of the reception accorded them at the shoreline Thursday night, when an estimated 30,000 persons jammed the waterfront.

Baby-Snatcher Taken From Cell

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Angelo John Lamarca was taken from his police headquarters cell at 4 a.m. today for another mysterious automobile trip as authorities worked to pin down all details in the kidnapping and death of little Peter Weinberger. Police kept silent on their activities.

Reporters could gain no information as where Lamarca was taken or even whether he had been returned to his cell.

Crew Member Shot

IWAKUNI, Japan (AP)—U.S. Navy air officials said tonight the body of a crew member of a U.S. patrol plane downed off the Red China coast had wounds inflicted by gunfire.

OFFICIALS KEEP MUM ON ROYAL VISIT REPORT

No one in authority will confirm a report that Princess Margaret plans to visit British Columbia in 1958.

A front page story in a Vancouver newspaper Friday said the Princess would take part in British Columbia's centennial year celebrations, but the story did not name a source. Officials here and in Ottawa refused to confirm the report.

Raids, Barbed Wire End Truce on Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (CP)—British troops today buried a short-lived symbol of truce with union-with-Greece terrorists by restringing barbed wire on Nicosia's streets.

Twenty-five police raided the headquarters of the pro-nationalist Cypriot Farmers Union in the first crackdown reported since the EOKA terrorist organization called the truce Aug. 16.

Restringing of the barbed wire and the police raid followed the appearance of EOKA leaflets spurning a British surrender demand and an explosion that killed a Greek Cypriot.

British security forces today announced that the bomb explosion was accidental.

In the union headquarters raid records were seized and two officials arrested. The headquarters has been raided previously on suspicion of aiding Cypriot extremists in their bombs-and-bullets campaign against British rule.

COULD SAVE SITUATION The mayor of Nicosia, Themistocles Dervis, meanwhile urged Britain to announce immediately a self-government plan for Cyprus.

Such a move, Dervis asserted, could save the "deteriorating" situation on this Mediterranean island colony.

KINSEY DEAD

Ailing for the last six months Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, 62, biologist who won fame for his books on human sexual behavior, died at Bloomington, Ind., today. He had been in a coma from a heart ailment and pneumonia. Kinsey became famous in 1948 when his book "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male" became a best seller. It was followed by a book on female sex behavior in 1953.

Baby-Sitters Strike For Better PNE Nursery

VANCOUVER (CP) — Baby sitters at the Pacific National Exhibition laid down their rattles and woolly toys Friday and went on strike.

They told PNE officials they were working in a "dingy, dangerous warehouse instead of a nursery" and refused to allow any more children into such surroundings.

Miss Verna White, in charge of St. John Ambulance volunteers who run the day nursery, said the building contains hazards for small children. Ladders against the wall tempted them to climb. The gate did not keep children in. The building was dusty and inconvenient.

PNE officials said Friday night they will try to get better accommodation. The St. John Ambulance staff promised to start working again when a better room is found.

Army Didn't Count on 4-Year-Old

LONDON (AP)—The army never counted on four-year-old Grace Gayle when it called up her father for military service.

Dean Gayle, a 25-year-old Jamaican, turned up at the Blandford training camp with Grace gripping his hand.

"My wife died last October and there is no one to look after her," Gayle explained.

He said he had been granted one deferment but was refused a second.

While the soldiers at Blandford made a fuss over Grace the telephone lines buzzed between the camp and the war office.

After less than 24 hours in the army, Gayle got this word: Indefinite leave pending discharge.

Said Grace: "I like playing soldiers."

Camel Nuptials, Vodka Element, Wealthy Lad, 11, Still Democrat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—It took four men to haul the bridegroom to the altar.

He knocked over the wedding arch. He tore down the decorations. His three-foot bow tie was wildly askew.

That was how Cecil, the bachelor camel of Crandon Park Zoo, behaved Friday until his blonde Australian bride, Cecelia, was led up for nuptials witnessed by 3,000 spectators.

Cecelia had been temperamental, too. She tore off her white veil three times while being dressed.

An organ boomed out The Sheik of Araby and Egyptian March. A white-robed sheik pronounced the bridal pair camel and camelless.

The tying of the knot culminated a campaign by the Miami Herald for funds to buy Cecil a mate, which zoo officials said he wanted.

After the ceremony Cecil gave Cecelia a foamy kiss, and the couple was herded into a barn. A hearts-and-flowers sign, tacked to its door, said "do not disturb."

BERLIN (UP)—Berlin's newest anti-communist joke: A teacher in a Soviet zone school asked Hans to name the elements.

Hans replied: "Water, earth, air, fire and vodka."

"Why vodka?" the teacher asked.

"When my father sees a photograph of Khrushchev in the newspaper drinking vodka he always says 'now he is in his element again.'"

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sheri Grimes was born at Euclid Glenville Hospital Friday.

Her father Sam was born 30 years ago Friday.

Her mother Beatrice was born 24 years ago Friday.

Her brother Sam Jr., the only other member of the family, was born one year ago Friday.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Leonard Ross, 11, whose knowledge of finance and the stock market won him $100,000 on a television quiz show, will still have to go to his mother for spending money.

Mrs. Pauline Ross was named legal guardian of her son Friday in accordance with the law that fortunes of minors must be administered by court-appointed custodians.

Leonard emerged from the

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Birmingham firemen mailed a 10-year-old girl's letter for her Friday—and wiped her tears away, too.

The youngster mistook a fire alarm for a mail box with the usual result—a false alarm.

She was standing there when four fire trucks carrying 16 firemen roared up.

Driver Johnny B. Harris, caught while shaving, had later all over his face.

The noise and confusion—and maybe the lather—was too much for the child. She burst into tears.

The firemen swallowed any bitter words they might have planned and comforted the girl until the tears went away.

Then battalion chief Howard

brief court session to make two YOUTH CONFERENCE predictions: The stock market will advance and Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, will be elected United States president in November.

"Despite my wealth," he said, "I am remaining a Democrat."

ABBOTSFORD—Some 1,200 Mennonite youths from all parts of B.C. will gather in Clearbrook Sunday for a Mennonite Brethren youth conference. Theme of the conference will be "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God."

Theatre Guild Sprucing Up For Fall Opening Sept. 15

With the closing of a very successful run by Jerry Gosley's Smile Show there is increased activity amongst the members of the Victoria Theatre Guild who are busy sprucing up the Langham Court Theatre in anticipation of the early opening of their first fall presentation "Dial M for Murder," on September 15. Mr. Harold Gelling, vice-chairman in charge of productions, has just returned from a holiday in southern California where he was able to secure some really attractive material to help renovate the lobby with new curtains, etc., and the sound of hammer and saw, plus the steady swish of paint brushes can be heard there these warm summer evenings. Those interested in obtaining season tickets, priced at $5, are advised to do so early, in order to take advantage of not five, but six shows during the 1956-57 season. Mrs. Nora Kellie, membership chairman, of 1369 Rockland Avenue, will be pleased to hear from anyone for further information in this regard.

ART IN REVIEW

By COLIN GRAHAM

Meeting of Art Gallery Chiefs In Vancouver Marks Milestone

By COLIN GRAHAM

A week ago there ended in Vancouver what may well prove to have been one of the key meetings of Canadian art at mid-century. At the invitation of the National Gallery some 40 of us—the heads of galleries and university art departments across the country—met to discuss the needs of our regions in relation to the National Gallery's extension services and to try to work out a rough picture of what those needs are likely to be over the next decade.

A good deal more was discussed than just that, but fruitful as the talks certainly were,

I suspect that some of the by-products of the conference will prove no less far reaching in effect than the policies which will take shape as a result of the actual proceedings.

For one thing this conference probably marked the end of regional isolation. To understand what this means one must first realize that communication between Canadian art galleries has been extraordinarily sporadic and in some cases non-existent.

The galleries of western Canada have in recent years become fairly familiar with each other's doings because they have grouped together to form an exhibition circuit. But as few of us have the wealth or leisure for travel, we had only the vaguest idea of what was going on in such other Canadian circuits as those in Ontario and the Maritimes. Those circuits, in turn, heard only the faintest echoes of the activities of the western provinces. As to Quebec, there has been disgracefully little material available in the west on that province's rich cultural activities.

The magazine Canadian Art has been saving the day to some extent, but its job is primarily the discussion of art and artists not gallery activity. As to Quebec, I am happy to recommend for those who can read French, or even enjoy reproductions, a new and excellent journal Vie des Arts published by the Societe des Arts in Montreal (a copy is available for inspection at our own gallery here.)

Given this rather strange state of regional isolation, the crucial importance of a meeting on a national level such as that at Vancouver (the first in Canadian history) is easily understood. Names and galleries that had been vague abstractions on the outer fringes of the horizon materialized in reasonably concrete form. We got to know each other's views on the functions and needs of a gallery in a Canadian environment, as well as something of each other's special problems.

Henceforth it will be much easier for all of us to visualize matters when half the art geography of the country consists of terra incognita. As this meeting will undoubtedly be followed by others, perhaps on a regular annual or biennial basis, a greater community and identity of interest is certain to develop between all parts of the nation, with all that implies for the growth and maturing of the visual arts in Canada.

Biggs Plays Bach On Famous Organs

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Some of the most enjoyable music Johann Sebastian Bach wrote during his lifetime were short essays for the instructions of his sons or for family concerts. His famous "Eight Little Preludes and Fugues" for organ belong to this group of compositions.

E. Power Biggs plays these pieces for a new Columbia recording M-15078. The intriguing aspect of this disc is that each one of these selections is performed separately on a different famous classic organ in Europe.

Power Biggs met with some difficulty in playing "Prelude and Fugue No. 1" on the Silbermann organ at Ebermünster, Alsace. A family of sparrows nesting in the rafters of the church kept interrupting the performance. The birds are heard offering a few solo comments on the disc.

This record should please listeners who like organ music, the works of Bach, and good sound. An excellent release.

Peter Tchaikovsky was an ardent admirer of Mozart and he displayed his affection for the Austrian's music by composing a suite, based on a number of short, lesser-known works by the composer. The suite is known as Mozartiana and consists of four movements, opening with a lively Gigue.

This work is ably performed by the Orchestre Des Concerts Lamoureux under the baton of Paul Van Kempen for an Epic record LC-3213.

On the reverse side, the orchestra plays Tchaikovsky's Serenade in C Major for String Orchestra, Op. 48. The most popular movement in this work is the playful waltz a la Johann Strauss, heightened by a light French air.

POPS LIBRARY—For those who like light music "The Immortal Ladies," an RCA Victor disc (LMP-1119), featuring the Melachrino Orchestra conducted by George Melachrino, is novel and new in presentation. The music is based on popular songs all bearing girls' names. Selections include Sweet Sue, Irene, Mona Lisa, Dolores, songs all bearing girls' names. Selections include Sweet Sue, Irene, Mona Lisa, Dolores, Louise, Laura, Rosalie, Liza, Marie, Sally, Chloe and Dinah.

A Second 'Fridolin' Coming Up

The 17-year-old son of Gratien "Fridolin" Gelinas, one of French Canada's foremost actor-playwrights, is drawing laughs in the true tradition of his father.

While Papa Fridolin is doing serious work this summer at the Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Ont., young Yves is touching off merriment among young and old at performances of "La Roulotte," the city parks department's mobile theatre touring city playgrounds.

Yves' task is to live up to proceedings before the main presentation of the three-year-old theatre.

He flaps his arms like a berserk chicken, makes faces at the children and gleefully shies away from the lone police officer invariably on duty—in the true style of Fridolin, the clowning character created by his father.

Yves—the third of six Fridolin children—is the first to follow in papa's footsteps.

Time alone will tell whether Canada will get another Fridolin. Yves wants to finish college—he has two years to go at Brebeuf College—and after that, "We'll see."

The famous Carabinieri Band of Rome, a 102-piece military group, will make its first visit to the United States this fall. The band will arrive Oct. 3 and begin a tour the following night in New Haven, Conn. A tour of 38 cities in seven weeks has been arranged.

The band is famous for its parade and pageant abilities as well as its music. There will be two appearances in New York—the first in Carnegie Hall Oct. 13 will be purely instrumental; the second, in Madison Square Garden Oct. 16 will include all of the colorful exhibition work of the group.

Gordie's Jaunt Paying Off Now

By BILL RAYNER

There is a certain intensity of purpose about traveling 4,000 miles just to go to school that should bode well for a pupil's future.

In the case of Victoria's Gordie Perkins, that purpose is beginning to pay off handsomely in the baseball world.

Away back in 1949, Perkins traveled 4,000 miles by bus to the late Bill McGowan's school for umpires in Coco, Florida. Gordie, who had played sandlot ball and other sports around his home town of Victoria, wanted to become an umpire, a good one.

After a six-week course, McGowan and his staff of major and Coast League instructors had Perkins on the way to realizing his ambition.

Of the course, Gordie looks back and attributes to it unfathomable help in teaching him about baseball.

"It is a must for anyone serious about umpiring," says Gordie. "It's a terrific school. I'm amazed how much I learned in such a short time."

Gordie must have learned well, for now he is a regular alternate umpire for the Pacific Coast League and has worked over 30 ball games in Vancouver this season.

He has had PCL work every month since May, and expects to be called up again before the season ends. Earlier this month, Perkins worked a total of eight games in five days at Capilano Stadium as the Mounties faced San Diego for three double-headers in a row, then took on Seattle for two more games.

Takes No Notice of Angry Fans

He is also vice-president of the Vancouver Island Umpires' Association, and B.C. umpire-in-chief, working every summer at scores of amateur baseball and softball games.

And he loves the game. "I get just as much of a kick out of umpiring a good game as the players do in playing it," he says.

"About umpiring," he continues, "being right is the big thing. As long as you believe you're right, then that's it."

"You might have a rough game one day, but there's always another one the day after. The players remember that too; once a game is over, it's over and they very seldom hold grudges against the umpiring."

"One thing, though, an umpire hates to be blamed for a loss of a game."

Those fans, too, who climb umpires' frames just for the sheer vocal joy of it cut no ice with Perkins.

"I'm concentrating so much on calling the right play or the right pitch that I don't hear anything," says Gordie. "Just a buzz in the background."

Gordie's biggest thrill in baseball to date? The umpiring of a 13-inning thriller in the PCL, won by San Diego, 1-0. "That was a real big league game," he says.

Hopes for Coast League Contract

Perkins lays most of his success as an umpire at the feet of Reg Patterson, general manager of the now-defunct Tyes in the WIL.

"It was Reg's help and encouragement that got me a shot in the WIL in 1950," says Perkins. "I was in class D before that. He's always been behind me and I appreciate his help."

Perkins umpired in the WIL until it folded in 1954.

Now, Gordie runs the two news stands he owns in Victoria and awaits the periodic calls from the PCL.

Next season, however, he is hopeful of a full-time contract with the Coast League.

"There's one thing about thinking you're a good umpire and finding it is true," explained Perkins.

"I think that being named as alternate on the PCL proved to me that I was a good umpire. I'm hopeful of a full-time contract next year, then I'll really know it."

Gordie is very intense about proving himself to be a good umpire, just as he was intense about that umpiring school back in 1949.

And for a man that wrapped up in baseball, there is only one more step: the major leagues.

For Victoria's Gordie Perkins, why not?

Mounties Test Law With Sunday Twin Bill

Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast League will play the first Sunday baseball doubleheader in Vancouver's history this Sunday afternoon, against the Portland Beavers.

Mounties scheduled this doubleheader and other Sunday games in September after Vancouver city council passed a by-law legalizing Sunday sport in the city.

In a referendum last year, Vancouver citizens voted in favor of Sunday sport.

Legality of the bylaw has been questioned, however, and a suit has been brought against it.

Meanwhile, the Mounties return from a highly-successful road trip that left them within one and one-half games of seventh place and within seven games of the first division.

Fan interest in the Sunday twin bill is great, with demands for tickets coming in from the Fraser Valley, Vancouver Island and Northern Washington as well as from the Vancouver area.

Games start at 1.30.

Like Father, Like Son Tom Flashes Real From

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., (UP)—Tom Jordan, Jr., and his Roswell, N.M., teammates were on cloud eight today, fresh from Friday's triumph for the Little League world championship.

Jordan, a stringbean 12-year-old, held Delaware Township,

N.J., to two hits and slammed a three-run homer to wrap up the win for the Cowboys, 3-1.

The stylish pitcher, relying on sidearm curves and overhand fast balls, held the Jersey boys in check except for the third inning when one of his slants was blasted for a solo homer.

Jordan, son of Tom Sr., a former Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns catcher, served up but one walk while striking out 14.

Betty Leads

DENVER (UP)—Betty Dodd of Louisville, Ky., took the lead from Ronnie Colby of Hollywood, Fla., in the $5,000 Mile High women's open golf tournament Friday, but her 69 second-round score was overshadowed by a record-breaking 68 turned in by Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay.

Miss Crocker's brilliant shooting placed her in a tie for second place with Miss Colby—two shots behind the red-haired Louisville slugger's two-day 142 score.

THE EYES HAVE IT

The eyes of an umpire are his stock in trade, and those of Victoria's Gordie Perkins are more than adequate. Gordie is a regular Coast League alternate umpire, officiating at over 30 games this year.

Oilers Top Brodies, Square City Playoff

Cowan Third In U.S. Tourney

FARGO, N.D. (AP)—Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., shot a par 72 Friday for sole possession of third place after 54 holes in the four-round golf championships of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

His one-over-par total of 217 made it fairly certain the Canadian junior golf champion will take the international tournament's special trophy for entrants from outside the United States. Cowan, who is 17, won the trophy last year.

Entering today's final 18-hole round he will be four strokes behind the leaders in the overall competition. Tied with three-under-par 312s are Jack Rule, Waterloo, Iowa, who shot a 36-33-69 Friday, and Jack Nicklaus, Columbus, Ohio, who equalled par on both nines for a 36-36-72.

Medal Golf

Draw for the ladies' city medal round at Victoria Golf Club Monday follows:

Babe's Condition 'Not Good'

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—George Zaharias said Friday the condition of his famed athlete wife was "not good," but the hospital where she is fighting cancer said the Babe was free from pain, cheerful and determined.

Zaharias' statement was the first time that he failed to express optimism publicly. The Babe has been fighting cancer since 1953.

John Sealy Hospital said in a statement: "Babe Zaharias has lost a great deal of weight and strength but is free from pain and is bright and cheerful."

"In spite of distressing and critical complications, she is taking liquid and high caloric nourishment and her determination is to regain the weight she has lost."

There was no elaboration. Three weeks ago the Babe underwent an operation to bypass an intestinal obstruction.

Friday her physician said he could see no change in her condition since that operation.

Three weeks before the intestinal surgery, Mrs. Zaharias underwent an operation to sever sensory nerves to the lower part of her body. The operation was to relieve pain.

The Babe underwent her first cancer operation in Beaumont in 1953, recovered and won seven golf tournaments before the recurrence.

Brown Takes Title On Only One Hand

ARCHERS CAN'T MATCH 'THE JONESES' EITHER

B.C. archers at the Maple Ridge Invitational Shoot at Haney know that keeping up with "the Joneses" is not an easy thing to accomplish.

Victoria's Jones family won two firsts and a second in competition there recently.

Twelve-year-old Bill Jones took the junior title with a 577 of a possible 810, while his mother, Lil Jones, copped the women's open with a 581 mark. Frank Jones, the other member of the trio, took second place in the men's open with a 654.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—

A tired but happy Joe Brown today nursed a broken right hand but held a newly-won lightweight championship as balm for his wounds.

The 30-year-old ex-carpenter from New Orleans, who fashioned quick reflexes and a stinging left jab as tools of his trade, finished with a whirlwind rally in the late rounds to lift Wallace "Bud" Smith's title Friday night.

Brown, the target for Smith's pursuit during most of the televised 15-rounder, smashed the 27-year-old Cincinnati titleholder to the floor twice in the 14th round. Smith rose from the canvas weary and dazed and a target for Brown's right in the final round.

But the finishing right failed to come as the 9,200 fans screamed for a knockout.

"I couldn't throw it," Brown said as he squinted through marks of battle over his eyes and on his cheekbone.

"I broke the hand in the second round when I popped him on the chin," he said, recalling the right that buckled Smith's knees. "I gambled in the 14th by throwing the first right since the second round and it really hurt."

It hurt Smith, too. He slumped to the canvas with blood streaming from his mouth and nose. He rose as the count reached seven, but Brown sent him sprawling again. The bell sounded as the count reached nine with Smith on his knees.

The decision, labeled "home-town" by Smith's trainer, Adolph Ritacco, was split, with one of the judges voting for Smith.

Reds Go Bombing But to No Avail

By The Associated Press

It looks more and more as though Cincinnati Redlegs will have to be content with a fistful of home run records while Milwaukee and Brooklyn battle for the National League pennant.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts' powerhouse slammed two more records into the books Friday night as Gus Bell poked his 25th home run and Wally Post his 27th. Yet the Redlegs wound up five games back of the leaders with a 6-4 loss to the second-place Dodgers—who smashed Larry Jansen's comeback magic on homers by Duke Snider and Carl Furillo.

The victory kept the world champions within two games of the first-place Braves, who combined brawn with Warren Spahn to defeat Philadelphia 6-1 as Joe Adcock and Ed Mathews homered.

Fourth-place St. Louis handed Pittsburgh a seventh-straight defeat, 6-2, while the last-place New York Giants were coming within range of both the sixth-place Pirates and seventh-place Chicago by defeating the Cubs 5-4 in 11 innings.

Stan Musial Picks Moon Over Aaron

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis Cardinal outfielder Wally Moon, whaling away at a wicked .390 clip since July 4, thinks he can win the National League batting title this year—his third as a major leaguer.

The 26-year-old lean, left-handed hitter has support from a teammate who's copped the crown six times—Stan Musial.

Musial said Friday of Moon, who leads Hank Aaron of Milwaukee by two points, .335 to .333:

"Wally is capable of hitting 340 or better and frankly, though I could be wrong, I'll repeat what I said in the spring. That is, I don't believe Aaron can do it. He's got great wrists, but he swings at too many bad balls. Moon doesn't."

Moon, the National League's rookie-of-the-year in 1953, said simply of his chances: "I think I can do it."

Corporation Taxes Give Ottawa Surplus

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's surplus from the July as corporation income tax yields continued to soar.

The July surplus, $47,500,000 higher than a year ago, boosted the total for the first four months of the 1956-57 fiscal year to $330,364,000—almost triple the $131,982,000 in the similar period last year.

Finance Minister Harris, who reported climbing revenues in his monthly treasury statement issued Friday, last April forecast a surplus of $113,000,000 for the entire year.

But informants recently estimated the actual surplus from the expanding economy may total about $300,000,000. Last year Mr. Harris originally forecast a deficit of $160,000,000. The deficit later turned out to be only $33,000,000.

Bulging surpluses in the first part of the year usually are trimmed in varying degrees by a heavy flow of bills towards the year end.

SPENT MORE

In July, government spending rose by some $40,000,000 mainly because of higher defence and public debt charges, but revenues climbed by some $30,000,000.

Pushed ahead to some extent by higher corporation income tax and other yields, total revenue rose to $459,851,000 from $369,807,000 a year ago.

This boosted the four-month total by some $280,000,000 to $1,613,332,000 from $1,332,056,000 in the similar period last year.

Yields from corporation income tax in July climbed to $132,329,000, up from $81,832,000 last year.

Canadians Can Buy Into U.K. Bond Lottery

LONDON (CP)—Canadians may buy British premium savings bonds and take a chance on a lottery win.

The Bank of England has announced that bonds may be purchased with money originating from, or eligible for credit to, a Canadian account. Banking officials say this means that a Canadian can purchase sterling in Canada with dollars, and then use it to buy the £1 bonds.

If a Canadian wins in the lottery draw, his prize money can be converted into dollars. First bonds go on sale in November, and the first draw will likely be in June, next year.

The purpose of the savings scheme is to encourage Britons to save extra money, not for interest payments, but for the chance of winning a larger prize.

U.S. 'Sucker Town' Turns Loss Into Gold

WETUMKA, Okla. (AP)—This is the day Wetumka's 2,000 citizens celebrate the time they were taken in as suckers.

The seventh-annual Sucker Day has been extended for two days this year to accommodate visitors who swell the town's population to about 6,000 for the happy celebration.

Bankrupt Town In Saskatchewan Saved by Oil

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask. (CP)—Oil has brought this southwestern Saskatchewan city from bankruptcy to the point where building permits average $2,000,000 a year, and has given it a pay-off from oil of $75,000 a month.

Population has more than doubled since 1948, reaching about 8,500.

Since the first wildcat well struck oil at Fosterford, northwest of here, in 1952, the city has been able to take charge of its own affairs instead of being run by a board of supervisors.

Nine oil companies now operate in the area and there are numerous trucking, construction, servicing and drilling-equipment companies with headquarters here.

The west end of the city, almost vacant before the discovery of oil, now is a busy industrial area.

Woman Gives Away Bank's Half-Million

Prim Bookkeeper Got None Herself

CHICAGO (AP)—A 49-year-old woman bookkeeping supervisor at a Chicago bank where she had been employed 33 years was held in jail today in connection with the disappearance of nearly $500,000 of the bank's funds.

But, federal officials said, Miss Bessie E. Roth apparently had received none of the $467,228 which they said had disappeared from the Lawdell National Bank over a three-year period.

Frank J. McGarr, assistant U.S. attorney, said Miss Roth was responsible for the loss because she had, starting three years ago, allowed known customers to cash postdated cheques. She also accepted "holdout" cheques, McGarr said, explaining these were cheques the customers did not have money in their accounts to cover.

"She didn't get a cent of the money—she apparently just did favors for others," McGarr said. "She was just a prim lady with an altruistic heart."

McGarr said Miss Roth would be charged with "improperly and illegally honoring overdrafts" on a national bank.

Arthur L. Malcarney, vice-president and general manager of RCA commercial electronic products, said the "biz-mac" electronic printer is the fastest and most versatile composing and printing equipment ever developed. He added it is still in the development stage and no plans to produce it commercially have been made.

Canam Copper Gets Mogul Financing

TORONTO (CP)—The stockholders of Canam Copper Corporation Friday approved the creation of an issue of first-mortgage sinking-fund debentures to aggregate principal amount of $3,000,000 and an increase in authorized share capital of 1,000,000 $1-par shares.

Mogul Mining Corporation has agreed to underwrite the $3,000,000 principal amount of 5 1/2-per cent sinking-fund first-mortgage debentures to be dated Oct. 1, 1956 and to mature Sept. 30, 1963.

Mogul also will buy 300,000 shares of capital stock, paying $36 for each package of $100 principal amount of debentures and 10 shares of capital stock.

The debentures and shares are to be taken up as required to enable Canam to pay the cost of placing its mine in production at a rate of 1,000 tons a day.

As a bonus Canam offered Mogul stock-purchase warrants in proportion to the principal amount of the debentures taken up, giving Mogul the right to purchase 800,000 additional Canam shares at any time up to Sept. 30, 1960 at $1 a share.

'TIGHT MONEY' MOVES NIP WALL ST. INDEXES

By ELMER C. WALTZER
United Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—Wall Street stocks suffered a "tight-money" convulsion in the first three sessions this past week but made a partial recovery Thursday and Friday on light volume.

Money market men said the banks' hike in prime interest rates reflected the industrial boom's insistent demand for expansion capital.

On Wall Street the industrial average fell 13.45 in the first three sessions but ended only 7.88 points, at 507.91. Rails closed at 162.66, off 2.99. Utilities, down in every session, lost 1.87 to close at 68.77.

Sales averages 1,778,559—smallest since the June 18-22 period—against 1,806,012 the week before.

Toronto Loses In Slow Trading

By RON ANDREWS

Stock markets this week lost the most ground they have given up in 11 weeks as a series of international news and technical market factors combined to weaken prices in all sections.

The decline began Monday at New York, Toronto and Montreal and continued through the remaining four days.

Observers said profit-taking, concern over the Suez Canal situation in the Middle East and an increase in banking interest rates was responsible for the backsliding.

UNPRECEDENTED BOOM

Inflation Signs Force U.S. Action

By WALTER BREEDER JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—The United States government took steps this week to keep a bigger-than-expected mid-year boom from kicking over the traces.

Several months ago the forecasters were predicting a sharp letdown in business in the third quarter. That's the period from July through September.

But things didn't work out that way. Despite last month's country-wide steel strike, most lines of business kept right on rolling at a breakneck pace.

And just ahead there emerged the prospect of a fall and winter business surge of hitherto unheard of proportions—an upturn paced by expected brisk demand for 1957 model cars and a record-smashing Christmas shopping season.

It was against this background of developing boom and inflation that the Federal Reserve Board, "watchdog" of the nation's money supply, late this week approved an increase in the discount rate charged by five key federal reserve banks on the funds they advance to commercial banking institutions.

The rate boost—the sixth in 16 months—was by no means unexpected.

The week brought plenty of new evidence to support the federal reserve board's contention that inflationary pressures were rising.

The U.S. labor department reported that living costs last month inched to a new high at 117 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

There were signs of inflationary price trends on other fronts this week. Price increases—present or future—were announced for a whole new list of industrial and consumer items.

Meanwhile, hints of a rising business trend came this week from several quarters. Department store sales at latest count were up five per cent from the year-ago week.

ELECTRONIC PRINTER DEvised

NEW YORK (AP)—Radio Corp. of America announced Friday experimental development of an electric printer that translates 4,000 coded signals a second and prints as many as 40 different documents a minute.

Arthur L. Malcarney, vice-president and general manager of RCA commercial electronic products, said the "biz-mac" electronic printer is the fastest and most versatile composing and printing equipment ever developed. He added it is still in the development stage and no plans to produce it commercially have been made.

Total defence outlays increased to $151,838,000 from $127,934,000 in the month and to $482,285,000 from $469,944,000 in the four months.

Do the same to a Democrat and you'll probably come across a farmer, a union leader or a small-town lawyer.

That isn't to say that the Republicans have no union men in their ranks or that the Democrats are bereft of monied gentry. But the proportions seem to be pronounced on both sides of the political fence.

In Chicago, when the Democrats had parties, it usually was in the privacy of their rooms and the refreshments ran to beer and bourbon, hot dogs and ham sandwiches, tea and cake.

The dress was more casual in Chicago. Here, there were almost as many mink jackets and orchids as there were flags and banners in the great Cox Palace where the Republicans staged their convention.

The Republicans appeared to be more restrained and dignified in their demonstrations. The Democrats were more scrappy and free-wheeling in their convention doings, with a hot contest boiling up around the nomination of the metropolitan council which provides essential services to Toronto and 12 adjacent municipalities.

The group, known as the Greater Winnipeg Investigating Commission, includes chairman J. L. Brodie, secretary C. N. Kushner and Mayors George Sharpe, Winnipeg, J. G. Van Bellegam, St. Boniface, and Thomas Findlay, St. James. It was formed by the province of Manitoba to consider a metropolitan form of government for Winnipeg and 13 suburbs.

Beginning today the group will be shown Metro's industrial and residential growth, water supply and sanitary disposal system, and will discuss finance, city planning and assessment with the Metro officials.

R. J. Harvey, Liberal candidate for Cowichan-Newcastle, blames Social Credit policy for stopping construction of a caustic soda and chemical factory side by side with the Crofton pulp mill.

Mr. Harvey said Friday that co-operation and consultation between the Pennsylvania Salt and Chemical Co. and B.C. Forest Products Ltd., with a view to constructing an adjoining plant, stopped "when it became apparent that B.C. Power Commission would not supply electrical power to the salt company at a price low enough to allow production."

He said the chemical process involved requires large quantities of electrical power.

"The Power Commission has refused to consider buying surplus power from the B.C. Electric Gulf of Georgia cable crossing which lies near Crofton," Mr. Harvey said.

"B.C. Electric power is available to the power commission at a price low enough to enable

Victoria Redhead Offered $11,000 to Join Arab's Harem

BY DINAH KERR

A Bedouin Arab offered Nassa 24,000 Israeli pounds to join his harem, but she politely refused.

Home Friday from her trip to Israel, Nassa Raels, 19, 3007 Quadra street, explained the incident this way:

"We were visiting the Bedouins in northern Galilee—a nomadic Arab tribe—and were drinking their ceremonial coffee in a Bedouin leader's tent. He was fascinated by my red hair and offered to buy me from our guide. It was a very good price, about $11,000 Canadian money, but I turned him down.

"Arabs consider red-headed women the ultimate in beauty. They'll pay exorbitant prices for them, because they're so rare. The whole incident was pretty touchy, but we finally made him understand that I wasn't for sale. Ever after, whenever someone in my group needed money, they threatened to put me on the market."

"The Arabs still buy their wives, you know. Each has a harem of about three or four.

We met several in a Bedouin market. The women usually dress completely in black and wear black veils. Their faces are marked with paint. I think that tells what tribe they're from, and they wear pendants on their foreheads. Some even had a ring through one nostril."

"The Bedouins are always vying for top place in the tribe and I guess a red-haired woman in his harem would have been a real coup for this man."

Nassa just smiled and drank coffee while her Israeli guide pacified the Bedouin.

Invitation to an Arab coffee party was a high honor accorded the teenager, who was sent to Israel by the Zionist Association of Canada, to take a Jewish leadership training course.

"You must be held in very high regard before they'll make the coffee for you," she says. "First the coffee grounds are beat in a huge wooden bowl. There is a very definite rhythm to this and the man with the best beat is highly respected. Our leader was supposed to be the best in the area."

"After that the coffee is boiled seven times, in progressively smaller bowls, and then served. Our guide was a good friend of the Bedouin leader, which is why we were invited for coffee."

Member of the Jewish youth here, Nassa left for Israel last summer and spent five months studying in Jerusalem. She had classes in Hebrew three hours each day. "It's something like French," she said. She also studied Jewish dance, drama, history and religion. She spent the next five months on a "Kibbutz," a collective farm near Nazareth, where she worked with Israelites in the fields, kitchens and vineyards.

"And believe me, it was hard work," she says. "The idea of a kibbutz is to develop the country in the fastest possible time. Both parents work eight hours a day in the fields and they must live apart from their children. After work, they rest for two hours, and then the children are allowed to visit them."

Nassa traveled to all parts of Israel, often with an army escort.

"In Negev, southern Israel, the tension is particularly strong because of hostilities with Trans-Jordan. We were not allowed to travel after dark and were required to have an armed escort."

In her 12-month visit, Nassa mounted a camel only once, and then she didn't ride it.

"They smell like goats," she said. "I couldn't wait to get down."

Nassa will leave Monday to begin nurse's training at Vancouver General Hospital. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Raels.

BETWEEN TIMES

By

MONTE ROBERTS

I don't know what you will be doing at 10 o'clock tonight, but I know what I will be doing at 10 o'clock tonight.

Also at 10 o'clock Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and several succeeding nights.

I will be gazing intently in a direction slightly to the south of east.

I will be keeping my weather eye peeled for a markedly red object high in the sky.

This markedly red object—and I have this on the authority of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, Victoria centre—is none other than Mars—"The Red Planet," as the society calls it.

But possibly I'd better explain why I am going to be so busy at 10 o'clock tonight, and on succeeding nights.

The Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, Victoria centre, has released the information that Mars, the red planet, will be at nearest approach to the earth, a mere 35,120,000 miles away, on Sept. 7. "Hence," says the society, "during the next few months it will be an object of great interest to astronomers."

Astronomers, it appears, are interested in learning more about its surface features.

But this is not why I am interested, or why I am going to be on watch at 10 p.m., when Mars starts to rise slightly to the south of east.

I am going to make sure Mars stays a mere 35,120,000 miles away.

I don't mind a red planet 35,120,000 miles away.

But the second this red planet reaches the 35,119,999 miles mark, I am going to holler for the cops.

I am going to alert the Ground Observer Corps, Civil Defence, the UN, NATO, CINCPAC, SPCA and SPEBQSA. Anything under 35,120,000 miles I will regard as an encroachment on international agreements, and little short of an act of outright aggression.

Incidentally, the above-mentioned society is holding a meeting on the subject of the red planet, in the Victoria College auditorium at 8.30 p.m. Monday. I trust this is to be an indignation meeting, and that all stalwart supporters of our Way of Life attend to warn the red planet to keep its distance.

Let us have no truck nor trade with red planets, or even mildly pink planets.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

One of the firebrand speakers of the British House, Labor party member Richard H. Crossman will make an informal five-day visit here starting Sunday.

Editor of New Statesman and Nation since 1938, he is on a Canada-wide vacation trip.

Victoria Aged Pensioners Organization No. 3 will be guests of the Plaza Theatre Monday at 12.45 p.m.

Membership cards are required for free admittance.

Lieut. B. H. Wright, officer in command of No. 217 Workshop, Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers, at Work Point for the last three years, leaves shortly for duties at army headquarters, Ottawa.

His replacement, Capt. S. H. Fleming, arrived at Work Point this week. He comes from No. 2 Production Squadron, RCME, Hagersville, Ont.

Marilynne Dawson, "Miss Victoria" and the city's May Queen this year, will leave tonight to compete for the "Miss PNE" title at the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver. She will take part in a program with 30 beauty contest winners from other parts of the province, with final judging Wednesday.

First prize at the Beaver Lake amateur show was won Friday by clarinetist, Kenny Ryall, 14, 3322 Ralston Crescent.

Second prize went to accordion player Betty Warren, 12, 1698 Lansdowne, and third, Marie Tippet, 11, 972 Heywood, who gave a saxophone solo and Russian dance.

A total of $180 in fines was imposed in city police court today on three youths convicted of being minors in possession of liquor and intoxicated.

Larry Sharp, 18, Fanny Bay; Donald A. Cullen, 19, Union Bay; and Murray S. Clarke, 19, Lake Cowichan, each was fined $10, for being intoxicated in a public place and $50 for possession.

Arrested on Bay Street Friday night, they said the beer was bought for them by a hitchhiker they had picked up.

Victoria Fish and Game Club will hold a pre-hunting season shoot Sunday, at 10 a.m., at its Goldstream grounds. Prizes for the ten-bird events include sleeping bags, an air mattress and gun cases.

Lantern slides of outstanding English cathedrals will be shown 8 p.m., Monday, in Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall.

Four applicants have applied for the office of municipal engineer in Saanich.

The applications will be considered by Saanich council Monday.

Council advertised for an engineer after municipal engineer H. D. Dawson announced earlier this year that he was retiring in December.

A $50 fine for being a minor in possession of liquor was imposed on Oak Bay police court, Friday, on Robert Beadnell, 298 Beaumont.

Beadnell was caught drinking beer in a parked car at Willows Beach, Monday night.

Norman Bowman, financial and industrial editor of the San Jose Mercury-News, California—one of the Ridder Newspapers—is spending a three days' vacation in Victoria on a tour of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia.

He is staying with his wife and two children at the Olde England Inn.

A 12-year-old boy suffered a broken arm Friday in a fall from a slide in the playground park at Niagara and Montreal Streets.

Earl Wallace, 120 Dallas, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment.

A closer look at the oncoming car would have saved $30 for Charles T. Longman, 3020 Quadra.

That's what he paid in Colwood RCMP court Friday for failing to yield half the highway. The car he forced off the road was a police car.

Premier Bennett plans to be in his home town at Kelowna on polling day, Sept. 19.

He will address Social Credit meetings at Dawson Creek and Fort St. John during his forthcoming tour of construction of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway extension into the Peace River country.

Victoria-Oak Bay CCF Association will nominate a candidate in the Woodsworth Hall Monday at 8 p.m.

VICTIM OF FATAL ACCIDENT

On Mount Douglas, Thursday night, Aaro Mannen, 29, emigrated to Canada from his native Finland four years ago. He died instantly in the crushed wreckage of his car after it plummeted off the roadway into a big tree. An inquest will be held Wednesday.

Boat-Launching Ramps Asked In Saanich

Saanich Council Monday will consider an application from the Victoria Outboard Club for construction of a hard-surfaced launching ramp for boats at either Smugglers Cove or Telegraph Bay.

The hard-surfaced ramp near the Oak Bay Boat House is at present the only launching site for trailer boats in Greater Victoria.

Charles Mullins, a member of the club and president of the Victoria Outboard and Inboard Association, said the additional ramp is needed to eliminate congestion at the Oak Bay site.

"There has been a large increase in the number of boat owners over the past year," he said. "The present ramp is not sufficient to take care of the growing traffic."

He estimated there were about 700 "trailer boat" owners in the area.

Both Kennedy and Kerrison pleaded guilty. Detective Andrews said they went with four other youths in a taxi to the park in the early hours of the 15th.

They went to the lookout where a window was broken to gain entry.

The youths began tossing some of the heavy checker blocks around the inside, the detective said, and then one of them went outside and threw a ladder through one of the glass sides.

Damage to the 38 window panes and frames smashed was $125, it was stated.

Previously it was reported the youths were also responsible for pulling up a drinking fountain at the bowling green.

City Forester Arthur Collins, 1337 Rockland, is recovering today from face cuts and bruises suffered in an auto accident Wednesday at Quenell.

He and another forestry branch official, H. R. Callaghan of Prince George, were injured when their car was in collision with a logging truck.

Park Vandals Get One-Year Prison Terms

'Lesson to You,' Scolds Magistrate

Two sailors who admitted taking part with four other youths in a rampage of destruction in Beacon Hill Park Aug. 15 each were sentenced in city police court today to one year's imprisonment.

The stiff sentences were imposed on James Patrick Kennedy, 24, and Jack Kerrison, 19, both from HMCS Naden.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas said their offence, which carries a maximum penalty of 14 years, was "very serious."

"I can't let this pass lightly because of your youth and stupidity," the magistrate said.

"I sentence each of you to one year and hope that will be a lesson to you."

Asked if he had anything to say before sentence was imposed, Kennedy said:

"I apologize to the court for this trouble and can assure you it will never happen again on my part."

His assurance was reiterated by Kerrison, who was returned from Lethbridge, Alta. Thursday to face the charge.

Court was told by detective Bill Andrews that the two sailors had been "most co-operative" in investigation of the incident "but so far we have been unable to come up with the other culprits."

FOUR OTHERS

Both Kennedy and Kerrison pleaded guilty. Detective Andrews said they went with four other youths in a taxi to the park in the early hours of the 15th.

BALMY WEATHER STAYS; FIRE HAZARD MODERATE

Victoria's balmy, pleasant weather will hold through the weekend, and possibly for another week, the weather office said here today.

A high pressure ridge is keeping temperatures in the 60s. Some cloudiness and possible sprinkles of rain are expected.

Satisfactory humidity is keeping the forests open for both recreation and industry, and no closure is forecast. Chief forester, D. B. Taylor of the Vancouver district, which includes Vancouver Island, said fire hazard is only moderate.

Passmore Proposes October Sewer Vote

Decision To Be Made at Monday Meeting Of Saanich Council; $800,000 Needed

Councillor Leslie Passmore, chairman of the Saanich sewage committee, will submit a motion to council Monday asking that a money by-law for completion of the sewage program be submitted to ratepayers in October.

"I am anxious to get this sewage program underway," said Mr. Passmore. "People have been paying for the sewage project and have been getting no service."

Coun. Passmore estimated it would take about six weeks to prepare the by-law for submission to the ratepayers.

Councillors estimate that about $800,000 will be needed to complete the project which will service some 2,000 additional homes.

TALLEST TOTEM PUPS

These funny little rascals with the dished-in faces (the dogs, not the kids) have more than a natural association with the world's tallest totem pole. Born June 3 in a litter of five, at the height of interest in Beacon Hill's monstrous woodcarving, the boxer pups were named after characters on the totem. The two males, both of them here, are Baguanum and Miquat. Their sister is Tsawi, and two other sisters gone to out-of-town owners, are Kasa and Kwig. That's Meridian Illusion, their mother, in the background, looking glum and left out of things. Registered owner is Mrs. J. A. Peacey, 1149 Munro, whose children Melanie, 9; Tony, 5, and Nicola, 2½, try to restrain the pups.

NEWS OF CITY CHURCHES

Victoria Old Boy Back at Cathedral

It will be a homecoming for the preacher at matins in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday when a former Victorian, Rev. Ronald Francis Shepherd will occupy the pulpit.

Mr. Shepherd, who spent his boyhood in Victoria, was confirmed by Archbishop Sexton in his chapel before embarking on theological studies at King's College in London. Earlier, he had graduated from the University of British Columbia.

He was ordained by the bishop of London in 1952 and joined the staff of the famous St. Stephen, Westminster, where he is now senior curate.

St. Stephen Church itself has a link with Victoria in that it was built by the Baroness Burdett-Coutts who also endowed the bishopric of British Columbia.

The Lord Archbishop will preach the sermon at evensong.

Dr. J. Sidlow Baxter who throughout last week has been drawing many to the Central Baptist Church by his brilliant Bible expositions will continue the Bible conference until next Thursday. The theme is "Deeper Treasures of the Bible," the weekday meetings commencing at 8 p.m.

Sunday Dr. Baxter will speak at 11 a.m. on "The Best of Secrets," and at 7:30 on "His Name Shall Be Called Wonderful."

At First Baptist Church Sunday evening there will be a great missionary meeting. Mrs. John McLaurin, 30 years in India will speak of Baptist mission work there. Mr. Everett Ball, a business man from Edmonton, is just returning from an extended trip to Bolivia. He will give his impressions of that land, and show colored slides and give tape recordings of Baptist work in South America. Mr. David Dunn of Alameda, California, is the soloist for the day. In the morning he sings "Prayer" by Paul G. Curran, and in the evening "O Lord Be Merciful" by Homer N. Bartlett.

At the morning service Rev. G. R. Easter will speak on "Three Opinions About Me."

Services at St. Andrew's Presbyterian will be conducted by a guest preacher, Rev. Clarence

A. Kircher, D.D. of Sunnyvale, Calif. Dr. Kircher is now the director of new work for the Presbytery of San Jose, Synod of California, and special representative for the Foundation of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. For 21 years he was the minister of Westminster Presbyterian Church in Sacramento, California. His sermon subjects will be, morning, "A Great Certainty," and evening, "What Do You See?" The service of praise will be led by Mr. R. W. Kroeger, guest organist, and a quartet composed of Mrs. Ruth Champion, Mrs. R. K. Sturgeon, Mr. Robert Husband and Mr. Allan Husband.

Canon G. Biddle will be the preacher at both services at St. John's Anglican Church Sunday. The 11 a.m. service will be broadcast over CKDA. His topic for 7:30 p.m. is "What's in a Name?" There will be a service of holy communion at 8 a.m. Sunday schools are at 11 a.m.

Dr. W. A. Wicks will speak at both the services at the Victoria Truth Centre. In the morning his subject will be "The Table Before Me" and in the evening "Heaven Is Available Now."

At Centennial United Church, the minister, Rev. Douglas B. Carr, will preach at the morning service. His sermon topic will be "Beware of Failing Rock," the last in the summer series: "Road Signs of Life." There will be no evening service.

The pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, Rev. James E. Smith, will preach at both services, his morning topic "This Mechanical Man." This service will be broadcast over CJVI.

The subject of the evening sermon will be "As We Are and As We Should Be."

Births Top Immigration In Fast-Growing Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Immigration has helped Canada increase her population but more than 95 per cent of the rise in the last century was from Canadian births.

The high Canadian birth rate—sixth highest in the world in 1954—combined with the world's second-lowest death rate provided the main dynamic factors which helped Canada build up a population of 15,000,000 in 1954 from 2,400,000 a century ago. The current population has been roughly estimated at 16,000,000.

12 New Polio Cases But None in B.C.

OTTAWA (CP)—Twelve new cases of polio, nine of them paralytic, were reported in Canada for the week ending Aug. 18, bringing the total so far this year to 163, sharply below those of previous years. No B.C. cases were listed.

LEGAL OR NOT

Vancouver Gets Sunday Sport

VANCOUVER (CP)—Legal or not, Vancouver will have commercial sport this Sunday: A professional baseball doubleheader.

It will be the first commercial professional sport ever played here on a Sunday and the biggest crowd of the season is expected to watch Vancouver Mounties play host to Portland Beavers of the Pacific Coast League.

Whether the afternoon twin bill is legal may be decided Sept. 5. On that date a recent city by-law legalizing commercial sport Sunday afternoons goes before the British Columbia Supreme Court.

Any action taken will be too late to affect this Sunday's game but could affect two other PCL games scheduled here for Sept. 9 and 16 against San Francisco and Sacramento respectively.

Harold T. Allen, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, which is questioning the city by-law, contends council has no authority to pass a by-law legalizing commercial Sunday sport as it contravenes the Lord's Day Act of 1907.

By that act, commercialized Sunday sport is unlawful but responsibility for enforcement of the act rests with the provincial attorney-general.

Meanwhile, this Sunday's game is expected to surpass the Mounties' attendance record of 8,146 fans, set opening night. More than 3,000 reserved seats have already been sold for the games.

The Vancouver-Portland game was scheduled two weeks ago after Vancouver city council, in a surprise move, passed a by-law legalizing professional sport between 1:30 and 6 p.m. Sundays. Mayor Fred Hume and two councillors dissented.

City council's action followed a plebiscite Dec. 14 in which Vancouverites approved Sunday afternoon sports by 38,031 votes to 36,124. They had rejected the idea in previous votes.

The B.C. legislature, however, made no mention of legalizing Sunday sport during the last sitting in spite of requests from city council that a stand be taken.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner, refusing to be drawn into any controversy, said two weeks ago: "If a commercial Sunday event takes place, I presume it will come before the city prosecutor and be dealt with in the usual manner."

Legal authorities said usual procedure is for a citizen or group to complain over violation of the Lord's Day Act.

Premier Bennett said last month he would oppose Sunday sport because it would be "impossible to draw the line" once it started.

It also announced that 1,077 farmers of Yugoslav and Italian origin will arrive in Canada within the next few weeks to be placed on farms across the country.

YOU SAID TO ME—

A Sunday message of help and comfort for those puzzled, depressed or low in spirit.

BY ETHEL TULL

You said to me, "You write as though you had no troubles of your own."

I am sorry to have given this impression, for it is not true if by "troubles" you mean temptations against which I have to fight.

I can say with truth that there is nothing otherwise in my life that I think of as a trouble, for I have been greatly blessed. When I was told that I must cut down my activities, I had to adjust myself to that thought, but I felt that, as long as I was trying to follow the guidance of God, I could take whatever came to me with happiness, and I do not fear the future. With so much love surrounding me, I cannot feel that I have any troubles of a material kind.

But sin in another matter. As the years go by, temptations come in a more subtle form than they used to. Life is a battle-ground right to the very end, and if one does not feel it to be so, it seems to me there is something wrong. As one grows, one's new spiritual strength is bound to be tested—it can never be real strength until the test has been met and the victory won. And, thank God, one is never too old to grow spiritually. There are heights to reach that one cannot even imagine until they are revealed by the Spirit of God. That is what makes the Christian life one of adventure. One has no idea of one's own possibilities, and there are no limits to what could be achieved if one were perfectly surrendered to the guidance and teaching of the spirit.

I have told you in previous writings of the beginning of change in my own life, but still there is the daily battle to be fought against pride, self-indulgence, laziness, self-consciousness, and other sins which creep so subtly into my life. But when God puts His hand on you or me, we are on the way to better things, and how far we go depends on us—there is no limit to His knowledge and power and love. The victory is ours if we are willing to pay the price.

Soviet Makes First Approach to Vatican

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said today the Soviet Union has made its "first official contact" with the Vatican.

The "contact" was accomplished by transmission of a copy of the Supreme Soviet's recent disarmament plea to the Vatican state, the radio reported.

The Supreme Soviet is Russia's parliament. There are no diplomatic relations between Russia and the Vatican.

A Soviet broadcast in Italian said the appeal was not addressed to the Roman Catholic Church "but to the Vatican State, the head of which, Pope Pius XII, had made a

FINAL BULLETINS

Sandown Deadlock Continues

Deadlock between operators of Sandown race track and the Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association over purses was not eased at a meeting this morning, association president Bill Leche reported from Vancouver.

A second session was scheduled this afternoon. Leche said mainland horsemen "couldn't possibly" come over to the Island for the $500 minimum purses offered by the track. Last year's minimum was $600.

Alouettes Edge Argos, 24-20

MONTREAL (BUP)—The Alouettes opened their 1956 Big Four season today with a hard-earned, 24-20 victory over the crippled Toronto Argonauts before a shirt-sleeved crowd of 22,700 in Molson Stadium.

Each team scored three touchdowns but the Alouettes added a single with a 26-yard field goal that proved to be their margin of victory.

B.C. Crash Kills Alberta Woman

CROWNSNEST, B.C. (CP)—Mrs. Angela D'Apponia, 38, of Coleman, Alta., died from injuries suffered when the car in which she was travelling with her husband, Edward, collided with a loaded lumber truck.

Leonard, Balding in Finals

TORONTO (CP)—Stan Leonard, formerly of Vancouver, will meet Al Balding of Toronto, Canadian Professional Golfers' Association champion, in the Millar Trophy final Sunday. They were finalists in the CPGA last month, Balding winning by a two-stroke margin.

Today Leonard defeated Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver two up in their semifinal bracket, while Balding was taking Normie Smith of Toronto 4-2.

U.S. Army Grabs Lions' Import

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions have lost import guard and linebacker Don George to the United States army, it was announced today. George joined the Lions in 1955.

Vancouver's Steen Leads Decathlon

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Don Steen of Vancouver added to his lead in the decathlon at the Olympic track and field eliminations here today by taking the 100-metre hurdles, followed by Bill Mitchell of Windsor with comparative ease. His time was 17.2.

Sue Burnett of Victoria placed second in the first heat of the women's 200 metres.

MEMENTOES FOR MARILYN AND GUS

Lasting souvenirs of the triumphant stay in Victoria this afternoon on Beacon Hill, only a few hundred yards from the spot she touched after swimming Juan de Fuca Strait Thursday.

City Bids Farewell To Marilyn

Thousands of citizens reciprocated, a tender spot in their hearts for this 120-pound slip of a girl who brought them out in a multitude for her arrival at the beach near Horseshoe Bay two days before.

The swimmer, her coach Gus Ryder, her mother Mrs. Syd Bell, her school chum Maria Brenk, and all members of her swim party paraded to the park in a cavalcade through the city.

On behalf of the city, acting mayor Ald. W. F. Pinfold presented Gus with a silver medalion bearing the city's coat of arms and an inscription commemorating Gus' guidance of Cliff Lumsdon and Marilyn across the strait.

Later, a cairn will be set up near the landing spot with a similar inscription.

A pair of framed pictures were given by Marilyn and Gus by publisher Stuart Keate as a personal token by the swimmer's co-sponsor, Victoria Daily Times.

Gus and Marilyn expressed their warm appreciation of the reception accorded them at the shoreline Thursday night, when an estimated 30,000 persons jammed the waterfront.

Such a move, Dervis asserted, could save the "deteriorating" situation on this Mediterranean island colony.

Soviet Moves on Suez Stirring Fears in U.S.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top United States officials were reported concerned today over signs that Russia may be trying deliberately to block a negotiated settlement with Egypt on future operation of the Suez Canal.

Sources both here and abroad continue to emphasize that the danger of war as a result of Egypt's seizure and nationalization of the waterway has not passed. But some officials here expressed the hope Egypt may still choose the route of peaceful negotiation.

Russia's role is one of the problems State Secretary Dulles is bringing back today from the 22-power Suez conference.

State department officials said in advance of Dulles' mid-afternoon arrival they do not think he will make a special trip to report to President Eisenhower, vacationing in California.

Evidence of a tougher Soviet attitude was found in these events of the last few days:

1. Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev was reported as saying at a party in Moscow, Thursday night, that if war broke out over the Suez issue, "the Arabs will not stand alone." He said it would be a "just war" and there would be "volunteers."

2. At a press conference in London, Friday night, Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov attacked British and French military moves as "a flagrant violation of the United Nations charter." He warned of possible "serious consequences in the Middle East."

3. In the 22-power conference itself, Shepilov had called a United States-sponsored plan for setting up international operation of the canal, through negotiation with Nasser, an effort to impose "imperialism" on Egypt. The same line has been used in Soviet propaganda to the Middle East.

In the end, Russia, India, Indonesia and Ceylon backed an alternative proposition to leave canal operation entirely in Egypt's hands and create an international advisory board to work with the Egyptian government.

In the view of top United States officials, however, India, Indonesia and Ceylon advocated this proposal not because they thought the Western plan was bad but because they thought it unacceptable to Egypt.

Robert E. Sommers, former minister of land and forests, is suing Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy for slander because of statements the barrister made to a royal commission on forestry last December concerning Mr. Sommers' management of public business.

Mr. Sommers resigned his cabinet post Feb. 27. He retained his legislature seat, however, and has been renominated for the Rossland-Traill constituency.

The Sommers-Sturdy case has been smouldering in B.C. politics for months.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett has refused to discuss it, contending it is in the hands of the law courts and therefore "sub judice."

At a public meeting in Dunsmuir, Mr. Gregory said the attorney-general with "charges of the very gravest nature" against "the then minister of lands and forests."

11 Compete Sunday In Mass Strait Try

Competitors in Sunday's first annual mass swim across the Strait of Juan de Fuca got an official promise of good-weather conditions today.

Weatherman Bill Mackie said the weather outlook for Sunday is "quite favorable" for the Junior Chamber of Commerce event.

Mackie said winds should be relatively light and the passing of a weak weather mass should reduce the possibility of fog, the most dreaded weather development.

He added the usual afternoon winds, possibly up to 15 miles per hour, might spring up in the latter stages of the swim.

The 11 competitors in the swim will start the chase to a $6,000 pot at 7:15 Sunday morning when they plunge into the Strait at Horseshoe Bay, started by a pistol shot from starter Harold Elworthy.

The swimmers will group themselves into loose formation at the beginning of the swim behind the navigation boat, Island Champion.

Official navigator Capt. Ellice Cavin, who has scored two victories over the Strait in the last two weeks, will set out his suggested course and the swimmers, tended by individual rowboats, will be asked to follow the course.

Fog is the most feared factor in the swim as it presents the possibility of the swimmers becoming separated from the navigation vessel.

Same Course as Lumsdon's

Capt. Cavin will follow the same course he plotted for Cliff Lumsdon's successful crossing and predicted there might be as much as five miles between the various swimmers.

After two hours of flood tide at the start of the swim, Capt. Cavin hopes for an hour of slack, followed by an ebb tide that should correct the easterly drift and begin taking the swim-

TWO SWIMS AT TORONTO ON MONDAY

TORONTO (CP)—Fernelly

Wheatcroft, 58, and garbage collector Ted Simmons, 31, both of Toronto; Rosita Tanner, 44, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and tobacco farmer Jim Woods, 40, of Candler, N.C., said they'll start out Monday from Youngstown, N.Y., and head for the Canadian National Exhibition's waterfront, although they have been barred from the official Lake Ontario race.

The swim committee said Friday that only 10 could compete in the race because time did not permit the extensive planning a larger field would entail. Also, enough boats would not be available.

The swim is scheduled to start Monday, weather permitting, with Tuesday and Wednesday as alternates.

Diefenbaker Coming To Defend Finlayson

Noted Progressive-Conservative Enters Contempt Proceedings

John Diefenbaker, top-ranking Progressive Conservative MP from Prince Albert, Sask., and noted lawyer, will defend the party's B.C. leader, Deane Finlayson, in contempt of court proceedings arising from the Sommers-Sturdy slander case.

The hearings begin Monday in Supreme Court at Vancouver before Mr. Justice A. M. Manson.

In Saskatoon, Mr. Diefenbaker said: "The preservation of freedom of speech as the paramount element in parliamentary government will be the issue."

Two Vancouver newspapers, The Sun and The Herald, also face contempt action because they published Mr. Finlayson's speech to a public meeting in North Vancouver last Monday.

All three actions were begun by Mr. Sommers' counsel, Alfred Bull, QC.

The campaigning in B.C.'s Sept. 19 election could become wide open if Mr. Finlayson is freed of the "contempt of court" accusation.

Robert E. Sommers, former minister of land and forests, is suing Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy for slander because of statements the barrister made to a royal commission on forestry last December concerning Mr. Sommers' management of public business.

Mr. Sommers resigned his cabinet post Feb. 27. He retained his legislature seat, however, and has been renominated for the Rossland-Traill constituency.

The Sommers-Sturdy case has been smouldering in B.C. politics for months.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett has refused to discuss it, contending it is in the hands of the law courts and therefore "sub judice."

At a public meeting in Dunsmuir, Mr. Gregory said the attorney-general with "charges of the very gravest nature" against "the then minister of lands and forests."

OFFICIALS KEEP MUM ON ROYAL VISIT REPORT

No one in authority will confirm a report that Princess Margaret plans to visit British Columbia in 1958.

A front page story in a Vancouver newspaper Friday said the Princess would take part in British Columbia's centennial year celebrations, but the story did not name a source. Officials here and in Ottawa refused to confirm the report.

KINSEY DEAD

Ailing for the last six months Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, 62, biologist who won fame for his books on human sexual behavior, died at Bloomington, Ind., today. He had been in a coma from a heart ailment and pneumonia.

Kinsey became famous in 1945 when his book "Sexual Behavior in the Human Male" became a best seller. It was followed by a book on female sex behavior in 1953.

Rain Slows England

LONDON (Reuters)—Rain today cut short an early second innings scoring spurt that threatened to put England far ahead in the third day of the final cricket test match here against Australia. The English side in less than two hours had scored 76 runs while losing only one wicket after taking a 247-202 lead at the end of the first innings.

In the end, Russia, India, Indonesia and Ceylon backed an alternative proposition to leave canal operation entirely in Egypt's hands and create an international advisory board to work with the Egyptian government.

In the view of top United States officials, however, India, Indonesia and Ceylon advocated this proposal not because they thought the Western plan was bad but because they thought it unacceptable to Egypt.

Baby-Sitters Strike For Better PNE Nursery

VANCOUVER (CP) — Baby sitters at the Pacific National Exhibition laid down their rattles and woolly toys Friday and went on strike.

They told PNE officials they were working in a "dingy, dangerous warehouse instead of a nursery" and refused to allow any more children into such surroundings.

Miss Verna White, in charge of St. John Ambulance volunteers who run the day nursery, said the building contains hazards for small children. Ladders against the wall tempted them to climb. The gate did not keep children in. The building was dusty and inconvenient.

PNE officials said Friday night they will try to get better accommodation. The St. John Ambulance staff promised to start working again when a better room is found.

Army Didn't Count on 4-Year-Old

LONDON (AP)—The army never counted on four-year-old Grace Gayle when it called up her father for military service.

Dean Gayle, a 25-year-old Jamaican, turned up at the Blandford training camp with Grace gripping his hand.

"My wife died last October and there is no one to look after her," Gayle explained.

He said he had been granted one deferment but was refused a second.

While the soldiers at Blandford made a fuss over Grace, the telephone lines buzzed between the camp and the war office.

After less than 24 hours in the army, Gayle got this word: Indefinite leave pending discharge.

Said Grace: "I like playing soldiers."

Camel Nuptials, Vodka Element, Wealthy Lad, 11, Still Democrat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—It took four men to haul the bridegroom to the altar.

He knocked over the wedding arch. He tore down the decorations. His three-foot bow tie was wildly askew.

That was how Cecil, the bachelor camel of Crandon Park Zoo, behaved Friday until his blonde Australian bride, Cecelia, was led up for nuptials witnessed by 3,000 spectators.

Cecelia had been temperamental, too. She tore off her white veil three times while being dressed.

An organ boomed out The Sheik of Araby and Egyptian March. A white-robed sheik pronounced the bridal pair camel and cameless.

The tying of the knot culminated a campaign by the Miami Herald for funds to buy Cecil a mate, which zoo officials said he wanted.

After the ceremony Cecil gave Cecelia a foamy kiss, and the couple was herded into a barn. A heart's-and-flowers sign, tacked to its door, said "do not disturb."

BERLIN (UP)—Berlin's newest anti-communist joke: A teacher in a Soviet zone school asked Hans to name the elements.

Hans replied: "Water, earth, air, fire and vodka."

"Why vodka?" the teacher asked.

"When my father sees a photograph of Khrushchev in the newspaper drinking vodka he always says 'now he is in his element again.'"

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sheri Grimes was born at Euclid Glenville Hospital Friday.

Her father Sam was born 30 years ago Friday.

Her mother Beatrice was born 24 years ago Friday.

Her brother Sam Jr., the only other member of the family, was born one year ago Friday.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Leonard Ross, 11, whose knowledge of finance and the stock market won him $100,000 on a television quiz show, will still have to go to his mother for spending money.

Mrs. Pauline Ross was named legal guardian of her son Friday in accordance with the law that fortunes of minors must be administered by court-appointed custodians.

Leonard emerged from the

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Birmingham firemen mailed a 10-year-old girl's letter for her Friday—and wiped her tears away, too.

The youngster mistook a fire alarm for a mail box with the usual result—a false alarm.

She was, she said, when four fire trucks carrying 16 firemen roared up.

Driver Johnny B. Harris, caught while shaving, had later all over his face.

The noise and confusion—and maybe the lather—was too much for the child. She burst into tears.

The firemen swallowed any bitter words they might have planned and comforted the girl until the tears went away.

Then battalion chief Howard

brief court session to make two YOUTH CONFERENCE predictions: The stock market will advance and Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic candidate, will be elected United States president in November.

"Despite my wealth," he said, "I am remaining a Democrat."

ABBOTSFORD—Some 1,200 Mennonite youths from all parts of B.C. will gather in Clearbrook Sunday for a Mennonite Brethren youth conference. Theme of the conference will be "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God."

9 Die in Smashup,
Cars Welded Together

WALL, S.D. (UP)—Nine persons died and one was seriously injured Friday night when two cars smashed together head-on in the South Dakota badlands.

The only survivor was a seven-year-old child who was critically injured but was expected to live. The accident occurred on a nearly straight stretch of new highway.

A woman who visited the scene on U.S. 14-16, two miles west of here, described it as a "grievous mess."

Five of the dead were Mr. and Mrs. Theron Conger of Custer, S.D., and three of their four children, Cheryl 9, Darrell Lee 6, and Mary Jean 4. The injured girl was their fourth child, Rose Marie 7.

Three other dead were identified as David L. Dahl 25, Sioux Falls, S.D., and Walter F. Bartlett 25, and Daryl Watson 23, both of Chamberlain, S.D.

The ninth victim, who was riding in the second car, was not identified immediately.
